KLAMATH GETS ANOTHER HERD OF PURE-BREDS

24 Head of Registered Herefords Form Nucleus for Breeding Farm

Twenty-four head of registered Hereford cattle, headed by Beau Blanchard, 48th, grand champion of the International Livestock Show at Portland...

The owners of the cattle, P. B. Matton and Hugh McNearney, have them pastured for the present near the Brahman crossing, south of town...

Conducted Famous Farm McNearney's father for years conducted the Walnut Hill farm in Iowa and the quality of its stock is known all over the country...

Beau Blanchard, 48th, head of the herd, weighs 2300 pounds when in flesh, a monster of an animal, worth not quite his weight in silver but a very valuable bit of beef...

An eight months old bull, Brummel Blanchard, was second in his class at the Oregon state fair this year.

Cows Usually Witness The balance of the herd are cows and heifers, a number of which have been shown all over the western circuit and usually are in the prize money wherever shown.

Matton and McNearney are also breeders of fine Belgian horses, and have here a registered stallion, Sir Gollard, bred by the noted imported Belgian, Gollard D'Or. His dam was Mantalene, several Belgian and Clydesdale mares are on pasture here.

In Business to Stay "We believe this is the country adapted to the breeding of fine stock," said McNearney, "and we expect to lease a place for a term of years and embark in business to stay."

LETTER THEFT TRIED Council for Mrs. Bouchel Reveals Attempt to Get Epistles

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14.—An attempted theft of 30 letters said to have been written by Ana G. Candler, Sr., to Mrs. Anzina De Bouchel, from the office of Harold Moine, associated counsel for Mrs. De Bouchel, was revealed today by her attorney.

The legal "discrimination" which the party is assailing has its roots in the old common law under which a married woman was regarded as a "feme covert" or "covered woman," whose rights were vested in her husband while he lived...

"In some states a man can dispose of his wife's inherited property," said Miss Pollitzer. "Laws often give a woman's earnings to her husband, allow him to collect damages for her injuries, and give him the earnings, control and custody of their child."

The party has organized twenty-five professional councils, including a home-makers' council. Mrs. Minnie Madden Fluke and Miss Mary Shaw head the theatrical council; Miss Zona Gale of Portage, Wis., the novelist, heads the writers' council; Dr. Mary O'Malley, clinical director of St. Elizabeth's hospital, Washington-the physicians' council, and Miss Emma Gillett, dean of the Washington College of Law, Washington, the lawyers' council.

Fourteen women lawyers are compiling all state laws in the interest of the woman's party, Miss Pollitzer said, to ascertain the legal status of women in all the states.

Yes, Mr. Doppler, it pays to advertise. You don't get a very appreciative audience now-a-days when you start to tell about advertising not getting results but if there are any doubters left in Klamath Falls they should have been around in front of the Perkins furniture store just before opening time today.

Over at Sugarman's much the same condition prevailed but the waiting crowd was made up of men. The extra clerks are sufficient to more than double Sugarman's force but they are kept busy waiting on the people.

BOARD OF REVIEW ENDS HEARING IN TWO LAND MATTERS

Building Charge on Tule Lake Lands Brought Before Meeting; $90 Declared Too High

After an all day hearing in the chamber of commerce rooms yesterday the special board of review investigating Tule lake and Hank's marsh land matters ended its work and today is looking over the land in question.

Among the questions to come before the board was that of the $90 building charge to come against the Tule lake lands to be opened for entry October 27, members of the Klamath post of the American Legion declaring the charge excessive and that it will prevent many ex-servicemen from filing on the land.

The data collected here by the board will be used at Washington in determining whether J. Frank Adams shall be compensated for dyking the Hank's marsh land, for which he originally was to have received a 30-year lease from the government, and whether it is advisable to open for entry an additional area of Tule lake lands.

WOMEN FORM PARTY First Gen. Filed in Campaign to End Discrimination

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—To fire the first gun in the midwestern sector in a campaign to sweep away all forms of discrimination against women...

Miss Anita Pollitzer of Charleston, S. C. secretary of the reorganized national women's party, has been organizing an Illinois branch of the party. Preparations will be made for representation of Illinois, as well as all other states, at a national conference to be held at Washington, November 11-12, to frame a legislative program.

Illinois was selected as the objective of the first mission by national headquarters, because "it was believed that Illinois was in a position to affect the entire west and midwest," according to Miss Pollitzer.

Constitutional amendments which the organization is seeking to have passed by all states to guarantee equal political, civil and legal rights for women in each case will contain this clause, according to Miss Pollitzer: "This act will not affect laws regulating the affairs of women in industry."

This clause was pointed out because the effect of the legislation proposed by the party upon legislation designed to safeguard women in industry has been questioned.

Miss Pollitzer said that the supreme court of the United States has repeatedly sustained special welfare legislation for women even when it was argued that such legislation was in direct violation of the fourteenth amendment to the United States constitution.

The legal "discrimination" which the party is assailing has its roots in the old common law under which a married woman was regarded as a "feme covert" or "covered woman," whose rights were vested in her husband while he lived, Miss Pollitzer stated.

Though the effect of this legal tradition from feudal times has been modified in some states by more modern legislation, it survives to a varying degree, she added.

"In some states a man can dispose of his wife's inherited property," said Miss Pollitzer. "Laws often give a woman's earnings to her husband, allow him to collect damages for her injuries, and give him the earnings, control and custody of their child."

