WHY CHANGE?

FOR the past two years the city of Klamath Falls has enjoyed a clean, efficient and progressive administration of its civic and business affairs.

The average citizen would realize sorely the lack of efficiency, and would appreciate the financial situation were conditions reversed and the city plunging deeper into difficulties instead of being fairly on the road to emerging from them.

There is only one standard by which men in public office should be measured—that is the ability with which they discharge the duties of their office.

But a certain minority during the past two years have opposed the administration. Because they could not control Mayor Wiley, they have sought to discredit him.

Now, with a city election approaching this underground attack of abuse and vilification is again in evidence.

We deplore these mud-slinging tactics. They have no place in community politics. In spite of this continual talk of corruption in office, there has never been a single instance officially authenticated, not even the vaguest insinuation that has, so far as we know, the slightest foundation in fact.

Such tactics prove nothing against their target in the minds of broad-minded citizens. They merely emphasize the weakness of the position of the disgruntled minority.

As far as the Herald knows, the vandals who are opposing Mayor Wiley have no hand in the mud-slinging campaign. They are honorable gentlemen; certainly entitled to aspire for the office and doubtless possessing merit.

But why change a satisfactory servant, at this time when he has just become well acquainted with the complicated problems of city government? Now that his requisite technical knowledge for the situation has been acquired, and we are blessed with an executive with dignity, tact and efficiency, why spend time and money uselessly in breaking in another official—limiting that the

It's not good business. For that reason, and we consider it a sufficient reason, the Herald feels compelled to lift its voice in favor of the re-election of Mayor Wiley.

CAESAR STARTED TIME TROUBLE

Juggling of Calendar Cause Of Confusion Throughout Centuries

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Julius Caesar, by his unscientific juggling of the calendar, has caused unnecessary confusion for centuries, say members of the International Fixed Calendar league, who advocate the adoption of a 13-month year with each month containing twenty-eight days and an international holiday added each year to make up the 365 days of the solar calendar.

There is really no reason why the calendar should be so broken up, league members say. In the days of the ancient Egyptians, who originated the calendar, working with the shadows of pyramids and obelisks, the calendar was arranged with thirteen months of equal length, with a five days festival at the end of the year to square things up with the sun.

In 46 B. C. Julius Caesar, dissatisfied with the moon-chasing calendar of his day, adopted the Egyptian system—with modifications. The Romans were superstitious about odd numbers so Julius started to do with the calendar as he had done with the world and when he was through the equal length months were all broken up, the five-day festival was eliminated, and the months were arranged alternately with 30 and 31 days.

No pleased was the Roman senate with Caesar's work, it immediately named the seventh month in his calendar in his honor, and the system is known as the Julian calendar.

That worked for a while until one of Caesar's successors, Augustus by name, changed his forebear's work. In B. C. 28, and when his heavy hand was through, the calendar resulted in its present state; the odd and even numbered months were changed around and arbitrarily fixed. February was given a little more liberty than the other months, and the half-years were set on unequal bases—the first half getting only 181 days and the second 184. The Roman senate retaliated by changing the name of the eighth month to honor Augustus, as that was his birth month as July was Julius's.

"Constantine the Great," says a league publication, "conferred the ever-welcome Sabbath rest each 7th day on Europeans; but the unequal lengths of 28 and 31 day months imposed by Julius and Augustus have since forced the Constantine weeks yearly to slide months into different week, and at month-ends almost split weeks into parts, incessantly but needlessly confusing weeks and months."

In 1852 another change was made, when Pope Gregory XIII found Julius had been wrong in his arithmetic and made an error in computing leap years, and that as a result ten extra days had piled up from somewhere in the meanwhile. The sun and the earth, according to that time table, were not travelling on the same schedule. St. Gregory did what many other people have often wished they could do, he dug out ten days from one month—October of that year—and threw them into the discard, in order to readjust the 21st of March to the equinox and the rest of the calendar to the seasons.

Since then we have been travelling under the Gregorian calendar. In consequence, the league complains, Gregory moved the Christian year's end (which ever since the establishment of the Christian era had been celebrated at Christmas— from Christmas to January 1st—one week farther away from "nature's year's end, December 22nd." Russia and Greece alone did not comply with that edict, and continue as of old.

After several national and international conferences during 1922, of those interested in the new movement, a final international conference was planned to be held sometime during the coming year. It will be held here, at the president's call. Many representatives of world nations will attend, to discuss a program which includes:

Location of the "Year Day," removal of "leap day" to be a misadventurer's holiday, the best arrangement to fit the present 52 yearly weeks into permanent months, a name for the proposed month "Sol", the best permanent date for Easter, the best date on which to begin the "yearly" or equal month year (tentatively set at 1928), and to "draft recommendations concerning the above into legislative form for adoption by all nations and youth leagues."

to their respective governments to insert their national holidays therein and together make it law for their respective nations."

Interested in the movement, according to the league, are: International chambers of commerce, international conferences of European calendar advocates, the International Astronomic union, International Roman Catholic churches (through the Vatican). The government of Canada, the Royal Society of Canada, and the International conference of United States and Canadian Calendar associations have all unanimously endorsed the "International Fixed Calendar Plan", as the best thus far devised to remedy the defects in existing calendars.

Practically, it is said, the revised calendar would aid in agriculture in preventing crop failures by planting at incorrect times because the calendar calls for it. It would be of value to labor and capital alike, it is claimed, and would aid industry generally. It would equalize dating systems throughout the world, and, finally, the 28 day month would free about 9 per cent of monthly money now held for 30 and 31 days.

Ross Field, Arcadia, Will Soon Be Memory

ARCADIA, Cal., Oct. 13.—Ross Field, one of the country's great balloon schools and air flight centers, will soon be a memory. Recent departure of the C-2, the first great army dirigible to make a transcontinental flight, and of all but 12 enlisted men, has left the big station sealed and empty. The 12 enlisted men will serve as caretakers until their enlistment expires, when even they will leave.

Discontinuance of the field as an air station has not been followed by any determination as to what purpose it will be used, although it is believed here an effort will be made when congress reconvenes to provide an appropriation to reopen the field.

NO PROFIT SALE

Sugarman's "No Profit Sale" which started this morning at 9:30 became an established success with the opening of the doors. Crowds were waiting to be admitted and the fifteen clerks were not enough to take care of the business.

The first twenty-five who purchased merchandise to the value of $10 or more were each given a $2 green-back when the sales slip was presented to the cashier. The names of these twenty-five persons will be published in Monday's Herald.

This Yom Kippur sale is an annual feature with Sugarman, this being the seventeenth one. The first was away back in 1906 and each year has seen the event grow in size. This year promises to be the best ever put on.

Hundreds of articles are included in the sale and to appreciate the real values offered an inspection of the merchandise on display is necessary. Come in tonight while the stock is still complete.—Adv. 14
