

GIANTS DEFEAT YANKS IN OPENER

The Office Cat

BY JUNIUS

A Stickler

"Hey, there!" yelled Constable T. Blackpatter, the combined lynx-eyed south dog pouter and traffic cop of Petunia. "You didn't park your car within six inches of the curb, as the law provides!"

"How can I?" returned the offending motorist. "There is no curb there, it hasn't been put in yet."

"Well, here's the place where it ought to be and there's your car. Now, you just park the said latter within six inches of where the aforesaid former would be if there were any or I'll pull you and darn quick, too!"

This life we live is irksome— No matter where we be; The road is lined with boulders And breakers crown the sea, says Uncle John

In the Cherokee Messenger and then continues:

But we mustn't get discouraged An' declare that life's a cheat For the prospects ain't so cheering when a teller gets cold feet.

I like to greet the feller that can laugh at clouds and cares— That squares himself in trouble, With his fists as well as prayers.

One that earns a benediction, This is mighty soft and sweet; He blessed the world he lived in, and—he never got cold feet."

What you don't know costs you a lot of money, correctly opines J. T. Perkins.

Pearls come from oysters, and diamonds usually come from some poor fish, declares Dr. Lloyd Stewart.

Curiosity Doctor—Now you see what comes of eating green apples when your mother told you not to.

Boy—I didn't eat 'em cos I liked 'em. I ate 'em to find out why she told me not to.

Will Wood says home is a place where the modern sons and daughters sleep when everything is closed.

Dr. Gass says most people who have nothing to do make the mistake of doing it.

"Liza, what fo' you buy dat odder box of shoe blackin'?" "Go on, nigga, dat ain't shoe blackin'; dat's ma massage cream."

Another argument for the poor peripatetic. The motorist at forty miles per hour has no time to lamp the beauties of nature. To him a hawthorn bush and a billboard are blended into one mad riot of color.

G. C. Lorenz says the highest price we can pay for anything is to steal it, the next to beg it, the cheapest and best is to earn it.

How did you like he girl I dug up for you? As far as I'm concerned you can bury her again.

ST. PAUL WILL ENTER SERIES WITH BETTER BALANCED TEAM

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 4.—St. Paul, winner of the American association championship, will go into the post-season series against Baltimore, champions of the International league, with a better balanced team than two years ago.

The series will open at Baltimore today, and Manager Mike Kelley expects that each member of his pitching staff will be ready to start. Kelley has six pitchers all of whom have shown well throughout the season with the possible exception of Howard Merritt, left hander, who has not been able to pull out many wins this year.

Charlie Hall, one of the veterans of the league; Rube Denton, Tom Sheehan, "Speed" Martin and Tom Rogers all have pitched dependable ball during the major part of the season, with a hard fighting, snappy fielding combination behind them.

The St. Paul club is not composed of stars, and on paper the Baltimore team has the edge, according to close followers of the game, but it is expected that the same stuff which carried the Saints through the 1922 race will show in the short series with Baltimore. The St. Paul club has more "never out" players than any other club in the association.

When the season started, even the most ardent supporters of the local club couldn't figure them champions. On May 1 the Saints were in fifth place, with an even break in the number of games won and lost. A month later they were challenging the leaders, and went into first place on July 20 and were never headed. Minneapolis, Indianapolis and Milwaukee all made bids to displace the leaders, but could not develop the necessary punch.

Kelley started the season with a rather uncertain combination. Berghammer at second and Boone at short furnished the same flashy work as in other seasons, but at the other stations the work was not sure. George Armstrong started at third, and played a good game, although at times he was unsteady in his fielding. Tom Whelan started at first, and was later disposed of when Walter Golvin was obtained from the Chicago Nationals.

For a time Golvin threatened to hit himself out of the league, but did not finish in the 300 class, although he was a dangerous hitter. Charlie Drossen, who relieved Armstrong at third developed into one of the most dependable men on the club. His fielding is fast and certain, and although a poor hitter at the opening of the year, he has developed a habit of cracking them when hits were needed. The fielding of both Golvin and Drossen has been a close rival to that of Berghammer and Boone.

The outfield is a match for any combination in the association. Riggers, a veteran of nine years with the club, Haas, Hendryx, Christianson and Morrison, give Kelley a hitting and fielding combination which has broken no many games. All his better in pinches than when the game is a certainty.

Mike Gonzalez and Nick Allen are Kelley's catchers. Gonzalez has been picked by many to be the "ace" of the association and his smartness has kept the infield awake throughout the year. He has done the bulk of the catching, Allen having been out of the game because of injuries.

