KLAMATH AGAIN HAS MEMBER IN OREGON HOUSE

Latest Returns Indicate Election of J. M. Ezell to State Legislature

Klamath county once more will have representation in the state legislature, according to latest returns, which indicate the election of J. M. Ezell.

Returns from 101 of the 129 precincts in Klamath, Deschutes, Jefferson, Lake and Crook counties, comprising the 21st representative district, give the following vote:

Denton Burdick (R)	3249
J. M. Ezell (R)	2979
H. J. Overturn (R)	2684
Harry Gard (R)	2564
R. E. Bradbury (R)	2342

Farms 400 Acres

Ezell is a farmer with 400 acres on the Merrill road four miles from this city. He came here in 1909 from Nevada where he graduated in law at the University of Nevada. He was admitted to the Nevada bar but his health prevented his practicing, and shortly after he came to this county with his father, L. S., and his brother, W. C. Ezell. He is 38, married and has two children.

Ezell says he has no program to follow in the legislature except reduction of taxes or a change in the manner of payments. A farmer failing to pay his taxes promptly, he said, is subject to penalties and interest totaling 27 per cent. This, he believes, borders on usury and should be remedied. Ezell is willing to follow the wishes of the county along any other line.

Merrymen Last Representative

The last Klamath representative was Dr. G. H. Merrymen, who served in 1918 and 1919. W. O. Smith served in 1913 and 1915.

Ezell said he was highly appreciative of the support given him by Klamath county voters.

Mrs. Mary Smith Lockwood Dies in Plymouth Home at Age of 91

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Mary Smith Lockwood, founder of the Daughters of the American Revolution, died here yesterday, aged 91.

Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, "Little Mother to the Daughters of the American Revolution," was the last survivor of the little group of 18 women patriots who organized that body more than 50 years ago; and despite her nearly full century of years, she was one of the most active members of the organization almost up to the time of her last illness.

Mary Lockwood was born at Chautauque, N. Y. in 1831, a daughter of the famous Smith family, founders of Smith college. Her ancestors were warriors. Her great-grandfather was a Revolutionary soldier; her grandfather lost his life in the battle of Black Rock, in which her father also fought, and her husband, Henry Lockwood, was a soldier in the Civil war. It was to accompany him on part of his way to Washington, where she lived for the remainder of her life.

WEATHER PROBABILITY

The Cyclo-Stormograph at Wood's Pharmacy shows that the barometric pressure rose steadily and rapidly from 6 o'clock this evening until 10 this morning. Although skies are still threatening this rise would indicate clearing weather tonight. Forecast for next 24 hours: Fair—with brisk winds which will diminish.

The Tyros recording thermometer registered maximum and minimum temperature today, as follows:
High 40
Low 31

THURLOW LIEURANCE IS UNIQUE FIGURE IN AMERICAN MUSIC

Greatest Authority Yet Arisen on Music of American Indian; History Recorded in Song

The most unique figure among American musicians today is Thurlow Lieurance. He is the greatest authority that has yet arisen on the music of the American Indians. What the artists with brush and with words have done to record the life, the history and the characteristics of our aborigines, Lieurance has done in the far greater and more delicate service of catching and preserving the songs, tales, legends and whistled of a dying race.

Holds Lasting Honor

To him belongs the lasting honor of having done what no anthropologist with all his learning and research into the lives and habits of the Indians could do; he has preserved through their songs a record of the utmost thoughts of the soul of a race whose coming is a mystery and whose passing to oblivion is at hand.

Among about 20 cities on the Pacific coast, Klamath Falls is to have the great opportunity of hearing Mr. Lieurance in a program of Indian music at the Pine Tree theater next Monday evening, November 13. There will be dramatic features of scenery and Indian costumes that will make this the most beautiful and memorable musical performance yet given here.

Crowds Attract Crowds

The concerts of Indian music given by Mr. Lieurance and his wife have created the most intense interest and enthusiasm and attracted larger crowds than anything on the coast stage throughout the east.

It is a matter to regret that Mr. Lieurance can give only one concert in Klamath Falls. He would gladly fill the house for several nights were the people of this city to have the opportunity to listen to more than one performance.

3 UP, BOOZE CHARGE

Lumberjacks Will Face Federal Court at Portland

George Turner, Phil Morrow and Tom O'Brien, lumberjacks, Thursday were brought before U. S. Commissioner Bert C. Thomas charged with possessing, transporting and introducing liquor on the Klamath Indian reservation. They were arrested November 2 while driving a Ford car from Fort Klamath to the agency. The car and three quarts of moonshine were confiscated by agency officials.

The three signified their intention of pleading guilty and will be sent to Portland upon the arrival of a United States marshal, pending whose arrival they are being held in the local jail. None was able to give bail.

HATCHERY HAS RUN

15,000,000 Chinook Salmon Eggs Are Taken at Klamathon

YREKA, Nov. 10.—The hatchery at Klamathon at the end of last week had taken more than 15,000,000 chinook salmon eggs for the season. If favorable weather conditions continue, officers of the department of fish culture say it will be possible to increase the total to more than 20,000,000 within the next few days, thus shattering all previous records on the Klamath river.