The party has organized twenty-five professional councils, including a home-makers' council. Mrs. Minnie Madden Fluke and Miss Mary Shaw head the theatrical council; Miss Zona Gale of Portage, Wis., the novelist, heads the writers' council; Dr. Mary O'Malley, clinical director of St. Elizabeth's hospital, Washington-the physicians' council, and Miss Emma Gillett, dean of the Washington College of Law, Washington, the lawyers' council.

EXPLAIN LOAN CLAUSE Insurance Under Veterans' State Aid Brings Misunderstanding

A general misunderstanding of the insurance requirements in connection with the state soldier bonus has caused the commission to issue a statement explaining that while the state requires that property offered as security for loans shall be insured for the full insurable value...

"Please advise all concerned," the commission advised the local board of appraisers, "that in cases where the full amount of insurance specified by the commission cannot be obtained, a statement to this effect made by a duly authorized representative of the insurance company will be accepted by the commission."

In other words, where the commission fixes the amount of the insurance the words "or full insurable value" are added so that in case the amount specified cannot be obtained, a policy for the full insurable value can be written.

In cases where the quality or construction and design of improvement on property preclude the possibility of any insurance whatever, a statement from the agent of the insurance company to this effect will also be accepted.

The commission has no desire or intention to require the impossible.

RATED AS AUTHORITY Major Gibbs, Who Speaks Tonight, Is Owner of Page Academy

Because he is the head of the largest private school in America, an institution with an attendance of more than 200 boys of grammar school ages, Major Robert A. Gibbs, owner of the Page Military academy at Los Angeles, who will speak tonight and tomorrow afternoon at the Strand theatre against the compulsory educational bill, is rated as an authority.

Major Gibbs is in Oregon on his own volition and at his own expense, because he believes that the people of the state lack understanding of the harm the passage of the measure would do. He thinks that if they understand the matter in its true light, apart from religious prejudices, they will vote down the bill overwhelmingly.

His argument is along non-sectarian lines entirely and free from prejudice and abuse. One speech will be delivered at 8 o'clock this evening, another at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. From here he will go to Lakeview and thence to Bend and Portland.

S. P. LEADS IN VOTE 28 For and 13 Against Report of Railroad Committee

Votes returned to the chamber of commerce in the railroad unmerger referendum this morning totaled 28 for and 13 against the report of the railroad committee favoring the retention of the Central Pacific by the Southern Pacific.

Ballots were mailed to 202 members. About an equal number have not paid their dues for three months or over, and are therefore not considered eligible to vote. Secretary Stevenson said any who cared to pay up back dues to within three months of the present time would be permitted to vote.

"As this is a chamber of commerce referendum," he explained, "it does not seem right for those who have lost interest in the chamber to have the same privileges as those who are active. And that is why we adopted the plan used in this referendum."

THREE MEN DIE WHEN STEAMER SINKS DREDGE

Many Have Narrow Escapes From Death In Early Morning Collision

PORTLAND, Oct. 14.—Three men lost their lives when the dredge, Portland, of the Port of Portland commission, was sunk early today by the steamer Santa Clara, a vessel of 10,000 tons. The dead: Ben G. Johnson, 64, oiler; Ben Wellins, 55, oiler; Thomas Campbell, 48, fuel passer.

There were 40 men on the dredge, which sank within two minutes. All except the three escaped by getting aboard a fuel barge tied to the dredge. Many of the men were in their night clothes, and some were thrown into the water and forced to swim to the barge.

The cause of the collision has not been announced. Port officials estimated the damage at $100,000 and said a libel of that amount would be filed against the Santa Clara, which proceeded on her way to Seattle.

JONAH SPARKS HELD Bonanza Men Arrested in Connection With Store Robbery

Another arrest was made last night by Constable Fred Morley in connection with the Bonanza robbery when he took into custody Jonah Sparks, old time resident and farmer of that district.

The Spervetern store at Bonanza was robbed last Sunday night of a large quantity of merchandise. The following day Lawrence Maxwell was arrested by Morley and lodged in jail here. A quantity of goods found at Maxwell's home was alleged to belong to the store and farmers of that district. Maxwell was unable to give bail of $500 fixed by Justice Gagnages. He is already under bonds of $1,750 on other charges.

Sparks, whose place was searched for stolen goods yesterday, is in jail in lieu of $1000 bail. Very little aside from a two-foot square was found at the Sparks place. Some of the tools, belonging to E. J. Ayres, and found at the Maxwell place, were stolen in May. Rugs belonging to A. E. Brown were also found there.

ROCHESTER, Minn., Oct. 14.—A theory that while the physical body sleeps, an "ether body" wanders the world over, accumulating the stuff that dreams are made of, met with disfavor before the Mississippi Valley Medical association's convention here yesterday.

Dr. W. Stuart Leach of Robson, Minnesota, talking on "The Pineal gland, and the condition of Ego in Sleep," advanced the theory that there are two distinct bodies in every human being—one physical and the other known as the "ether body."

While the physical body sleeps, the speaker said, the ether body slips away for a nocturnal prow that may even carry it to foreign lands, always to return, however, before the physical body awakens.

Ether Body May Travel But Doctors Think Not

Protests marked the conclusion of his talk and the convention unanimously ordered his address stricken from the records.
