

U. S. PLANS GOOD ROADS PROGRAM

Completion Will Give Nation Best Transportation Facilities in World

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—A program for good roads construction during the next 15 to 20 years which will make the road transportation facilities of the United States far exceed those of any other nation in the world, past or present, is the aim of the federal government. The highways of Rome, even, whose fame has come down through the centuries, will pale by comparison, officials declare. Under the program, there will be built, during the period, 180,000 miles of improved highways, which will constitute the federal-aid highway system, and an equal or greater mileage of state and local roads.

Details of this vast program will be placed before the conference of the highway education board, meeting here from October 26 to 28, by the highway engineers and officials of the bureau of public roads, of the United States department of agriculture, to whom has been entrusted the work of planning and supervising the construction of the federal-aid highways.

The plan will be presented especially to enable the board to proceed authoritatively with its work of devising aids for schools and colleges to which the road-building program is being extended.

Officials of the bureau place the aggregate cost of the federal-aid program alone at about $3,000,000,000, spread over the period. They base their estimate on an average cost of $17,000 per mile. The average cost, in turn, takes in consideration all classes of improved highways from the cheapest to the most expensive. Approximately one-third of the present system, or 60,000 miles of improved highways, already is either built or building.

The program is a new one. Up to comparatively recent years, the bureau declares, road building in the United States has been conducted without special regard to a national system. Highways had been constructed where needed without considering whether they would link up the most effective fashion with the whole network or roads projected to spread over the entire country. Engineers had sought more to meet immediate and local demands than the broader requirements of the states and the nation.

The federal-aid program, officials add, will contemplate the construction of only such roads as fit into the national program and contribute to the national system. At the same time the roads will be so selected as to serve the most important local requirements. With marked modifications the system adopted in building the railways of the country will be borne in mind in the construction of the nation's new highways. There will be main lines of highway communication between centers and thousands of miles of feeder roads, reaching back into the more sparsely settled regions and into the rich agriculture sections, to the areas whose population and products will flow over the new system.

New roads will be built—thousands of miles of them—where they will fit in most advantageously with the entire program. The bureau at present is engaged in research work into the most efficient methods of road building, including the character and wearing power of materials and resisting qualities of various substances, and has already secured a great store of valuable information which will be available to highway engineers of tomorrow whom the board especially is seeking to have educated in practical and modern methods.

Women May Hold Seats In League of Nations

INDY, N. S. W., Oct. 27.—The federal government probably will follow the example of Great Britain in sending women representatives in an advisory capacity to the league of nations. Two attempts have been made in the house to obtain Premier Hughes' promise that the women's organizations would be given representation at the league meetings.

A woman's political party has been organized in Melbourne with the object of obtaining direct representation of the interests of women and children in parliament and other governmental bodies.

OLYMPIC CLUB HAS ONE OF STRONGEST ELEVENS ON COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—On what is probably the smallest football practice field in the country, the Olympic Club eleven of San Francisco this year has been drilled into one of the greatest football teams on the Pacific coast.

The Olympic football men, coached by Bob Evans, former Stanford university mentor, do their practicing on a small lot, about twenty five by sixty yards in size, which adjoins their big clubhouse in the downtown section here.

Much of the practicing of the Olympic team is done under electric light as the majority of the players are in business here and cannot go to the field before late in the afternoon or early in the evening.

The Olympic team is made up of former college stars, among them "Rabbit" Bradshaw, ex-Nevada quarter, Jack Patrick, former Stanford captain, Needles, one time a Santa Clara halfback, King, ex-Navy man, and Cort Majors and George Latham, both of whom captained the University of California eleven.

GREAT SALE TO END

The great "No Profit Sale" which has been going on at Sugarman's for the past two weeks will end tomorrow. To bring the event to a grand finale there are being placed on sale many high grade articles of men's wear at greater reductions than ever made before.

Today and tomorrow are trunk days with every trunk in the store reduced materially. Trunks are staple articles and the large reductions are made only because of the big stock which is taking up so much room.

Such suits and overcoats as the Hart, Schaffner & Marx are being placed at reductions which make them no more costly than other less valuable makes are generally priced. See the large ad in this issue of the Herald for some of the remarkable prices.—Adv. 27.

