LARSEN SAYS HE WAS FORCED TO QUIT WORK

"Tanlae measures up, to everything claimed for it," declared James Larsen, a well-known painter and interior decorator, of 1028 28th St., Spokane, Wash.

"I had contracted lead poisoning in the course of my work, which caused all kinds of trouble with my stomach, and no one who hasn't been through it can possibly realize how a man suffers whose stomach is upset by lead poisoning. Time and time again I had to quit work on account of the terrible rippling pains and awful sickness in my stomach, and I couldn't begin to tell how much this cost me in time lost from work."

"Well, sir, Tanlae overcame this trouble completely and built me up in every way. I haven't lost a day from work since I started taking it, and look at me now, no one would think I ever had a sick day."

Tanlae is sold by all good druggists.—Adv.