THE LIBERTY

"I'll be mighty lonesome snowed in here for four months," said Burr Winton as he received David Stewart, a city man, into his woodsman's hut for the winter. "And while I'm snowed in women myself, I'm afraid you'll miss them. You've seen a lot of them, ain't you?"

"Too darned much of them!" said David, flashing an impudent smile. "That's what I'm here for—to get away from them."

So the two men tried the experiment that is never safe: for two humans to live together for four long months, isolated from the world. They usually murder each other.

Unexpectedly, fate dropped a neat card on the table. Manette Farchard came into their lives.

Did the man from outside revile fate or shrivel up within a shell at this intrusion? Or did he go "after" the girl with all his London drawing room tricks? Did Burr hate the girl or fall in love with her? "The Storm" decided the whole thing, and "The Storm" is the name of the picture starring House Peters at the Liberty theatre tonight.

THE STRAND

A one hundred cent western picture will be shown at The Strand tonight entitled "West of the Rio Grande." It is full of fighting, riding, roping and shooting and will thrill the audience beyond anything shown here this season.

Three acts of vaudeville will also be shown with singing, dancing and music, making the Strand a popular place during Rudeo week. Five actors who are real artists put on the vaudeville which is the best of its type shown in Klamath Falls for some time.

Crowded houses are the rule at The Strand so all are urged to come early in order to get a seat. The first show starts at 6:15 and the second at 8:15, each giving a full two hours of entertainment.

CALIFORNIA FACES HARD BATTLE TO RETAIN OLD HONORS

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 4.—Minus its old stone-wall line, the University of California football team this year will have to fight harder than ever to retain the Pacific Coast conference championship which it won in 1920 and 1921. Every linesman, from tackle to tackle, was lost by graduation.

"We may win the championship again this year," Coach Andy Smith said recently, "but it will be a tough battle. We lost men who might be equalled but as they make few better than the men who are gone it is hard to be expected that they can be replaced in such a short time."

Students at the big university here no longer hold to the belief their team is unbeatable. In 1920 it was called the "wonder" team when it piled up huge scores on every opponent and closed the season by defeating the Big Ten champions, Ohio state. Last year the team won every game but the scores were not so high and in the New Year's day game it played Washington and Jefferson, a star eastern team, in a tie.

Despite the name too optimistic predictions, however, California will have a very good team. It will be fast and aggressive but will lack the experience which enabled the varsities of 1920 and 1921 to work with such machine-like precision.

In practice workout the California freshmen, already hailed as a "wonder" team itself, has scored on the varsity and recently ripped through the varsity line for fifteen minutes.

Now faces are in the California line this year. Perry who was a second string fullback last year, is up at guard and is doing great work. Jack Witter, another fullback in 1921 is at tackle and is making good. Beam and Dean, both experienced are working for tackle. "Pat" Clark, a veteran, is a candidate for guard. For center there is Gallagher, second-string man last year, who is being hard pressed by Horrell, last year's freshman center.

Behind the line there is a veteran halfback, piloted by Captain Art Ebb. Roy Burgess, a big, fast, aggressive runner is working hard for halfback and others in the field are Nichols Spaulding, Dunn, Morrison and Nisbet. On one of the ends California has the All-American star, "Brick" Muller, while fighting for the other wing position are Berkeley, a veteran, and Guy Hufford, a youngster with plenty of ambition.

California plays every Saturday this season and of all the games Coach Smith thinks the hardest will be against the University of Washington, the University of Southern California and Stanford university. All three will be played away from home. Next Saturday the varsity plays the Marines here.

Three Runs Give the National League Pennant Winners Jump On Yankees

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Giants defeated the Yankees in the first game of the world series here today, humbling the favorites by a final score of 3 to 2.

The Giants, pennant winners of the National league, made an eight inning rally by concentrating a savage batting attack on the Yankees star pitcher, Joe Bush, knocking him from the box and capturing the first game of the series.

Over 35,000 saw what looked like a Yankee victory when the Giants unexpectedly came from behind with four consecutive smashing hits and a long sacrifice fly for three runs.

The game was scoreless up to the sixth when the Yankees got their first man around, Dugan scoring on a single by Ruth. This score followed a heart breaking experience for the Yankees' fans when Witt was put out at the plate after having tripped.

The Yankees got their second run in the seventh when Meusel scored on a sacrifice. The Giants runs were by Bancroft, Groh and Frisch.

R. H. E.
Giants	3 11 3
Yankees	2 7 0

Batteries: Nehf, Ryan and Snyder; Bush, Hoyt and Schang.

BATTING ORDER

YANKEES RATED BEST

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—John McGraw's Giants, National league pennant winners, today engaged Biller Huggins American league champion Yankees in first game for world series honors. Because of their pitching staff, the Yankees are rated as the best by experts, but the Nationals are fighters and a dangerous lot.
