French Commercial Houses Active in Russia

MOSCOW, Nov. 11.—More representatives of French commercial houses have been visiting Russia this fall than at any time since the war. Some have come to negotiate with the government for concessions of various kinds, while others are here to buy or sell goods. The first concessions to be granted a French company under the soviet regime was that of the municipality of Moscow, by which deal a group of capitalists from Paris are given a 49 year lease upon certain city blocks. The buildings are to be improved by the French and subleased for business purposes, or as living quarters, the company paying the city government each year a certain percentage of its income.

Society

The social whirl, which gave such promise last week, slumped again and with the election strictly social functions were forgotten. Clubs postponed their meetings and dances were called off. It is expected that next week will find things normal once more and social items will not be at a premium. The Legion dance at the Scandinavian hall Friday was the only noteworthy event of the week.

On the eve of Armistice Day, Friday night, the American Legion was host to the city at a dance held in the Scandinavian hall. A large crowd was in attendance, making the affair a success from the first strains of the music furnished by Houston's orchestra. Flags and other patriotic decorations had been placed about the hall by the decoration committee earlier in the day and lent a tone of festivity to the room. The dance last night is the first social function sponsored by the Legion this season.

The Ladies Elk club met at Wednesday of this week, the meeting having been postponed from Tuesday on account of that being election day, and there was an unusually large number of ladies who dropped in for cards during the afternoon.

The ladies of the Methodist church are busy preparing for their fancy work bazaar, which has been set for December 9. A place has not yet been chosen for the sale, but will be announced later.

Mrs. E. H. Pike was hostess this week for the St. Paul's Episcopal guild Thursday at her home in Pelican City.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gerber on High street was the scene of a charming wedding Monday evening at 8:30, when Miss Margaret Radford became the bride of Ralph I. Lyon. Both are residents of Lorella and expect to reside on a ranch in that district. A wedding supper was served at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at which covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Worden, Mrs. John Sargent, Mrs. Sarah Gowen, Mr. and Mrs. Gerber and the bride and bridegroom. Guests in the evening were Mr. and Mrs. O. Larsen, Mr. and Mrs. Judge Short, Mrs. Arthur Rice and the dinner guests.

Harry Walsh was host Wednesday night to a number of friends at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ella Walsh, 314 Lincoln street. The feature of the evening which delighted the guests was an old-fashioned candy pull. Besides this numerous games were indulged in, concluded by a supper served at 12:00. Following is the guest list: Mr. and Mrs. O. Rae, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burdett, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Huffman, Mrs. A. Cline, Misses Harriet Sugarman, Josephine Upp; Messrs R. Patterson, Clyde Walsh, Angus Walsh, Frank Upp, H. Snyder, Homer Cummings and the host.

About 40 ladies attended the Library club's meeting yesterday when the topic of the American Indian was taken up and a number of rare relics were exhibited by Miss Maud Baldwin, Mrs. H. E. Momery, Mrs. Bert C. Thomas, Mrs. Charles Wood Eberlein and others. Mrs. Eberlein had several pieces of odd Italian jewelry at the meeting. Two rings, in particular, interested those present. They were crudely shaped from pieces of silver set with turquoise and uncut garnets. At the close of the program tea was served by the committee. Mrs. R. C. Groenbeck was in charge of the program, which included music.

POLITICAL CHANGES IN ALL NATIONS AS ONE RESULT OF WAR (Continued from Page 1) face of an uprising of not much less than revolutionary proportions engineered by the Fascisti; and the leader of this formidable group, Benito Mussolini, was installed in his place, virtually with dictatorial powers. Russia the overturning has been complete of all. The czar and his family are gone. Not only the old government organization, but the old social order is gone. Civilization, as the western world understands it, seems to have disappeared. Even so radical a regime as the established by Kerensky, when the monarch was overthrown, was upset by the super-rad-

Army Scandal

Mrs. Phillip J. Fitzpatrick, wife of a lieutenant in the 107th New York regiment, is accused by her husband of having a love affair with Colonel Wade H. Haynes (above). The lieutenant has sued his commanding officer for $100,000 for alleged alienation of Mrs. Fitzpatrick's affections. Haynes denies the charges.

icals who rule today. To all intents and purposes Russia has ceased, for the time being, to exist as part of the world.

Others Of the lesser countries which the war touched it is too soon to say much. Belgium, deeply as she was stricken, is showing wonderful powers of recovery.

Turkey, driven out of Europe, seems certain to come back, perhaps pretty strongly, considering that the sultan is religious head of the Mohammedan world.

Poland and a brood of new little states in central Europe and the Balkans have their respective salvations to work out.

INDIAN MUSIC IS SOURCE OF WONDER; BEAUTY AMAZES ALL

(Continued from Page 1) lic or private, tribal or individual, sacred, mystical or secular, is incomplete without the music designed expressly for it and handed down from unknown antiquity. The great service done to science and to musical art by Thurlow Lieurance has been the rescuing from certain oblivion the songs of some 51 Indian tribes in North America.

Two hundred and fifty songs of a single people, the Chippewas, have been preserved by him. Some idea may be gained of the almost insurmountable difficulty of such a work (aside from the reticence of the Indian character with which dwellers in Klamath are familiar) when it is considered that there are, or were until very recent times, some 58 distinct ethnic families of aborigines north of the Mexican line, whose language or dialects were entirely different, as different, for example, as that which exists between English and German.

The work of Thurlow Lieurance has therefore a lasting ethnological value as well as a permanent and unique place in the history of music. To see and to hear the man

CANADIAN P. O. NEAREST POLE

Craig Harbor, on Ellsmere Island, Only 850 Miles From That Point

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 11.—As the result of recent voyages of exploration in the north, Canada now claims the most northerly postoffice in the world, Craig Harbor on Ellsmere Island, only 850 miles from the pole. Another new postoffice in the northland is at Ponds Inlet, on Baffin Island. Both were established by the Canadian explorer, Captain Bernier, during the late tour of his schooner the Arctic.

An inspector and six men of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police are at Craig Harbor, where they have established a post, while four representatives of the famous police corps represent law and order at Ponds Inlet. Sergeant Joy of the "Mounties" has been in the district a year investigating an Eskimo murder.

The Bernier expedition was sent for the purpose of taking first steps in an extensive program calculated to maintain efficiently Canada's sovereignty in the vast northern region, known to be rich in mineral deposits. The vessel carried materials for the construction of houses and provisions for the maintenance of posts.

According to a statement issued by the Canadian department of the interior, it is the intention of the government to establish additional posts year by year, and to continue scientific and exploratory work. A patrol ship will visit the new northern posts annually, taking in supplies and mail to the men left there. A representative of the air board accompanied the expedition and will report on the possibilities of aviation in the north, with particular reference to patrols, and exploratory and survey work.

who in one short life time has accomplished all of this is an opportunity not to be neglected.

The program on next Monday evening will be taken out of the usual performance of the concert stage by the singing by Mrs. Lieurance, in costume, of Indian songs and the compositions of Mr. Lieurance based upon Indian themes.

She appears in the beautiful costumes of different Indian tribes adapted to the themes sung.

Another very interesting feature of the entertainment will be the work of George Tack, a flute virtuoso. He has made a study of the wind instruments of the Indians, and will play upon several different types of flutes developed by the different Indian tribes.

The concert of Monday evening will offer an entertainment as unusual as it is rare and interesting. It will have all the educational value of a lecture; the emotional value of the drama and the charm of artistic music well sung and played.
