CHARGES BRING REMOVAL FROM INDIAN OFFICE

Walter G. West to Be Succeeded By Fred A. Baker As Reservation Head

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—“For the good of the service,” according to officials of the department of the interior, and the office of Indian affairs, Walter G. West has been removed as superintendent of the Klamath Indian reservation, and Fred A. Baker of Klamath Falls appointed in his place.

Beyond saying that the removal of West followed and was the result of a thorough investigation of charges against him, and that the charges involved nothing of a financial character, the officials decline to discuss the reasons for removal.

They declare that heretofore West has had an enviable record in the Indian service but that in the one instance which was the subject of the charges, he evidently was guilty of a moral transgression that rendered his resignation in the service impossible.

The department represents that the considerations in appointing Baker as superintendent were the fact that he is a veteran of the Philippine insurrection, a business employee of the department of high efficiency, and still has a civil service status although he has not recently been in the government employ.

The charges against West are based on alleged improper relations with the daughter of the agency missionary, H. T. Cockingham.

Recently West told The Herald representative that the charges were baseless. Friends said a story that the situation had resulted in strained relations between himself and Mrs. West was without foundation.

West, who is at Medford attending the federal court session, told The Herald this afternoon that he did not desire to make any statement until he received official information from Washington of his removal. He said he had no such information so far.

BALL FOR TEACHERS

Chamber of Commerce to Play Host To These At Institute

Those attending the teachers' institute this week will find a pleasant diversion waiting for them Wednesday evening when the chamber of commerce and its auxiliary body will entertain them at a special ball at the White Pelican hotel, beginning at 9 o'clock. The Harry Borel orchestra has been engaged and the auxiliary is making a special effort to have a representative crowd of Klamath citizens to meet the teachers.

The price of admission will be $1 per couple. Members of the institute will be guests of the chamber.

STUDENT BODY FORMED
High school students at the Sacred Heart academy have formed a student body with Opal Pearson as president. The first initiation was held yesterday afternoon.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES
The Cyclo-Stormograph at Underwood's Pharmacy shows that the barometric pressure, after reaching the low point that brought on the present storm, has remained there for past thirty hours. A slight dip downward took place about one o'clock this afternoon, but there are no indications of any change within the next 12 hours, at least.

Forecast for next 24 hours:
Rain, with brisk winds tonight.
The Tycos recording thermometer registered maximum and minimum temperatures today, as follows:
High 48
Low 42

RATE IS LOWERED ON KLAMATH SPUDS TO SAN FRANCISCO

6 1/2 Cent Reduction Announced By Southern Pacific Through Chamber of Commerce

Announcement of a reduction of 6 1/2c per 100 in freight charges on potatoes between Klamath Falls and San Francisco was announced this morning through the chamber of commerce by H. A. Hinshaw, assistant freight traffic manager for the Southern Pacific. The rates will become effective as soon as publication has been made through the San Francisco office. The present rate is 42 1/2c per 100 pounds.

The directors of the chamber took the matter up at the meeting last week when a resolution was passed asking the Southern Pacific to adjust the rates so as to enable the potato growers of Klamath county to compete with other communities in the northwest.

Hinshaw stated that this rate was in effect between Winnemucca, Nevada, and San Francisco, the distance being about equal to the Klamath basin and also out Klamath on a fair basis with other potato-growing sections of Oregon.

This announcement will be a source of gratification to the farmers in Tule lake section, who will have a good crop of potatoes this season. With a market that is said to be unstable, due to over production in practically every potato state in the union, the rate reduction will be doubly welcome.

PUBLIC HEALTH MEET

Eminent Speakers to Attend Dinner At Chamber Tonight

A sufficient number have already indicated their intention to be present at the annual meeting of the Klamath County Public Health association tonight to insure a large gathering. The affair starts off with a dinner at the chamber of commerce rooms at 6:30, the program following immediately upon its conclusion. The personnel of the outside speakers speaks instructive and interesting short talks in addition to which reports will be made by County Nurse Ledia Fricke and members of the executive committee.

The latter terminate their services as officers during the first year and make way for their successors who will be named at the meeting.

