KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1922

OFFICIAL PAPER OF KLAMATH COUNTY AND OF KLAMATH FALLS

WILL COMPLETE LINE ON TIME, SAYS STRAHORN

O. C. & E. Builder Expects to Fulfill Contract; Road Open to Hildebrand

With the grade completed four miles beyond the present terminus at Hildebrand, contracts being let for three or four miles more, arrangements made for ties for the seven or eight miles of grade, and a crew on hand to work on the rock cuts during the winter, R. E. Strahorn declares that Oregon, California & Eastern railway will reach Sprague river next spring, within the time limit set by the extension of contract with the city of Klamath Falls, which expires May 29, next.

Extension Opened The latest extension of the line, four miles from Dairy to Hildebrand, has been opened to operation, by the filing of tariffs and acceptance of freight.

Strahorn left today for Spokane and the east, after ten days' visit here. He expects to return in about three weeks.

Hildebrand promises not only a good volume of traffic for the Strahorn line," he said to a newspaperman, "but a large increase of business for Klamath Falls. It is located in a rich farming country, near the upper end of Yonka valley, with heavily timbered territory stretching in every direction.

Slidings Being Finished Several slidings are being finished. Cars are now being loaded with lumber that has accumulated from the Kitts and Lorenz mills, awaiting the road; also logs for the Ewanna mill in Klamath Falls.

It is estimated that 250,000,000 feet of lumber should be eventually started to market through Hildebrand, and slidings to the north, in the vicinity of the Horton ranch.

The railway grade is completed to the upper end of the Horton ranch, four miles north of Hildebrand. Grading contracts are being let and work is progressing on an additional four miles to Squaw Flat. Ties and other material have been arranged for the eight miles, completion of which is promised during the fall and winter.

This will leave only about six miles to construct to complete the road to Sprague river. It is intended to work on the rock cuts up to that point all winter.

Another Natural Center At Squaw Flat is another natural center for a vast lumbering industry. Among other holdings in the vicinity are 50,000,000 feet of big Labea Box company timber. The Ewanna Box company has a large amount to be logged on their own and other holdings. Both concerns need and want the timber delivered in Klamath Falls as early as possible.

Plans have also been made for some other mills to be in operation next season at points like Hildebrand, Horton ranch and Squaw Flat, and for the much larger operation on Sprague river as soon as the line reaches there.

Prospects are for early completion of the seven mile branch from Dairy to Bonanza, on which the heaviest grading has been done and some track laid. This will open another body of timber, estimated at from 300,000,000 to 500,000,000 feet.

Irrigation Aided The progress of irrigation work in Linnell and Yonka valleys, which is adding some 5,000 acres to the irrigable area, I attribute as a direct result of the extension of the Strahorn line, and I believe that the situation at last gives promise of the thorough development of eastern Klamath county.

CLAIMS RACE TROPHY Captain Morrissey Refuses to Compete with Bluenose Third Time

WASHINGTON LEADS COAST CONFERENCE GRIDIRON ELEVEN'S

Decisive Victory Over Oregon Aggies Brings Sun-Dodgers to Fore; California Shows Strength

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 25.—By winning Saturday's contest with the Oregon Aggies the University of Washington football machine jumped into first place in the early season Pacific Coast conference race with two games won and none lost. The Aggies had the better of the first period, owing to their punning tactics, but Washington, aided greatly by the punting of Halback Leonard Ziel, downed the farmers by a score of 14-3.

California Strong The manner in which the University of California trounced the crack Olympic club team, 25 to 0, led experts to assert that the Bears had a worthy successor to the two preceding championship machines of their school. The California line, which it was thought might yield to the Olympic attack, proved impervious, and the team developed good ground gaining ability. Brick Muller, sensational player of last year, was at right end for California early in the game and broke up many Olympic plays. Bradshaw, former Nevada star, played well for Olympic, but the speedy little quarterback never got clear for runs.

Stanford's defeat of St. Mary's college was not impressive. The only scoring was done by Caddenback, Stanford fullback, who kicked three field goals which defeated St. Mary's 9 to 0. Although Stanford had her full force in the game for two periods St. Mary's line held against their attack.

