"Vaudeville artists are gonna have a hard time this winter."

It is no task to please a woman if you find out what she wants, says Rex Bord.

Co'fect and congregate are synonymous, yet the church often finds that there is a vast disparity between the collection and the congregation.

We wonder sometimes whether certain civic improvements are like a certain Iowa town.—merely Council Bluffs.

Just Begun To Fight Sam unfortunately had picked out an unusually combative help meet. After three days of married life he returned to his job looking somewhat wilted and woebegone.

Did you ever see a man who got to the top of the ladder by being a grouch? Neither did we.

We have often noticed that people who write anonymous letters never know how to spell.

E. C. Stuckey says a flapper cannot help it if she is good looking, and you can rest assured she will not try to.

Grammar There was a young lady from Kent Whose grammar was terribly bent. She said to her flame: "I'm so glad you have come. But I'll miss you so much when you've went."

One of the boys, relates Frank Washington, was watching a colored gentleman work and he was certainly making the dirt fly. He asked him how it was he worked so fast and so well.

Rastus kept right on working and replied, "Ye see, Mr. Boss, ah jest sticks de match ob enthusiasm to de fuse ob energy—an ah jest naturally explodes, ah does."

PINE TREE

Songs of the green timber country as sung by Thurlow Lieurance and Mrs. Lieurance will entertain the people of Klamath Falls next Monday evening at the Pine Tree theatre.

This will be the first of a series of three Chautauqua entertainments to be given here this winter and they are being handled without expectation of profit by the sponsors.

or by the theatre. A guarantee fund has been raised to secure this high class entertainment for this community and it is expected that several hundred season tickets will be taken in support of the effort in bringing in such high class entertainments.

Mr. Lieurance tells the story of the green timber country in songs composed in the enchanted "land of the blue sky water." He is ably assisted by Mrs. Lieurance (Edna Wooley) and both appear in Indian garb which adds to the beauty and romance of the setting for the wonderful Indian songs.

THE LIBERTY

Abel Gance's sensational production, "I Accuse," which is the feature at the Liberty theatre tonight, has in it all the elements that go to make a really great and successful motion picture. Thrills there are aplenty, with action and human interest abounding from the first start of the film to the very last.

The story is remarkable for its directness and simplicity. It tells the conflicting emotions of two men of entirely different temperaments in love with the same woman. One is a poet, visionary to the extreme, and who goes through life as in a dream. The other is the husband, tenderly loving toward his wife at times; again selfish and brutal. These men, intensely jealous of each, each is consumed by a burning hatred. Their experiences on the battlefield cause them to find their true selves and a firm friendship replaces the former intense dislike. In the absence of husband and lover, the wife falls into the hands of the enemy. After four years she escapes, returning with her child to her native town in France. The poet has been invalid out of service. To him the woman tells her story and asks protection for her child from her husband's anger. The husband comes home, finds the child, and instantly accuses his friend, the poet. The true story of the infant's parentage is told; the two men join forces to avenge the mother, and return to the battle front.

"Hell's Oasis," and it comes pretty near living up to the name. Anyway the actors have to go through hell to get to the oasis.

Tomorrow the two acts of vaudeville are the attraction but a remarkable picture of western pep and action will also be shown.

In the vaudeville Dorothy Darling the beautiful young soprano singer, comes highly recommended and will entertain with songs both classical and popular. She has been singing for the San Francisco Call's radio broadcast station and the young woman chosen to assist in entertaining General Pezshing at Kansas City recently.

The other act of the vaudeville is given by two young men back from overseas service. They are musicians and both entertain and amuse their audiences.

"PIONEERS" NAME SUGGESTED FOR U. OF O. GRID ELEVEN

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 7.—University of Oregon's football team wants a name and suggestions are being heard from all parts of the campus here. Someone thought the "Pioneers" would be a good name and many seem to like it.

The name "Pioneers," it is claimed, would be fitting, for Oregon is a pioneer state and the university is a pioneer among western institutions of higher learning.

Oregon is the only Pacific coast conference team without a nickname. The Washington eleven answers to the name of "Huskies," Washington State has the "Cougars," The Oregon Agricultural college tea meal itself the "Aggies," over at Idaho they call the team the "Vandals," Stanford has the "Cardinals," California the "Bears," and at southern California the football men are the "Trojans."

ALL ATTENDANCE RECORDS BROKEN AT SEQUOIA NAT. PARK

VISALIA, Calif., Nov. 5.—All attendance records were broken this summer in the General Grant and Sequoia national parks, near here, according to Superintendent John R. White. The combined attendance at the two parks was 77,9880, which was 19,405 better than last year.

Grant Park this year had 59,406 visitors, while 27,514 registered at Sequoia. The Sequoia Park attendance was less than last year, which was 28,262, according to official figures. Officials believe the figures show a decline in attendance because all the visitors were not checked in.

Ah Lo Sing Held Up Train While He Dressed

CALENICO, Cal., Nov. 7.—Ah Lo Sing had to get up and dress, and the limited train had to wait while he did it.

This happened here recently because Mr. Ah, whose name defines his nationality, was legally in the United States but had no authority to enter Mexico. He bought a ticket from Los Angeles to Yuma, and expected to go by an all-American route, but for some reason the railroad people loaded him on a Pullman that went by the branch of the Southern Pacific which enters Mexico here and emerges at Andrade. When Mr. Ah reached here he was sound asleep in his berth. He had to be awakened, the train held while he dressed, and he was obliged to complete his journey by automobile, staying north of the line.

Now is the time to start something to wear off New Years.