The speakers will be Dr. Estelle Ford Warner, state director of hygiene; J. Tenschler, Portland, superintendent of the Boys' and Girls' Aid society; Mrs. Blakely, state advisory nurse; and Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, executive secretary of the Oregon Tuberculosis association.

PREPARE FOR SERIES

Giants and Yankees to Fight It Out, Starting Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The New York Giants and Yankees were tuned to concert pitch in final workouts preparing for the opening tomorrow of their second struggle for premier baseball honors. The team winning four out of seven games will get the laurel. The games start 3 o'clock eastern standard time.

FIRST WOMAN, SENATE

Mrs. W. H. Fellows Named to Succeed Thomas E. Watson

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 3.—Mrs. W. H. Fellows, of Cartersville, Georgia, became the first woman member of the United States senate today when she was appointed by Governor Hardwick to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Thomas E. Watson until the people elect a successor in November. Mrs. Fellows, who is 87, announced her acceptance of the appointment. Whether she will actually qualify and serve in the senate is doubtful, for her successor will be elected when the senate meets in December.

ANOTHER BANK OFFICER HELD BY GRAND JURY

Indictment Is Returned Against Marshall Hooper, Former Vice-President

Marshall Hooper appeared before the grand jury late yesterday to answer to a secret indictment returned Saturday charging him with misdemeanor in connection with the affairs of the defunct First State & Savings bank. He was granted until October 25, at 10 a. m. to enter his plea or demurrer and was released under $1,000 bond furnished by Ed and George Bloomington.

In the indictment it was alleged that on October 11, 1921, while vice president of the bank and acting as director, Hooper unlawfully permitted the bank to make a loan of $11,400 to John W. Siemens, a sum exceeding 20 per cent of the capital paid in and the surplus fund.

The amount was paid to Siemens by cashier's check, it is alleged, which Siemens deposited to his personal account. The loan was secured by Siemens' 30-day promissory note.

Hooper joined the bank at the time of the reopening in the spring of 1921. Previously he had been connected with the state banking department.

John W. Siemens and John Siemens, who were indicted jointly, will appear October 25 to enter their pleas or demurrers.

MRS. BLOWERS CALLED

Woman Charged With Murder Appears Before Grand Jury

Mrs. Olive Blowers, charged with first degree murder in connection with the death near her roadside on The Dulles-California highway recently of Tom Motta, Mexican sheep herder, appeared before the grand jury this morning. It is expected the jury will take action on her case within the near future. Mrs. Blowers recently was permitted to remain at the county infirmary instead of in the city jail, where she was being held.

Buckaroos Are Attracted From Everywhere; Best Of West To Be Seen

Men, oh men! They're all here—"Shooter Bill" Robbins, Johnny and Ben Dobbins, Jesse Stahl, Boss Richards, Charley and Jesse Coates, Ray Bell, Bud Sterling, Bill Brown, Perry Ivy, Jess Johnson and Spike Speckman, not to mention many others.

This is the aggregate of the Klamath County Picture shows "Shooter Bill" Robbins, on Ty Fair and Southern Oregon Rodeo has drawn. The world's champion riders, buckaroos who have rode the wildest broncs that ever bore a saddle, cowboys who would rather ride than eat, and who never fail to get in on the prize money wherever they go.

Perry Ivy won first at Red Bluff, McArthur and Alturas, pocketing nearly $1,000 at the three shows. Now he is here to increase his stake, and probably still succeed.

Jack Coates won first money at Lakeview, Jesse Coates and Boss Richards split $9-50 for second and third. Richardson is well-known to Klamath, particularly around Bly where he has ridden in previous rodeos. All three of these riders seldom fail to land one or more of the prizes.

John Johnson and Spike Speckman are Klamath boys whose ability has been established.

Johnny and Ben Dobbins usually show enough speed to have their names called when the cash is passed around.

Jesse Stahl, colored, is another whose performance is a show in itself. His favorite trick in riding backwards, for which he has become noted.

Ray Bell won second money at Pendleton where the best riders of the country were assembled. Bud Sterling knows more about roping a steer than most folks, and is almost certain to land a part of the prize money at the Klamath rodeo.

These, of course, are but a few of them. They are coming in by train and drier. Tonight they will register and plans are being made to use the vacant sters at Fifth and Main for their headquarters.

