No one can feel more virtuous than a man who goes without a cigarette all Sunday morning because he ran out of them the night before says Bob Ryan.

Few girls are as bad as they are painted, or as "white" as they are powdered.

About the only thing that limits the cost of living in this country is the pay envelopes.

Mrs. Gush—"How did your husband get run over?" Mrs. Guss—"He was picking up a horseshoe for luck."

The fact is, the men had better quit devoting so much time to criticism of woman suffrage and devote more to planning how they're going to retain their seats in the smoking car.

The Eye of the Law First Officer—Did you get that fellow's number? Second Ditto—No, he was going too fast.

First—Say, that was a fine looking dame in the car. Second—Wasn't she?

We noticed a sign which read: "If you want to see our town go slow, if you want to see our jail let 'er go." We did not see any motorists letting 'er go in that burg.

The great banker lay on his deathbed. Many friends gathered about his bed. The attending physician whispered, "I fear he is nearing the Great Divide."

"Tell them not to divide till I get there," whispered the dying man.

The man that keeps good-natured, by misfortune undismayed, is the man that comes out winner when the final hand is played; there is e'en a certain triumph that compels respect complete in the way a real sportsman takes his dose of stern defeat.

Mrs. Brown: "I wish you had an open mind."

Brown (A Cleveland dealer)—"But you tell me to shut up every time I try to express it."

In marching out to dinner in fashionable Washington society it is proposed that the oldest couples shall take precedence. Here is where no woman is going to insist on her "seniority rights."

A lean man for a race, A fat man for a nap; A freckled girl to powder her face, And a red-haired girl for a scrap.

HAS A WOMAN RIGHT TO KILL SELF?

MRS. MAUD HIBBERT

BY MILTON BRONNER, News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Has a woman a right to commit suicide? Should she be sent to prison for attempting self-destruction?

The law says "No" to the first question and "Yes" to the second. But a score of the most distinguished persons in Great Britain protest the law is wrong.

The controversy, growing spectacular, revolves around Mrs. Maud Hibbert, survivor in a suicide pact with a man. After lying in jail six weeks awaiting trial on a charge of attempting suicide, she was convicted and sentenced to serve nine months in prison at hard labor.

Half of Mrs. Hibbert's sentence has gone, and petitions for clemency have been sent to the home secretary, urging that she was "led away by the man, has already suffered punishment, . . . and that such a punishment is not calculated to increase her respect for life nor set as a deterrent to others."

Drinkwater's View Says John Drinkwater, famous playwright, one of the signers of the petition:

"Before a woman reaches a frame of mind which leads to such an act she must have endured the greatest possible mental agony. To keep her in prison on top of that seems to me both cruel and futile."

Stephen McKenna, novelist, says: "I hold the view that anybody's life is the property of that particular person. If you wish to take your own life you ought to be allowed to do so. Suicide often is hard on one's family, but I don't think any department of the government has the right to keep people alive if they don't want to live."

Interest Is Widespread The case is attracting great attention because in some cases under the British law the survivor in a double suicide pact can be indicted for murder as well as for attempting suicide.

Petitioners for clemency for Mrs. Hibbert include Viscountess Rhonda, coal operator and suffragist; May Sinclair, novelist; Mrs. Winttingham, member of parliament; Miss Clemence Dane, playwright; George Bernard Shaw, John Massfield, G. K. Chesterton, Maurice Hewlett, Arnold Bennett, H. G. Wells, John Galsworthy, E. F. Benson, Sir Henry Newbolt and Bertran Russell.

SUICIDES HERE ON INCREASE

- By DR. HARRY W. WARREN, President, The Save-a-Life League. NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Suicides continue to increase. There were 12,144 officially reported last year; probably 20,000 including those not reported. Of these 8410 were men, 2734 were women. There were 1200 who, before killing themselves, murdered more than 2000 other people one man first having killed 10. In New York city there were 840 suicides. Germany leads the world, especially in child suicides. Berlin recorded as many as 11 suicides a day. London reports coal gas the "fashion" in suicide there. Many suicides in Paris were Americans. Budapest averaged 15 suicides a day, with 10,000 making unsuccessful attempts. In Russia entire families destroyed themselves by drowning. In one village 509 women burned themselves to death.

FOOD MAKING IS FIRST INDUSTRY

Iron and Steel Manufacturing Outstripped, U. S. Department Shows

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The popular conception that iron and steel industry is the largest single one in the country is declared by the agriculture department to be erroneous. The greatest industry is that of food manufacturing. It outstrips iron and steel, the department says, as four outstrips one.

As emphasizing the need of additional food control laws, the department calls attention to the great growth in recent times of food manufacturing in factories as against preparation in homes. A few years ago, it says, most food was prepared at home or nearby and since the consumer knew about the conditions of its preparation there was little need for food laws. Today, as so much food is produced and prepared a long way from those who consume it, some sort of government control is regarded by department officers as necessary.

The meat packing industry alone, the department declares represents a greater value than the steel industry. The total value of manufactured food products in 1919 was $13,381,914,000. Among the food products that make up the total, flour mill products stand next to packing house products.

Considering the size of the task the federal inspection of food is low, it was stated. The cost having been less than one-hundredth of 1 percent of the value of those products. That the job is a large one is shown by census figures noting that in 1919 there were 67,463 establishments engaged in the manufacture of food products, with an annual output values at the huge amount mentioned. These figures include manufactured goods only and do not take into account the great volume of commerce in raw foods such as milk, fresh fish, wheat, corn, oats, fruits and vegetables. To these large amounts must also be added the food products imported, which in 1921 amounted to $672,975,000.
