R. C. GROESBECK for Circuit Judge

Mr. Groesbeck has the qualifications: 46 years of age, in the prime of life. He is an able, experienced and successful lawyer. He is a man of unquestionable integrity, clean, aggressive and square. His citizenship is of the highest type. We believe, if elected, that he will conduct the office of circuit judge upon a high plane of fairness, openly and according to law; that he will devote fully and faithfully to the public the energy, dignity and ability that have won him private success; that he will dispose of court business carefully and honestly, and that, above all, he will speedily dispose of accumulated court business, and will thereafter keep it up to date.

"The Circuit Court is the most expensive institution maintained by the people. The energetic handling of the office means a saving of thousands of dollars and more wholesome conditions generally, OF WHICH YOU HAD A TASTE LAST SPRING. If elected, I promise you that the business of the office will MOVE."

AUSTRALIA MAY VOTE ON LIQUOR

Amended Licensing Bill Provides for Changes in Present Statutes

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 1.—Liquor traffic modifications, in the shape of an amended licensing bill, may be introduced in western Australia as the result of a commission's inquiry into the question. The proposal provides for a poll of assembly electors for a "yes" or "no" vote on prohibition every five years. No license shall be carried if there be a 60 per cent majority, provided that 30 per cent of the electors of the state vote for the proposal. A licensing court of three members will be appointed, with jurisdiction throughout the state to enforce licenses on the lines of the Victorian act, the compensation to be provided by a five per cent levy on the purchase price of liquor sold by licensed houses.

The sale of liquors to persons under 21 years of age would be prohibited and the sale of bean tito travelers would be abolished by the measure. Lodgers and bar employees must be registered and trading hours would be limited to between 9 a. m. and 7 p. m., except in the 20th Golds, where the bars might remain open until 11 p. m. Railway car and restaurant licenses would be abolished, except those conferred under the railway act and these would be subject to the licensing court. Beer shall not exceed nine per cent alcoholic content and stout would be limited to 12 per cent alcohol. Any whiskey that is sold must have been in wood for at least three years.