Many of the riders have just come from other shows. When this rodeo is over some will leave at once for Cheyenne from where a special train will carry them October 22 to New York for the annual show at the Hippodrome.

"Shooter Bill" suggests that the winner be made Klamath's representative at the New York show. The reluctant advertising, he points out, would be invaluable in comparison to the cost. Not only will riders attract a great deal of attention in New York but the places they hail from will gain much publicity, particularly if arrangements are made for the representative to distribute literature.

Let 'er buck!

RODEO POSTPONED

Due to the inclement weather and the bad condition of the race track, the opening day of the rodeo will be postponed until Thursday, it was announced this afternoon by the fair committee. The fair will proceed, however, and judging will be completed Wednesday. The parade will be held Thursday instead of Wednesday noon, as previously announced.

TURK LASH GREETS SMYRNA REFUGEES'

CRIES FOR WATER

Tale of Horror Related By Woman Head of Hospital; Thousands Still In Danger

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 3.—Cries of refugees of Smyrna for water and food are met by the Turkish lash, said Dr. Esther Lovejoy, of New York, president of American women's hospital, who has just returned from the stricken city. She declared the world not yet had been told the real story of the fire and horror. There still are several hundred thousand Christians in Smyrna and the interior where lives are in peril, she said.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 3.—

The Turkish cavalry has retired from advanced positions in the Chanak area, decreasing the danger of conflict there. Allied and Turkish commanders meet at Mudania today to discuss the demarcation of a new neutral zone on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles and at Ismid, and the evacuation of Thrace.

PARIS, Oct. 3.—A Havas dispatch from Smyrna, Turkish Nationalist headquarters, says it is announced that the Kemalists have evacuated the neutral zone along the Dardanelles.

Because of the fair and rodeo activities, there will be no chamber of commerce forum Wednesday noon, it was announced today by Secretary Stevenson.

ONE MORE DAY OF THRILLS AT KLAMATH FAIR

Auto Races, Airplane Flying And Riding to Be Attractions

Postponement of the rodeo will not interfere with the additional day of auto races and flying, it was said this afternoon, unless it is for an extended period. The additional program will be given Sunday instead of Saturday, said Chairman H. N. Moe, if the rodeo starts Thursday.

Another day has been added to the Klamath County Fair and Rodeo program, with a list of thrills, including automobile races and exhibition flying as well as a continuation of the rough riding exhibition.

Arrangements were made this morning by the Century Air Craft service, which is to have an airplane here throughout the fair, to give a special program Saturday, with a separate admission charge.

The Bly Rodeo association agreed to save some of the worst buckers for Saturday, and will also put on some good horse races.

The aircraft representatives, Carpenter and McKinney, will arrange the auto races and flights.

Ivy McKinney has the reputation of being one of the most daring, and still most careful flyers in the west. He will give exhibition flights during every day of the fair as an added attraction.

ALSO PLAN ROUND-UP

Presbyterian Church People Will Gather for Homecoming Week

"A round-up" of a different sort than the one at the Klamath county fair rodeo is planned in the Homecoming Day at the Presbyterian Church next Sunday at 11 a. m. The program includes special music and a message centering about the home. According to the Rev. A. L. Rice, the interest already shown promises a record attendance for this rally Sunday when the work of the fall opens. The slogan for all Presbyterians this week is "Come Home Sunday."

WILL PREPARE BUDGET

Committee Is Named By Members of City Council

First steps in naming a city budget committee were taken at the council meeting Monday night. J. A. Gordon, E. M. Chilcote, Geo. H. Merriam and R. H. Dunbar were those named. Others will be named later. The budget will be prepared for presentation on the first Monday in December, the above named and others appointed to work in conjunction with the council.

Acting on the report that the Gamewell Fire Alarm company was fixing the alarm boxes to poles with nails, the council directed that lag screws be used in compliance with the contract.

It was voted to advertise for bids for hay, the amount not being stated. The bids will be opened October 16.

Clayton Kirk was granted a permit to improve residence at 340 Lincoln. Otto Heldrich was denied permit to improve with wood material a building on Lot 4, block 20, original plat, which comes within the fire limits.

J. J. Straw was appointed special policeman for a five-day period.
