STUDENT BODY MEETS

Plans Made for Sale of Football Tickets and Near East Aid

A meeting of the student body was held in the assembly room at the high school this morning. Among the business that came before the student body, the sale of tickets for the football game Saturday with Medford and the freshman bonfire created the most interest. The aid of the Near East relief was also taken up. The meeting closed with 15 minutes yell practice.

Albert Moorland, president, announced that the Near East relief committee wanted the high school to pledge the support of one child, or more, for one year at a cost of $50. It was decided by the students to pledge the support of one child for one year. The president announced that the raising of the quota would be turned over to the classes, $15 for each class.

It has always been the custom for the freshman class to make a huge bonfire, to be set off the night before the first home football game of the season. The president appointed a committee of upper classmen, consisting of James Manning, Herbert Landis and Dale Soule, to see that the freshman carry out their work.

Albert Moorland inaugurated a contest between the classes to sell tickets for the football game between Medford high and Klamath high at Modoc park Saturday afternoon a 50 cents each. He said the tickets would be on hand by noon. The contest will be open until the game Saturday. The class selling the most will have its pennant in front of the assembly until the contest for student body season tickets closes.

CRIME MASTER MAKES ESCAPE FROM L. A. JAIL

Herbert Wilson, Former Clergyman, and 2 Others in Successful Break

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—Herbert Wilson, known as the "master criminal", convicted of the murder of his pal, Herbert Cox, escaped from the county jail here today with another convicted murderer, Adam Ward, and Guido Spingola, held on a robbery charge.

Wilson, widely known on the coast as a former clergyman and singing evangelist, at one time held a pastorate at Brownsville, Oregon.

The trio, after getting out of jail, held up a postoffice employe and, taking an automobile from him, successfully made their escape.

Break Carefully Timed

The jail break was carefully timed for 7 o'clock, just before changing guards for the night shift. The jail breakers beat up Henry Purrier, night turnkey, after having held up two inside guards. Several shots were fired, and a stray bullet wounded a boy on the street.

Wilson was arrested early this year in connection with a mail truck robbery, and the authorities connected him with other mail robberies and department store burglaries throughout the country.

MAROONED!

COAST EMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS NORMAL DURING SEPTEMBER

Demand for Skilled Building Trades and Agricultural Workers in Many Places Exceeds Supply

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—Outside of the larger cities, employment conditions on the Pacific coast were generally normal during September, according to the report of J. A. Kelly, San Francisco, district director for the employment service, United States department of labor, made public here today. Demand for agricultural workers and skilled building trades artisans in many places exceeded the supply, mining showed slight improvement, but shipbuilding remained at a standstill.

Mr. Kelley's report, covering the states of California, Oregon and Washington, in part follows:

California—Unemployment in larger cities confined chiefly to iron and steel, casual and office workers. Lumber operating to capacity and skilled workers in demand. Agricultural and fruit centers report shortage of experienced help. Steady demand for construction laborers on highways and power development. Building continues very active in most sections, and a shortage of finish carpenters and bricklayers generally reported. Southern oil fields operating to capacity, but San Joaquin valley and coast fields at only one-third capacity. Mining improved but still below normal. Ship building at a standstill.

Oregon—Outside of the large industrial centers, employment conditions show improvement, due chiefly to active demand for agricultural and construction workers. This demand largely responsible for absorption of unemployed from other industries. Building continues active, but there is no apparent shortage of labor. There are no large outside developments or construction work contemplated for immediate future.

Washington—Employment conditions generally improved over August. There has been a falling off in the number employed in the lumber industry due to forest fires, but this industry is still operating to capacity. Food products show a decrease on account of temporary seasonal lay-off. Large demand for harvest hands, affording considerable employment and absorbing many workers from other industries. Iron and steel shows some activity, but not yet up to capacity. Surplus of railroad repair workers, due to labor controversy. Building active, and there is no unemployment in this industry. Demand for building trades mechanics of all kinds in the large centers. Housing conditions generally improving.

KLAMATH GETS MOST VALUABLE N. ZEALAND RAM

Highest-Priced Corriedale Ever Exported Is Purchased by Rex Bord

The highest-priced Corriedale ram ever exported from New Zealand, the home of the Corriedale breed, was received a few days ago by Rex Bord, local breeder of pure-bred sheep, and heads the Bord flock in this county.

The ram was secured by Ellinwood and Ramsey, of Red Bluff, California, who ordered "the best ram that could be found in all New Zealand." It cost $1000 to fill the order and nearly $300 to transport the buck across the water. The ram is four-years old. Bord purchased with him two two-year-old and one yearling bucks.

Plans Corriedales Exclusively

Bord expects eventually to breed Corriedales exclusively, and for the past 12 years has been engaged in building up a fine flock of that breed, although still carrying Rambouillet and others.

The Corriedale is a dual purpose sheep, bred for adaptability to range conditions. It produces a long and high-grade wool, the fleeces averaging 12 pounds on the ordinary range Corriedales, two or three times as much, its fanciers claim, as on the native range sheep. As a mutton producer it is also claimed to excel.

Breed Comparatively New

It is comparatively a new breed, having been started by James Little in New Zealand in 1878, through a cross between Merinos and Lincoln. Little was successful from the start and soon attracted the attention of breeders abroad. A Wyoming breeder made a trip to New Zealand especially to investigate the Corriedale's possibilities, and saw in it a hardy type that would thrive under rough conditions. Now the largest Corriedale flock in the United States is in Wyoming, but several other sizable flocks are started, and Bord is well on the way, he feels, to having one of the best in Klamath county.
