One Color for Complete Costume

To accompany evening gowns, beside the usual white and pink, there are shades of orange, American Beauty, etc. Lavender, blue and pink. Many sets are elaborately trimmed with light blue. Black underwear is shown as well as brown and navy blue for daytime wear with dark frocks. Knee-length bloomers are taking the place of those of noble length to make way for the recently returned petticoat of the tri costume suits.

PARIS. Lace hoodery with a twining vine pattern that ends in a bias tuff at the knee is the child of the moment. The stocking is, for example, almost green. The twining vine is embroidered in leaf and on each leaf or bud is the tiniest of green crystals.

LONDON—For the full blues and reds in which frocks of both day and evening wear are being made today, the ideal trimming is neither gold nor silver, but that elusive shade known as platinum. Berries and leaves of platinum are on these gowns to hold draperies or to emphasize panels.

LONDON—There is a decided return today to the fashions of pure white lingerie, linen being the favorite, rather than silk or crepe de chine. The practical as well as the dainty is demanded, the trimming being real Valenciennes with a bit of Turkish stitching, all in white.

Willamina—Oreg. n. Face Brick Co. turning out 20,000 brick daily. Prune drier capacity in Umpqua valley practically doubled during past year.

COMMANDER OWSELEY TAKES THE REINS

(By American Legion News Service) State and city officials of the American Legion with members of the national headquarters staff welcomed Alvin M. Owsley, newly elected legion national commander, to Indianapolis this week, where the Texas orator has assumed his duties as head of one million ex-service men.

Led by a color guard of marines, bearing the Stars and Stripes and the legion national headquarters banner, and the Eleventh infantry band, stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, a parade was formed from the Indianapolis union station, through the downtown streets to the national headquarters building.

One of the first acts of the national commander was to announce the appointment of Garland W. Powell of Cumberland, Maryland, as director of the league's national Americanism commission. Powell has been assistant director of Americanism during the last year. He was an aviator and fought in France.

The legion commander returned from New York, where he and Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant, bade farewell to the 23 foreign delegates who attended the recent International Veterans' association convention in New Orleans.

This international organization of world war fighters has the greatest possibilities in developing world peace," the commander stated. "The men who fought the war are the men who can keep the peace. Their recent convention at New Orleans marks an epoch in the history of efforts toward international peace."

Commander Owsley eulogized the splendid work of the American delegates to the International gathering, praised their stand against secret agreements and their assistance in drafting the eight points upon which the Association pins its hopes for world peace. The members of the American delegation were: L. R. Gignilliat, H. Nelson Jackson, Gilbert R. Bettman, Dan Hallenga and R. E. Condon.

A committee has been appointed by Captain Owsley from the members of the board of directors of the American Legion Weekly to investigate plans for the removal of the Weekly from New York to Indianapolis, which was authorized by the recent legion national convention.

Wig-Wag

Bilkens showed up with a set of hand-carved features that resembled the field after Chateau-Thierry.

"Pet's sake!" gasped a friend. "What happened to your face? Been in an accident?"

"Nope," returned Bilkens sadly. "A deaf and dumb barber shaved me, and he was feeling chatty"—American Legion Weekly.

One Out of Every Four New York Inhabitants Has Money in the Bank

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The popular idea that the term "New Yorker" is synonymous with prodigality in expenditures for unimportant things, extravagance in dress and style of living and outlay for bright light amusements, is refuted by some significant figures just compiled by the Merchants' association.

On July 1, 1922, the savings banks of New York held on deposit $2,969,779,824.85, representing accounts of 1,680,625 depositors or more than one out of every four of the entire population.

"These figures," said the statement, "are as significant relatively as positively. They prove that the habit of thrift among the wage earners in the city has grown enormously during the last 25 years."

In 1897 the books of the New York savings banks showed deposits to a total of $529,967,247.75. The actual deposits in that period have therefore multiplied almost four times. Within the same period the number of depositors has increased from 1,322,366 to the total as indicated above. It is true that the increase in numbers of accounts is not commensurate with the increase in population, but a significant fact appears in the per capita comparison. The depositors of 1897 showed an average savings account of $432.51 while the depositors of today show an average savings deposit of $1,231.55.

Those who analyze the significance of figures may draw various deductions of interest from these remarkable showings which are newly assembled, but any argument tending to show that New Yorkers in general are a wasteful lot would have some difficulty in maintaining itself unchallenged.

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

Many are taking advantage of the Evening Herald's Special Subscription offer.

Both to renew old subscriptions and start new ones. Why don't you?

During the month of November only we are offering The Evening Herald for one year at the reduced rate of:

- $5.00 a year, by carrier.
- $5.00 a year, by mail outside Klamath County.
- $4.00 a year, by mail in Klamath County.

The regular price of the Herald is $6.50 per year. City subscribers who pay by the month pay 65 cents each month, or $7.80 a year. Here is an opportunity to save from $1.50 to $2.80.

The special offer applies on new subscriptions and renewals alike; except in the case of the latter arrears up to November 1st must be paid.

The Herald is a better newspaper today than it was six months ago; and will continue to grow better during the next year, if proper support is accorded.

The Herald's guiding policy is the upbuilding of Klamath County, and the fostering of harmonious progress among its citizenry.

You could not make a holiday gift that would serve a more useful purpose, than the gift of a year's subscription of The Herald to some friend or relative outside Klamath County.

The cost of production is mounting in the newspaper field, and this low offer, made this year in conformance with long established custom, may never be renewed.

Take advantage of the opportunity while it lasts.

The offer is good for November only. On and after December 1st, the regular prices will be restored, without exception.

Make a Helpful Christmas Present

This is the season of gifts. If you have a friend or relative in some other part of the country, who you think would make a good citizen of Klamath, why not send him the paper for a year. It might attract him here. It has been done in numerous instances. We all know that Klamath county needs more settlers. You could not make an investment from your gift fund that would do a greater amount of good, or create more pleasure for the recipient of the gift.

A money saving proposition.

You can put at least $1.50 in your pocket if you will take advantage of this offer.

Why don't you do it?
