score of 30 to 16. The first girls' class game was also held between the junior and freshmen classes, the freshmen winning 13 to 12.

The seniors upset all the dope when they held the juniors down in the first half and gained the lead by one point, the score being 13 to 12. In the last half they seemed unable to start their scoring machine, only making one point during the entire half, and failed to hold down the onslaught of the juniors who scored 13 points.

Frank Peyton and Charles Grove starred for the seniors. Peyton scored 11 points. Charles Grove scored the other 2 points and aided Peyton a great deal during the first half by keeping the ball in the senior's territory.

Star for Juniors

Vernon Moore, Clifford Hogue, and Pete Molschenbacher starred for the juniors. Moore played his usual stellar game, scoring 21 points by throwing 9 baskets and three fouls. In the two class games Moore has scored a total of 41 points. Hogue as guard was largely responsible for keeping the seniors' score down, allowing his man to score only one basket, while he chalked up four to his credit. Pete Molschenbacher scored the remaining two points of the juniors' score.

The sophomores, weakened by the loss of George Condry, who is ill, as forward, coupled with the playing of the "fresh," lost to the youngsters by a score of 30 to 16.

Strom, Delmar Robertson, and Frank Hall starred for the freshmen. Strom scored 22 points by throwing 10 baskets and by scoring two throws for fouls. This is the highest record so far of individual points in one game, in the two class games played, being one point ahead of Moore's record. Robertson and Hall each scored two baskets apiece and played good games throughout. Barnes and Corral also played a good game as guards.

Play Fine Game

Harry Molatore, Dale Soule and Jennings Washington starred for the sophs, playing a fine game throughout. Soule scored four points by throwing a basket and two points by throw for foul, besides playing an excellent game at guard. Washington scored two baskets and aided a great deal in breaking up the fresh attack. Molatore scored six points by throwing three baskets and played a good game as forward. Wilson scored the other two points by throwing a basket.

The freshmen girls barely won in the game with the junior girls' basketball game of the season. All the girls played fine as it was a new game to nearly all of the players, besides being played with little previous practice.

Dorothy Wortley, Emma Shinar, and Mae Crystal starred for the freshmen. Dorothy Wortley, as center, scored five points by throw for foul. Emma Shinar scored four points by throwing two baskets and Mae Crystal scored the other two by throwing a basket.

Gertrude Moore and Bertha Peltz starred for the juniors. Gertrude scored 8 points by throwing three baskets and scoring two points by throw for foul. Bertha Peltz scored four points by throwing two baskets.

To the Man Who Hoards His Money

There is plain justice in the statement which condemns a man who hoards his money as an undesirable citizen. He withholds it from circulation, robs himself of its earning capacity and stands before his fellow men branded as a miser.

Instead of hiding money away in disuse, it can be invested with absolute safety in a Time Deposit with the American National Bank, earning interest at the rate of 4%.
