

An Ordinary Thanksgiving

BY HERTON BRADLEY

WE'RE thankful in a humdrum way. Without much chattering about it. That we've a hearty meal today. We wouldn't care to go without it: We're thankful for the sheltering roof Which humdrum labor keeps above us, And for the friends who've met the proof Of time and trouble, and who love us.

WE'RE thankful that we still find fun, Yes, fun that shakes the very rafter, In just the ordinary run Of simple jokes and hearty laughter. Our jokes may be a trifle trite, And captious critics might abhor them, But they give us a right delight. Such as they are, we're thankful for them!

WE'RE thankful that the family Again is gathered here together, Deep in our hearts we're glad to be Undoubtedly birds of a feather. We're thankful for our trials past, Which, maybe, made us stronger, truer; We're thankful that they didn't last, And hope, in future, they'll be fewer.

WE'RE thankful that our worldly lot Is not so bad, and that ambition Still stirs in us, so we are not Quite satisfied with our condition; We do not whine, we do not crow, But each before his heaping platter Give thanks, and hopes next year will show More reasons still for being grateful!

BE THANKFUL

WHAT are you thankful for this Thanksgiving Day? Wait a minute. It is a falling, characteristic of Americans, to attempt to express nearly everything in terms of money. Or, at least, in terms of prosperity.

Most of us have the notion that Thanksgiving Day as a national festival was born in much the same spirit—a gratitude for good fortune. To some extent, it was. The Pilgrim Fathers were thankful for crops that ensured them against starvation in the barren winter that lay ahead. But unquestionably their joy was not confined to food.

They thanked the Almighty for liberty in government, freedom of worship and the simple joys of happy homes.

So, this Thanksgiving Day, let us not be thankful merely in proportion to our prosperity, though times have greatly improved in the past year.

Let us remember and be thankful for these more important elements of life—our families, our health, our friends.

Many a home that is trying to make a small chicken serve as Thanksgiving feast for a half dozen hungry mouths has more of genuine love and happiness to be thankful for than some of the places where butlers serve giant turkeys on silver platters.

And if we are away from home, forced to dine at a public eating place among strangers, let us be thankful for the love of far-away home folks and friends.

Such is the real Thanksgiving spirit.

A WAY TO HELP

YOU want to see Klamath Falls grow, of course. The faster it grows, the greater your prosperity, and the lesser the sacrifices that, as pioneers, you are now making.

For instance, here is the city budget, just adopted by the council. The rate is four and a half mills higher than last year. This increase will raise $30,000, to create a reserve fund for bond redemption. The levy leaves virtually the same amount as last year for general operative expenses. It is not enough, as a matter of fact, and the incoming administration is going to have to skimp and finesse to get through the year.

But the $30,000 levy is good business. The grievous mistake of former administrations was their failure to levy and set aside any reserve to meet the accumulating bonded indebtedness. The first start toward a reserve was made last year.

That's neither here nor there, however. You don't want your city to get into financial difficulties, of course. Neither do you like to pay high taxes.

There's one way out. Increased population and consequently increased valuation. Theoretically, if Klamath Falls could double its population in the next two years it would split its tax-rate. Actually the increase in population would bring a demand for added conveniences and public improvements that would mean increased outlay. The tax rate would not decrease in ratio to the increase in population, but it would decrease materially.

There is nothing that attracts new residents to a community like prosperity and prosperity is largely a made at home product.

Every time that you send a dollar out of Klamath Falls you are reducing the prosperity of your home town, and that means your own prosperity.

If your home town merchants are prosperous, you will be prosperous. You are merely deluding yourself when you attempt to convince yourself that you get better bargains by patronizing the mail order house.

INDEPENDENT OBSERVER TO DISCUSS STATE POLITICS

The Herald today publishes the third of a series of observations on state politics by A. E. Koen, editor of the Polk County Observer. The peculiar political situation in Oregon is one in which the whole nation is interested. The people of Oregon need education in political affairs. Koen writes impartially and disinterestedly of political causes and effects as he sees them. The editor of the Herald, from personal perusal, finds the articles interesting, fair and informative. As long as they remain so they will continue to be a feature of the Herald's service to its readers.

Koen says it is his intention to give the real political news of the state "which is carefully suppressed by the Portland papers, merely giving the facts, and allowing people to draw their own conclusions." Here are a few flattering comments on the articles, as far as they have gone:

C. J. McIntosh, Department of Industrial Journalism, Oregon Agricultural College: "The candor and fairness with which you have maintained your position the honesty with which you have presented the case, has won my everlasting friendship. Frankly I think you are a God-send to your state and country. For sheer ability and fairness of presentation, so far as I have seen, these articles are in a class by themselves."

Hugh Hume, Portland Spectator: "It is a clever and shrewd presentation of the situation. I sincerely hope that you will find a wide market for this interesting and useful and fair consideration of the political condition of the state."

H. L. St. Clair, Gresham Outlook: "E. A. Koen, of the Polk County Observer, has given the political conditions of Oregon a great deal of study during the recent campaign, and has written several articles that show a careful analysis of the situation. The Outlook is fortunate in being able to give its readers an article from this writer in today's Outlook containing his after-election observations."

SPORTSMEN CONVENE

Reorganization meeting is held; Officers Elected

At a reorganization meeting of the Klamath Sportsmen's association in the chamber of commerce rooms last night Frank Evans was elected president, Nate Otterhelm secretary and Lloyd Porter secretary. Wm. McNealy was named delegate to the Western Association of Game Commissioners' convention, to be held at Sacramento next Monday and Tuesday, with J. J. Furber as alternate. The convention is regarded as important since the question of permitting game to be transported over the state line from California will be discussed. It is believed that action will be taken to have the law repealed, thus settling a controversy of long standing.

U. of Oregon Has 'Shiek' Frys Wicked Doughnut

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 28.—The University of Oregon has its 'Shiek,' and is proud of it. However said 'Shiek' didn't gain his popularity by winning the hearts of the fair co-eds. He gained it by his culinary art.

Oregon's 'Sinker Shiek,' sometimes known as Roland Arne of Portland, last year conceived the idea of earning his way through the university by frying doughnuts. Between January 1 and June 16 last year, Arne fried 60,000 doughnuts and sold them to University of Oregon students and other Eugene residents. He found the business so successful that he resumed it again this year when he returned to the university to continue his studies.
