ARE YOU READY?

VOTERS, have you taken any time to study the measures and amendments on which you are expected to vote November 7?

Have you made up your minds whether the compulsory educational bill is the meritorious measure that will result in the upbuilding of the public schools and the strengthening of citizenship, as its supporters claim; or is an unconstitutional and unwarranted attempt at confiscation of private property that will discredit the state, add millions to the tax burden, remove a check on the public schools and thereby weaken their standards, as its opponents assert?

How do you stand on the single tax measure? Its proponents claim that it would force speculators to release large acreage now withheld from beneficial use. Its opponents attack its practicability, declare it repudiates all governmental guarantees of private ownership in land, and its application in an Oregon that would wreck the state.

There is a proposal on the ballot to fix the interest rate limit in Oregon at six per cent. Would that result in cheaper loans for the borrower, or would it drain capital from the state to fields where the borrower pays more for the use of money and leave Oregon enterprises without any adequate reservoir from which to draw financial support when needed?

Linn and Clatsop county are seeking an act enabling them to levy taxes in excess of constitutional limits, to pay outstanding warrants. It will cost Klamath county nothing. That's one way of looking at it. But is it good policy to upset constitutional provisions so haphazardly. If you apply the principle to Linn county this year, it may be generally applied next year. It may be applied in Klamath county. Then your chickens will come home to roost. Tampering with the constitution, no matter how harmless seems the reason, is not a matter for light consideration.

Less than thirty days remain between now and the election. It is little enough time for the determination of policies that are so important to the state.

Better begin to do your thinking now. Frankly, and speaking for ourself alone, we do not believe there is one meritorious or necessary measure on the ballot. What do you think?

"What difference does it make, whether I am a Mason or a Klansman?" yips Wally Pierce, the acrobat, who is running for governor on the Demo-Klano ticket. Not a bit if he is a Mason, says the Medford Mail Tribune. But if he is invisible, he'll find out when the votes are counted. Why does he not whimper, "What difference does it make whether I am an Odd Fellow or an anarchist?"

LAUDS FAIR WORKERS

County Agent Tells of Efforts Required to Fulfill Plans

By C. A. Henderson, County Agent

Perhaps few people of the thousands that visited the county fair realized the time and energy required in order to make the fair the success that it was. Few people realize that it is necessary to have a fair board and that to put on a successful fair it is necessary that this board be backed to the fullest extent by the business men of the city.

That is just what happened in the recent fair. A month previous to the fair but few plans had been made and the site had not been definitely secured. Without the cooperation and backing of the business men of the city this could not have been done and this year's fair would have been a small temporary one as in the past.

With permanent grounds secured, the fair board was then able to go ahead and plan on a permanent basis. The first step was landscaping the grounds. Professor A. Peck, landscape gardener, O. A. C. was secured through the state extension service, Corvallis. Prof. Peck spent several days here and laid complete plans for the grounds, which when completed will be one of the best in the state. The expense of this work was borne by the state extension service.

From that point on the members of the fair board, consisting of Clyde Bradley, manager, R. F. Bradbury, president and A. A. Kimmitt, treasurer, were the busiest men in Klamath county, and deserve a lot of credit for their share in placing the fair on a permanent and successful foundation. Bradley could usually be found at the grounds any time from sun up until sun down, in addition to the evenings spent on various committees relating to fair work. These men all gave their time freely and liberally with no thought of compensation, except the service they could render their county.

ARMOUR REFUSES FIGURES

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—J. Ogden Armour again today refused to give the federal trade commission, which is investigating trading in wheat futures, figures showing the extent of his grain trading in 1921 and the early months of this year. Armour on stand Wednesday had refused to give the details of his grain transactions and was excused until today.
