RESERVOIR FILLER
Fountain Pen

The Name is a Guarantee

The name CONKLIN on a fountain pen is like the signature of a well known financier on a check—a well-backed guarantee of value as represented.

For 21 years, the name CONKLIN has guaranteed extra pen values. Today with the new CONKLIN refinements, it means new pleasure in writing and longer satisfactory service.

SHASTA VIEW

Since the rain a few weeks ago we have had beautiful fall weather, fine for putting in fall grain.

Mrs. J. W. L. Smith of Malin and Mrs. W. A. Layman were visitors at the home of J. L. Bailey Thursday.

O. E. Hunt is trucking grain to Klamath Falls and one day took a load of hogs for Mr. Thomas of Malin.

Friends of John Fought will be pleased to know that he was improving at last report. He expects to go to Red Bluff to spend the winter with a daughter.

C. M. Reed and family of Fort Jones, Cal., were visitors a few days last week at the home of O. E. Hunt. They report salmon running fine in Shasta river.

A pleasant evening was spent at the Shasta View school house last Friday evening when the school gave a Halloween entertainment after which pumpkin pie and cocoa were served and the young folks enjoyed an hour playing games. The Malin schools were well represented.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. Siegel, who called Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wharton, report Mrs. Wharton quite seriously injured by a recent fall.

POOL HALL TO RE-OPEN

The Eagle pool room, which was recently burned out when fire destroyed the building next to the American National bank, will open in a few days in the building recently vacated by the Style Shop, between Seventh and Eighth streets, according to Chas. Donald, proprietor. Work on remodeling the front of the building will be started at once.

ELKS DANCE

The ladies Elks club is holding a Halloween dance tonight and are anxious that all Elks and their ladies will make an effort to attend. A special invitation is offered to all visiting Elks who may not have received an invitation.

OLCOTT FOR GOVERNOR

Why?

Hear the Answer at City Hall

Wednesday Evening,

Nov. 1

At 8 o'Clock

George W. Caldwell of Portland, able orator and attorney, will discuss the reasons why the people should vote for the continuance of the economical and business-like administration of Oregon's public affairs that prevail under Ben W. Olcott's administration. Ben W. Olcott's fearless conduct in office has drawn the fire of many interests. He has never sacrificed the people's welfare for personal advantage.

Will the people support Olcott as he has supported them?

Facts on which the voter may base an intelligent decision will be presented at

The City Hall, Wednesday Night

This space is paid for by the Oregon Republican State Central Committee.
