Word was received yesterday afternoon by Allen Sloan, of the death of his brother-in-law, Hugh Clifton, at Roseville, California. Clifton, who for the greater part of his life made his home in Klamath county, was moved to Roseville a few weeks ago with the hope that a change of climate might help to cure him of a serious ailment, but in spite of all that could be done death came early yesterday afternoon.

J. E. Patterson, of Ashland, is here for the purpose of looking over the pine beetle situation in Area 1. Patterson is an inspector of the Bureau of Entomology, F. P. Keen, head of the work in Klamath county and northern California, accompanied by A. J. ALASKAN MOOSE NOW IN OREGON

Five Imported Animals Released in Lane and Douglas Counties

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 10.—In an effort to stock the forests of Oregon with moose, five of these animals, brought from Alaska, were liberated by the state game commission a few days ago in the southern part of Lane county and the northern part of Douglas county, near the Pacific ocean. It is said that conditions in this part of Oregon are ideal for raising moose. Members of the game commission assert the belief that in a few years there will be large herds of moose in that locality. The moose that have just been liberated as a foundation for a herd are protected by state law.
