GIRL BUDDIES TO HOLD CONVENTION AT NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 13.—Girl buddies of the soldiers in France comprising the membership of the Women's Overseas Service League, will meet with the boys they formerly aided for the first time, at the annual convention of the American Legion here.

Though they served side by side with the men in France, the overseas girls, including in their ranks canteen workers, searchers, hospital hut workers, entertainers and librarians, are not eligible to legion membership because of their civilian status during the war.

Already 2,000 former overseas women in thirty cities are enrolled in the organization a little more than a year ago, according to officers, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Jewish Welfare board, National Catholic War council and American Library association women are included in the membership.

A bill to incorporate the league now is before the senate judiciary committee, the house having passed favorably on the measure. Miss Louise Wells of Chicago, national president, announces the organization is non-political and will undertake no legislative program. Our aim is to give government recognition to the women who were asked to serve their country," said Miss Wells.