Score At Flinch The University of Southern California defeated Nevada university, 6 to 0, but the score was not made until the last three minutes of play. It was alleged that the Southern Californians were keeping their best plays hidden from possible observers of the University of California, with which institution's fighting crew they will tangle next Saturday. The wonderful game of Halback "Bunny" Hug, assisted by ten other Nevadans, however, forced the southerners to the limit to score in the last few minutes on a series of plays started by Halback Campbell.

The Multnomah Athletic club of Portland downed Gonzaga university to the tune of 35-20.

FIREMAN DIES WHEN PORTLAND SCHOOL BURNED

Several Injured; Incendiarism Suspected; Loss Estimated $700,000

PORTLAND, Oct. 25.—The police and fire departments today are endeavoring to learn the cause of a fire which early this morning destroyed the Washington high school on the East Side. One fireman, O. B. Gabriel, was killed by a collapse of a wall, and several others were injured.

Incendiarism figured prominently in the theories. Several fires here recently were attributed to a pyromaniac, and the school is only two blocks from the Central Presbyterian church, which was burned recently from a mysterious cause.

The building was fully insured, and cost $500,000 to build in 1907, but it was estimated to be worth $700,000.

Indian Maid Bobbed Hair Husband on Warpath

HATFIELD, Wis., Oct. 25.—Princess Newana Gayfish, Winnebago Indian beauty of Hatfield, Wis., after a thousand years of tradition and her own domestic life she had bobbed her hair and introduced her fellow Redmen to the flapper. Her husband, Dan Gayfish, put on a war dance that made the silent forests sound like a reunion of boiler-makers.

After the storm had cleared Newana found herself an exile so far as her relatives were concerned. But not being easily disturbed, she accepted her misfortune with a smile and that evening she and her little son turned their backs on the old reservation. Newana isn't worrying about the future. THE PRICE OF PEACE

U. P. FACES EJECTION

Railroad Company and Building Owners in Controversy

PORTLAND, Oct. 25.—Just what the Union Pacific will do towards avoiding ejection from the Wells Fargo building November 30, at the expiration of its lease will be disclosed within the next three days, according to J. P. O'Brien, general manager of the O-W. R. R. & N. lines. "We will not be put out on the street and if we are forced out we will have shelter for all of the general offices," he said.

The trouble between the Express Building company, the new owners of the Wells Fargo building, and the railroad company, its long time tenant, is of recent development. The Union Pacific pays a monthly rental of $9,800 and increase of 30 per cent was demanded for a renewal of the lease by the San Francisco interests controlling the property, which is said to have been purchased for $850,000.

Company on Ear While the railroad was seeking a site for a new building the San Francisco interests are said to have become peeved and refused to consider a bonus of $100,000 for renewal of the lease.

Negotiations were broken off and the next move was an advertisement inviting leasing propositions for five or ten years, possession to be given about February 1, 1923, and the lessor offering to make any alterations and improvements in the interior of the eleven floors of space.

BUSINESS MEN URGED TO LEND AID TO SCHOOL

Forum Speaker Points Out Necessity of Support for Athletics

Support of high school activities, especially athletics, was urged by W. O. Smith, president of the Rotary club, upon business men of the community in an address at the chamber of commerce forum today.

A plan to supply temporary gymnasium facilities is being considered, he said, and a campaign to sell $500 worth of season tickets to football games and school affairs will start next Friday. He asked business men to be prepared to support the campaign. Despite other demands, the development of future citizens made it essential that community interest in school affairs be kept.

"The boys are loyal to the business men," said Smith. "At Saturday's game Medford started bidding the local team on account of the small attendance.

"They said that the Medford business houses closed during a football game and everybody turned out. "What do you think our boys told them?" the speaker asked. They said: 'Yes, over in Medford you have no business and they can close their stores any time. In Klamath Falls the business men are busy, and they haven't time for football games.' Such a loyal spirit deserves reciprocal loyalty, the speaker argued.

History of Czechs Charles J. Zernans, president of the American Czech-Slovak chamber of commerce at Portland, spoke briefly, detailing the history of the Czech-Slovakian people. The purpose of the Portland organization, he said, was to develop trade relations between Oregon and the new republic of Czechoslovakia.

Klamath county should be interested, he declared, because of the presence here of a large colony of these nationals, who are usually mis-called Bohemians.
