TEAM-WORK

TEAM-WORK counts in every line of human endeavor. The football coach appreciates the value of team-work, works early and late to rebuild the team, seeks to keep the strongest individuals of the team in the aggregation year after year, and subordinates every private consideration to that one thing—
team-work.

The deciding game of the last world series in baseball was lost through lack of team-work. Two players on the losing team quarreled over the play. One lost his temper.
The opponents took quick advantage of the momentary rift in the teamwork of the organization, and with their own team working as a unit, won the game and the series.

Every successful big business organization owes its success to the spirit of team-work.

The state of Oregon now has in the national congress a group of able men, who by reason of long association with each other and understanding of each other, are able able to work together in harmony and together achieve big things.

Senator McNary, Congressman Hawley, Congressman McArthur, Congressman Sinnott—here are members of a strong team playing the game entirely in the interests of the public.

Senator McNary as chairman of the senate committee on irrigation, Congressman Sinnott as chairman of the house committee on public lands, are the pivotal figures in the Oregon legislative team, especially as regards the interests of eastern Oregon, where reclamation, irrigation, development of the public lands and protection of the public resources are the big questions.

Neither Oregon senator is a candidate this year. Congressman Hawley has no opposition. McArthur's Multnomah county constituency can be counted on to retain him against his three opponents.

And Klamath county will, as it should, support its member of the team, Congressman Sinnott.

So long as it can keep its present delegation unbroken, Oregon can expect continued aid from the national congress and the departmental bureaus at Oregon. The members of the delegation are trained by experience. They have standing and influence.

No sane coach would ever dream of replacing a member of an athletic organization who had the same qualifications for his position as Sinnott or McArthur have shown in theirs.

The business executive who had department chiefs as efficient would be constantly fearful lest some rival outbid him for their services.

We have efficiency of high order at our command in the present Oregon delegation in congress.

And we need to keep the team unbroken.

WORRY

WORRY is nothing more or less than a form of fear, so Prof.
John Robertson says in a number of "The Hygienist."

Many a man will confess he is worried, but would be ashamed to admit his fears.

We are all reluctant, to say the least, to own that we are the victims of fear. It seems cowardly to be beset by fear.

This undertaking which we call life, is a voyage sailing out into unknown seas.

We do not know exactly where we are going or what storms may overtake us. The main part is to remain steadfast and be sustained by a genuine faith in Providence.

Worry is not related to its general circumstances. It is a mental attitude or habit. If we were to take 100 people, 100 optimistic people, buoyant and unworried, and compare their circumstances with those of 100 other people who are continuously worried, we would find that the first 100 would really have as much to worry about as the second.

Worry is not produced by the way things happen to you, but by the way you happen to things. If you are a worrier, the cure for your worry depends upon your temperament.

There is no doubt but that a strong and abiding faith in God inspires many a heart with courage and hope and confidence. You cannot say that you are a real believer in religion if you go on year after year indulging in the worries and fears and apprehensions.

One of the very best antidotes to worry is to keep your physical self at its best. Put your health in the best possible state, if it isn't already.
Get your conscience clear by honest and right living and then walk ahead, fearlessly, ready to do your best and to leave the outcome to the power higher than yourself.

Personal Mention

Al D. Short, manager of the White Pellman hotel, left for San Francisco after a brief business visit here.

Brice McCormack is reported slowly recovering from a month's serious illness. He is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Mills.

Mrs. Ella Liebhart was a passenger on the morning train bound for Portland after having visited for the past week with her mother, Mrs.
Amanda Hamaker.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Clifford John Willett, and Miss Elva Pearl Sweeney, both are residents of Lorella where Willett has a farm.

Mrs. J. W. Farris and son, Robert, who has been here from Portland as the guest of her sister, Mrs.
E. D. Lamb, returned this morning.

J. W. Jory, who with Mrs. Jory moved into town from their Midland ranch a few weeks ago, has been stricken with pneumonia and is reported in a serious condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bremer and children have returned from the cast where they have been for the past three months and will continue to make their home in Klamath Falls.

Miss Greta Madison, who for the past few years has made her home with her aunt, Mrs. Lyle Mills, left Sunday for Oakland, California, where she will enter Heald's Business college.

Mrs. J. W. Morehouse, who for the past six months has been here visiting with her daughter, Miss Hazel Morehouse, left this morning for her home in Santa Rosa, California. She will visit with a son in San Francisco on her way south.

Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Rogers, who are motoring from Chicago to Tacoma, spent Thursday and Friday visiting Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Goddard and Dr. and Mrs. H. D. L. Stewart.
They left yesterday expecting to visit Crater lake and other points between here and Portland.

Mrs. Henry Applegate, who for 28 years has not been in Klamath Falls, at on time her home, was here this week from Ashland. She was accompanied by Mrs. Dan Walker and Ernest Applegate. The whole party spent Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Applegate in Swan lake valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Pernoll and family will leave some time this week-end for Marysville, where they expect to make their future home.
Deviating from the usual modes of travel, they are planning to make the trip in a covered wagon and look forward to an interesting journey.

RAILROAD, MUD AND POLITICS MIXED AT
HENLEY MEETING

farm products are simply prohibitive and we believe that this would be remedied if we had adequate railroad transportation; and

WHEREAS the Klamath county chamber of commerce, so-called, has published to the world that it is satisfied with the railroad facilities now being furnished this community and such position taken by the chamber of commerce is violently opposed by the 15,000 citizens of this county who favor the carrying out of the supreme court decision un-merging the Southern Pacific from the Central Pacific railroad;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the citizens, farmers irrigators and others in mass meeting assembled this 20th day of October, 1922 at the Henley school house on the Klamath reclamation project, in Klamath county, Oregon, that we seriously oppose the stand taken by the Klamath county chamber of commerce in which it favored the continued control of the Central Pacific by the Southern Pacific company; that we favor the unmerging of these two railroads pursuant to the decision of the supreme court of the United States dated May 23 this year; that the expression of the chamber of commerce is not the sentiment of the people of this county, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States, The Attorney General of the United States and the Interstate Commerce Commission.
Introduced and passed at a mass meeting held at Henley school,

THE LIBERTY
From the quietude of the fire-side to the roaring, oil-smelling speedway, is the course travelled by "The Married Flapper," starring Marie Prevost, at the Liberty theatre tonight.

The story is an analysis of the ways of the modern flapper, though this one is married, and proves that even a giddy "female hopper" can be possessed of noble stuff.

Tom Mix, the dynamic Fox star, believes in giving his large and loyal public change as well as sensation in his photoplay.

In latest production, "The Fighting Streak," which came to the Liberty theatre tomorrow, Mix will be seen in a part such as he never has played before—that of a brawny young blacksmith in a little western town. Through the medium of this character the story takes on novel color in interest, and it starts Mix off on a series of adventures that provide action every minute and give the famous Fox star another photoplay that is fairly packed with thrills and entertainment.

STUDENTS IN RIOT

Score Injured, One Perhaps Fatally, When Attacked by Rivals

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—Over a score of college students were injured, one possibly fatally, in a riot here today in which students of the southern branch of the University of California were attacked by students of a rival university while gathered for a "pajamino" party. The attackers used "gasoline bombs," bricks, fists and other weapons.

The attacking students were from the University of California. Roger Vargar, 18, is in a critical condition with indications of spinal fracture.
