

CROWD PACKS FAIR GROUND

Closing Day of Rodeo Draws Thousands; Many Turned From Grand Stand

FAIR GROUNDS, F. P. M., Oct. 7.—This is the big day, both in attendance and performance. If the grandstand was packed to capacity yesterday it will be more than overflowing today.

Klamath and the surrounding country appears to be turned out en masse to see this show. Many who were unable to come the other days are here today to witness the finals.

A fine program has been announced for today and all are awaiting eagerly for the fun to start.

Gene Hall on Skeelix won first money in the bucking contest yesterday. Ross Richardson took second and Rigg Schonchin third.

Gene Hall mounted twice. The first time his horse fell after a few vicious jumps. The rider was game, however, and was more than willing to try it again. On his second ride he made an excellent showing and was granted first place.

The ones who qualified during the two days, and who were slated to enter semi-finals and finals today, were Gene Hall, Ross Richardson, Rigg Schonchin, Louis Morse, Jesse Stahl, Frank Smith, Red Parker, Montana Red Tate, Billy Raymond, Harry Brown, Perry Ivory.

Luther Holbrook on Moonlight took the half-mile dash from the McKay & Dunn horse, Milton Gerber.

Pociana, the Monroe & Godfrey horse, showed her heels to Holbrook's Derby in the five-eighths mile race.

In the quarter-mile dash, Wade Crawford on Little Dick took first and W. Shook on Dick Risher second.

Wade Crawford on Little Dick won by a narrow margin in the cowboy race.

One of the most thrilling events of the day was the chariot race, won by the Hly team driven by E. H. Henry. Jack DeLude's Klamath team got off to a flying start on the inside of the track, but Henry's gallopers forged ahead in the last quarter and won by two lengths.

In the bulldogging contest, it was a luck day for the Smiths. Frank Smith came first, with a record of 21 seconds. Hank Smith was second, time 25 seconds.

The Holbrook string retained the lead in the three-day relay race and appeared to have a good chance to win today.

In the Indian relay Elmer Johnson was first and Joe Wilson second. Jesse Stahl and others furnished a vast amount of amusement in the steer riding and wild horse riding. Stahl made it evident that his reputation as a rider of anything on hoofs has been well earned.

Day Will be Observed in Churches Sunday; Handsaker to Speak

Sunday, October 8, is Near East Relief day in Klamath Falls churches. J. J. Handsaker, director of the Near East relief, will speak at 11 o'clock at the Christian church, and at 7:30 at the Presbyterian church at a union service of all churches of Klamath Falls.

W. A. Sellwood will speak at the Baptist church at 11 o'clock A. M. One or both of these speakers will also be at Merrill on Thursday and at Mallin on Wednesday and will also address the local lodges and the chamber of commerce. They will speak at Bonanza Tuesday evening, at 7 o'clock. All lectures will be illustrated with moving pictures.

"Klamath county has been especially interested in the Near East ever since Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Rambo, formerly in charge of the Christian church here, went to the Near East," states Arthur R. Wilson, county chairman of the Near East relief.

"Mr. Handsaker writes me that on his recent trip through the Near East he found many marks of the Rambo's work, and that he is looking forward with much pleasure to telling Klamath Falls audiences what their own neighbors have been doing in the Near East. Handsaker traveled through this devastated country a year ago, and brings back first-hand information of conditions.

"Mr. Sellwood says over-seas service in Russia, and speaks also from first hand knowledge of conditions."

"No part of the world is more in the public light today than the Near East, and it is my hope that during the Near East Relief Week, October 8 to 15, these different speakers will have an opportunity to speak to all the organized groups in the city."

U. S. SHIPS MADE DRY

No More Liquor to Be Sold to Shipping Board Vessels

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Masters of shipping board vessels were ordered today by Chairman Lasker by direction of the president and in accordance with Attorney General Daugherty's liquor opinion to remove and surrender to the treasury department officials all intoxicating liquors aboard such ships. The order applies to all government shipping operated by the board and under charter to private concerns.

RODEO ANNOUNCEMENT

The Hly Rodeo association announced this morning that a rodeo will be staged here every Fourth of July for the next five years. Subsequent rodeos will be bigger and better in every way. An attempt will be made to surpass any similar exhibition in the country, and the association feels that in this it has the advantage of location, horses and riders. The association thanks all who participated in and attended the rodeo and extends a cordial invitation for all to be present next Fourth of July.

AUTO RACES WILL BE STAGED SUNDAY AT FAIR GROUND

Three Events Scheduled; Show Is in Hands of Local Promoters; Good Exhibition Promised

Auto races will be staged at the fair grounds Sunday afternoon by H. S. Wakefield, Ed. Dunham and W. L. Moore. The races will start at 1:30. The rodeo has ended and their will be no riding or similar features.

Three auto races will be staged: 1. Standard stock Fords, 20 laps. 2. Ford specials, 30 laps. 3. Free for all, any kind of car, 30 laps.

No entrance fees will be charged. Admission will be $1 and 10 cents war tax, and 25 cents for grandstand, including war tax.

The promoters of the races believe that inasmuch as several racing cars have come over from Medford and are "ratin' to go," and that a number of local drivers have signified their intention of entering the races, the show will be highly entertaining.

The airplanes was unable to come as advertised because of a breakdown.

Prizes will be awarded the winners tomorrow, but the amounts had not been determined by the promoters.

Carl Mays Hammered for Four Runs in Fifth; Game is Played in Rain

POLO GROUNDS, Oct. 7.—The Giants won their third victory from Yankees today by a score of 4 to 3.

The world series now stands Giants 3, Yankees 0. The contest was played in a driving rain.

The National leaguers fell upon the submarine hurler, Carl Mays, in the fifth inning hammering him for five hits that scored four runs.