It has also been stated that the salmon run has increased between 40 and 50 percent during the past two years, which is due to the work done by the fish and game commission in stocking the stream with young fish from the state hatcheries.

DANCE TO L. A. MUSIC

Jazz Band Strains Heard in Philadelphia; Received Here

Dancers as far east as Philadelphia tripped gaily to the strains of music furnished by the Los Angeles jazz band, transmitted by radio from the Los Angeles Times broadcasting station.

The band music was received clearly at Klamath Falls, both by E. M. Lucas' station in his old store next to the postoffice and at the Herald station.

Another band dance is scheduled by the Times tonight at 8:30 and radio fans and other interested persons will be welcome at both the local stations.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—A declaration of masculine rights filed today in supreme court, with a petition that it be approved as the magna charta of the Association of Brothers Under the Skins.

The proposed incorporators were three New York men, who gave an uptown address as headquarters of the association. Based on the proposition that "all men are entitled to wear the trousers in their own households," the bill included the following:

- "Rights:
 - "To protect the husband from the performance of any and all household duties, and assure him home-cooked meals, prepared by the wife.
 - "To prevent visits from mother-in-laws, except on written permits signed by officers of the association, said permits not to be issued on Sundays and holidays.

FOOTBALL TOMORROW

All-Stars and High School Will Play, Rain or Shine

Rain or shine, snow, sleet or hail, the Klamath All-Stars will battle the high school football warriors on Mudoc field tomorrow afternoon.

Football fans are promised the best game of the season. The city team has been welded together into one of the strongest aggregations ever seen here, according to the management, and will give the high school some anxious moments. A number of former high school and college stars have been rounded up. Football suits were found and practice was held nightly.

Reports are that the high school players have been letting down a bit during the past week or two, not practicing and breaking training. Whether this will have any effect on the outcome will be known tomorrow afternoon. City players, however, say they are going after the students from the first whistle.

WETS SCORE GAINS

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Wets scored big gains in Tuesday's voting. Illinois, in a referendum on the restoration of beer and light wines, is wet by a majority estimated to exceed 500,000. Several wet congressmen were elected.

Massachusetts, voting on enforcement of the Volstead law, recorded its voice strongly against a drastic dry regime.

In Ohio the dries defeated the referendum on the proposed constitutional amendment restoring beer and light wine by a small majority.

New York state elected many wets to congress, while the result of the senatorial and congressional contests in New Jersey was a distinct wet victory.

California, on face of available returns, had rejected a state enforcement act.

While Representative Volstead, Minnesota, author of the dry law, was defeated for congress, his successful opponent, Rev. A. J. Kvale, is even drier than Volstead.

GOVT. CONTROL IS BLAMED FOR RAILROAD LACK

Transportation Shortage Comes At Start of Business Revival

NEW YORK CITY, Nov. 10.—Government regulation is almost wholly responsible for the decline of railroad development and existing shortage of transportation, Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, told members of the railway business association at the annual dinner here last night.

For ten years before the war, he said, unwise regulation kept down the rates and reduced the net return of the railroads, although wages, prices and returns earned in other lines of business were increasing.

"The outstanding fact regarding the present shortage of transportation is that it has been met at the very beginning of a period of business revival," he said.

Situation Unprecedented

"In this respect it creates a situation unprecedented in our history—a situation which should cause every farmer and business man, every railway regulating official, every public man, every wage worker, to pause and reflect seriously."

"In past periods of business revival the increase in freight business has gone on until it has reached a point 25 to 150 percent higher than ever before. We may well ask ourselves whether, with the railways finding it difficult to surpass the freight record of 1920, they can be expected within a few months or years to handle such an increase in tonnage as past experience shows would only be normal in a period of general revival."

Mr. Markham said the situation is due partly to the coal and other employees' strikes but added that the large contributing factor was the more rapid development of the production and commerce of the country than the development of the facilities of the railroads.

Good Condition Essential

"Clearly it is essential to the welfare of the country that the railroads should as rapidly as practicable, put their existing facilities in good condition, and that they should for some years rapidly improve and expand their properties," he continued. "The only thing which will enable and cause the railways to carry out a sufficient program of expansion will be to let them earn sufficient net return to raise the new capital required for that purpose."

Repeal of the rate making provisions of the Esch-Cummins Transportation act would be the most deadly blow that could be aimed at railroad credit and the nation's good faith and prosperity, he said, adding that it would tend to cause a chronic shortage of transportation which would seriously hinder all increase of production and commerce as long as it lasted.

Transportation Brings Prosperity

"It is plain to every man who thinks that the wages labor can be paid, the income the farmer can get, the profits that can be derived from business, depend in the long run upon the total amount of production and commerce that can be carried on. If the necessities, comforts and luxuries each of our people have is to be increased, we must increase our total production and commerce more rapidly than our population. We have always done this in America. But nothing could be more obvious than that the increase in production and commerce which is vital to the welfare of all cannot be secured without a corresponding increase in transportation."

GULF STEAMER BURNS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10.—The freight steamer Nola, plying between New Orleans and Houston, Texas, reported by wireless today that it was burning in the Gulf of Mexico, about 40 miles from the mouth of the Mississippi river. Later reports said the ship was destroyed and the crew, taking to life boats, were picked up by a French steamer.
