SHASTA VIEW

The teachers from Shasta View and Malin are attending teachers' institute at Klamath Falls this week. From all we hear, we judge that this little valley will be well represented at the county fair this week. Prof. Smith of the high school was bustling Saturday to gather in farm products to be displayed at the fair. We believe the Malin section will can make quite a display. Rev. Hulet of Ashland was a guest at the home of W. A. Layman from Friday until Sunday evening. He held services in the high school building at Malin Sunday morning. Rev. Hulet was the organizer of a community Sunday school at Malin about a month ago and it was most gratifying to him to see an attendance Sunday of 75. The directors of the Shasta View irrigation district held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at O. E. Hunt's. It was also a tax equalization meeting of the district. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilson and Mrs. C. M. Kirkpatrick were in Klamath Falls Tuesday to decorate the Malin booth at the fair grounds. Wedding Bells and Reception Another pleasant gathering at the home of G. W. Myers and wife Sunday evening was attended by about 50 relatives and friends when Mr. and Mrs. Myers gave a reception for their daughter, Eva, who was married Saturday to Otto Wilson. The bride received a variety of dainty and useful gifts. Refreshments were served early in the evening and about 10:30 the guests, after wishing the newlyweds a happy and prosperous life voyage, departed for their homes, having spent a very enjoyable evening. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside on the J. P. Harter ranch this winter.

SMASH AIR RECORDS

Two lieutenants remain aloft 28 Hours and Four Minutes

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 5.—All endurance records were smashed by Lieutenants MacReady and Kelley, who at eight o'clock this morning had remained aloft 26 hours and four minutes. When they started yesterday morning to fly to New York they turned back because of fog, but instead of landing continued circling above San Diego for an endurance test.

P. S. TAKES IN SOUTHERN OREGON RODEO NO LONGER CRAVES TO BE CHAMPION RIDER

Dear Ed: Well Ed if you have never seen a hoarse de combat then I will tell you they call it a rodeo and its where gents tangle with hoorses, which is where the name hoarse de combat come from. Likewise they tangle with calves and cows but I never here of a cow de combat. Well, Ed, I had planned to go into this rodeo under a non de prun, but after looking on the show for about one (1) second yesterday I decided that when I get ready to kick off it will be by means of a regular M. D. doctor at $500 (five hundred) and prescriptions, and not by means of no hoorses heels, nor with a cow-tusks protruding between my slats. I do not believe no hoarse I saw there yesterday would react to sugar like I planned to give it and the only kind of kindness they understand is to be excused after being signed up for some cowpuncher to ride. So that deal of mine is all off forever and aw men. As a matter of fact I would not even ride around that track in a tame flivver with one lung for fear it would catch the bucking idear and pull a sunfish or something and then come back and sit on my face. However, Ed, all seriousness aside theys nothing wrong with a rodeo if you are on the right side of the fence. Even sitting on the fence is not safe as I see a hoarse soar over one yesterday like a politician going after a job and he took the rider with him whether or no what I mean. But I was on the top seat of the grand stand where I do not believe even one of those Billy bronks could reach out and slap me. It was pretty good Ed where they tied nots in a calfs tale. The bird that ties his not first wins the bet and the calf wins if he can make his getaway. Theys a bird named Ray Bell who tied his not in hardly no time at all. But when Musquito Hill started out after his calf that calf takes one look at him and there was no calf left where it once had been. Musquito tried to toss a halter around its neck but that calf had forgot something and was going home to get it and wherever Bill was the calf was not. Then take this wild hoarse riding, Ed. All I would say is this, that any man who has got ambition enough to ride a wild hoarse could be president as easy as nothing, and any man who can ride a wild hoarse could arise even higher, perhaps even liek Sikt or Dempsey. They was a bird named Spik which was pretty good with something which looked like a rope only I know it was not no rope because I have tried it at home and no rope will stay in a circle in the air like his did unless it is made of licorice or something. Well, Ed, there going to give another and bigger show next July 4 (four) and as I have give up the riding idear I am going to apply for the job of manager and take the money as the people come in to see the hoorses de combat. And I am going to have the entrance to the grand stand at the top and back. Not that I am afraid for my own skin, but it would be too bad if a hoarse come along and slapped some poor old lady with a lot of kids to support. Another thing, Ed, I am telling my missus what a great thing it is to be a hoarse woman rider and maybe she will take a shot at the wild hoorses herself next time. Then I will not be herded around my home corral no more, what I mean, Ed? Try it on your own missus, Eh. Yrs. Hoarsely, Phil Space, The Safety First Kid.

Making Record-Keeping Easy For Farmers

Farming is different from most other forms of business in that a whole year is required to produce a finished product.

The many different operations involved necessitate always an accurate record of income and expense as well as of supplies.

Our Checking Account Department is helping many farmers of Klamath Falls and vicinity to keep a careful record of their finances.

Your checking account is cordially invited.

Does a Woman Pay Enough Attention To Her Appearance. Illustration of a woman in a dress.

—the answer is perhaps she does and perhaps she doesn't. Could the minds of the various people be registered point blank—well—perhaps the majority of women would give the purchase of their garments much more thought.

The thing uppermost in appearance on all occasions is style. Where does it come from or who is it created by. Can better style be created or offered for your approval than that which bears the distinction of Paris and New York.

Can better selection be had than the choice of purchase for over 1000 stores which can only be made possible than an organization like the R. C. U. of which we are a member.

More Coats, Suits and Dresses are coming in every week. Not great quantities of one kind but the choice as it is placed on the market for distribution in the east by the many importers and domestic manufacturers.

The Wool Hose are Here

For several weeks we have been waiting for these hose and now they are here. Fully a half dozen numbers and styles to choose from. Some are all wool some silk and wool. You will be pleased with the color combination making the different heather as well as the reasonable price.

Children's Wool Dresses

Such beautiful wool dresses for the Misses are seldom seen or had. Wouldn't the high school Miss like a change from the regular uniform. Not only are they attractive but serviceable and warm as well. Suggest the Misses to see these while our stock is complete.