WARDENS TELL OF FOOTPRINTS FOUND IN ROAD

McDaniels and Meads Testify in Trial of Mrs. Ollie Blowers

"Tom, come here," was what A. A. Lowry yesterday afternoon testified he heard a woman's voice say the night of September 1, when he and Mrs. Lowry, camped on the old Knott ranch at the juncture of the Diamond lake and Fish lake roads, were startled by the five shots fired nearby.

Game Warden H. E. Meads told of the woman's tracks in the road, and how he and Game Warden McDaniels, the latter driving a car, had followed the tracks back toward the Half Way house, Mrs. Blower's stopping place on The Dalles-California highway about one and one-half miles east from the scene of the murder.

Game Warden F. A. McDaniels told in detail how the tracks were traced to the Half Way house and of the investigation made in the vicinity of the house.

But as yet no evidence has been introduced indicating that the voice was that of Mrs. Blowers, or that hers were the tracks in the road. Nor has a motive for the crime been shown. Whether the state will later introduce more incriminating evidence has not been indicated. On the other hand, it is believed in some quarters that the defense may spring a surprise.

MOVIES

THE STRAND

Tonight is country store night at The Strand and besides there will be a big western feature picture, "The Girl from Nowhere," which is full of fights and exciting situations.

There will also be a good comedy and the popular vaudeville movies, making a wonderful show for twenty cents.

Roy Gardner, the greatest outlaw of the century in America will be shown Sunday with his wife, Mrs. Gardner would have been here in person had she not had to attend to an operation which her husband has to undergo at Leavenworth where he is held.

Besides the outlaw picture there will be Neal Hart in "Tangled Trails," a story of the Canadian forests and one of the greatest pictures Hart ever played in. The show Sunday will be the best ever shown in this town regardless of the price.

THE LIBERTY

"She loved in Vain," "Nell of Wyoming," "Paul's Fatal Mistake."

Everyone in smaller cities and country towns has seen all three of these "classics." It doesn't matter if he doesn't remember the names; the titles quoted above are not obligatory. Glittering, gaudy billboards can say most anything in red letters, but all titles of this class mean the same thing, dark, red villainy and rapid fire heroism, always with a beautiful woman at stake.

What cheap road companies have played for forty years and will play for another forty to theatrically "unsophisticated" audiences, is hurled upon broadly in "The Troupers," a rollicking screen farce with a touch of deep drama, which brings the appealing Universal star, Gladys Walton, to the Liberty Theatre today.

THIRTEEN PERSONS WHO LOST LIVES IN RESCUES GET HONOR

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—Thirteen persons who lost their lives in performing heroic deeds were honored by the Carnegie Hero Fund commission at its fall meeting here today. Thirty-three acts of heroism were recognized by the commission, which awarded silver medals in four cases and bronze medals in 29 cases. The dependents of eight of the heroes who sacrificed their lives were granted pensions aggregating $5,780 a year, while in four similar cases, $2,500 was awarded.

One hero who was disabled was given $1,500 and benefits of $20 a month. In seven cases awards aggregating $11,200 were appropriated for educational and other purposes, while in 11 instances the commission awards aggregating $9,000 were approved for other worthy purposes.

A YOUNG WAG

Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, told at a dinner some interesting experiences he had had among the London poor. On one occasion he was addressing the pupils in a school and giving some practical information about the cow. He brought out by questions that the cow's flesh was used for food, its hide for making shoes, and then he asked: "And what do we use the horns for?"

"For ornaments, sir," said a boy promptly.

The wife of a garage man in St. Louis has been arrested for grave robbing and arson. In this part of the country the garage men do the rough stuff themselves and do not ask their wives to help out.

Charles XII Brought to Life on Silver Screen

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 27.—Charles XII, perhaps the greatest national hero of Sweden's history, and in his time one of the most feared warriors of Europe, he was killed in 1718—will again arise before the eyes of his many admirers this time on the silver screen. A corporation is now being formed for the production of a film depicting the outstanding events of the meteoric military and political career of this Swedish idol who, taking the field in person, conquered the Russians on one hand and the Danes on the other, and was killed in action at the age of thirty-six.