The Yankees started the game like winners, hitting McQuillan hard, but the Giant pitcher recovered himself and for the next five innings did not yield the Yankees a hit.

Ward crashed a home run for the Yankees in the seventh, his second of the series, and the Yankees threatened to score again in the ninth when Pipp hit a two-bagger right at the start. But the Giant's defense kept them from the plate.

FINAL SCORE table showing Yankees 3, Giants 4. Batteries: Mays, Jones and Schang; McQuillan and Snyder.

SWINDLER WINNER OVER RITCHIE WHEN INJURY IS CLAIMED

Local Fighter Fails to Appear for Sixth Round; Card Voted Best Ever Seen Here

Jon Swindler is a fighter. This much was conceded by the fans shortly after his fight with Ritchie started last night. When Ritchie failed to answer the gong for the sixth round, and the fight went to Swindler, he was given an ovation by the house.

Ritchie weighed in at 192 1/2 and Swindler at 183 1/2 pounds. Ritchie appeared to have several inches in height and a strong advantage in reach. Judging from the appearance of the two fighters, Ritchie had all the best of it.

But when the fight started it was quickly seen that whatever Swindler lacked in size he more than made up in aggressiveness. From the tap of the gong he went after his man with jabs to the face. Ritchie, however, gave about as well as he took in that round and it was called even. Ritchie took one over the heart that seemed to bother him.

The second round was a replica of the first, with Swindler still the aggressor.

In the third round Swindler started to fight. Ritchie backed around the ring with Swindler pressing him closely, landing repeatedly to the face with rights and lefts, occasionally taking one in return from Ritchie. This was Swindler's round by a wide margin.

The fourth was about the same as the third. Swindler continued to attack, keeping himself well covered up but crowding his man all the time.

In the fifth round Ritchie appeared worried. Swindler pressed him hard, landing two to one. In this round Ritchie was warned by the referee, Tom Watters, that unless he fought he would not get in on the money. This was easily Swindler's round.

Ritchie failed to appear for the sixth round, claiming a broken right hand, and the bout was awarded to Swindler. This was the signal for a tremendous ovation for him by the house, with which he appeared to be a strong favorite.

The boxing commission today made the following statement relative to condition of Ritchie's hand:

The boxing commission desired to determine the condition of Ritchie's hand. An x-ray photograph was taken by Dr. Stewart, chairman and medical examiner for the commission. Dr. Stewart then asked the other members of the commission to select two other doctors to confer on the findings and issue a public statement.

The statement follows: After examining an x-ray picture of the right wrist and hand of Earl Ritchie taken about 10 a. m. Saturday, Oct. 7, 1922, we are of the opinion that no fracture or dislocation exists and this picture compared with one taken of the same hand in January 1922 shows the same position and condition of the bones. (Signed) H. D. L. STEWART, E. D. JOHNSON, E. D. LAMB.

Those who had watched Swindler train, and those who trained with him, evidently had the right dope; that he either was holding back or else had nothing to hold back. Swindler demonstrated that he had something and that he was able and willing to take all his opponent could give him. His crouching style is new to the ring here, at least during the past year or so. He keeps well covered up at all times and is hard to hit in the stomach. Whether he carries a k. o. punch was not demonstrated, as he resorted largely to jabs, but the general opinion was that the punch is there for use when needed.

Lewis Espin and his manager, W. B. Fitch, appeared in the ring before the bout and challenged the winner. Ritchie accepted the challenge, providing it was on a winner-take-all basis. To this Espin agreed. Today

MANY FINED ON LIQUOR CHARGE, FEDERAL COURT

Long List of Klamath Cases Come Before Judge Bean At Medford

A large number of liquor cases were disposed of at the federal term court at Medford, which will not end until Monday or Tuesday, according to U. S. Commissioner Bert C. Thomas, who has just returned.

Gib Savage, taken in a liquor raid at Fort Klamath, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $100.

Swan Olson, charged with transportation of liquor, pleaded guilty. He was fined $150 and his car was confiscated. Olson was implicated with Gus Soderlund and A. Eden, whose cases went to the circuit court here.

Joe Garcia, a Mexican residing on the reservation with an Indian wife, pleaded guilty to taking liquor into the reservation. He was given 60 days and $100 fine.

Con Black, a waiter, in whose residence here a quantity of moonshine was found, was fined $100.

Edna McDonald, who formerly conducted a rooming house between Fourth and Fifth on Main, and in whose possession officers found a quantity of liquor, was fined $200. Hazel McGregor, charged with selling drinks, was fined $100.

Eli Boggar, in whose possession a barrel of mash was found, was fined $100.

Nick J. Schildgren pleaded guilty to transporting liquor. He was fined $25 and his car confiscated. Schildgren served time in Portland following his conviction on a former liquor charge.

Frank Baker, a young Klamath Indian, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, was fined $250. Baker, it was alleged, chased his wife and sister-in-law from the house with a shotgun, firing one shot.

Glen Blake, charged with operating a still near Oleno, was sentenced to three months in the Multnomah county jail. J. W. Moorman, with whom he was implicated, was fined $250.

The case of Otto Boye, accused of operating a still near Bly, was dismissed for lack of evidence.

John Lusby, arrested in a liquor raid at Rocky Point, was also acquitted.

Other cases to come before the court were those of McKinley David, held on a liquor charge; Fred and Charles Hood, charged with stealing cattle; J. A. Coe, liquor charge; Matt Lowry and John Henderson, liquor charge; Kirby Smith, liquor charge; Gus Oslund and Martin Hanson, liquor charge.

Judge Bean presided. Prosecution was conducted by T. H. Maguire and Allan Bryson.
