

The Office Cat

BY JUNIOR

Wouldn't Stand For Trouble
 "Don't stop me," yelled Jimmie.
 But the man stopped him anyhow.
 "Why are you running?" the man asked.
 "I'm tryin' to keep two fellers from fightin'." Jimmie gasped.
 "What two fellers?"
 "Willie Brown and me."

Marching Along

"You carry a lot of complexion dope."

"We've got everybody fixed up on health," said the cheerful druggist. "Now we're supplying them with beauty."

C. R. Patterson says same with wifen as with automobiles; it's not the original cost, but the upkeep.

C. W. Miller says keep away from Chicago. The gland robbers are at work.

F. H. Downing says gloom and pessimism are a combination in restraint of trade.

Wm. Cheyne says don't over do a thing unless you want to do it over again.

Steve Stukel says after seeing American girl's legs Paris has put on long skirts.

"I'm giving a party for the anniversary of my divorce."
 "Which one, dear?"
 "I forget whether it's the second anniversary of my first or the first of my second!"

ONE ON MAUDE

Maude Muller, on a summers day, Watched the hired man rake the hay;
 She laughed and giggled in her glee
 When up his pants leg crawled a bee,
 Later the farm hand laughed in turn
 When a big grasshopper crawled up her'n.

Mistook His Mission

An old gentleman of eighty-four took to the altar a girl about fifteen. The minister looked at him a minute, then said:
 "The font is at the other end of the church."
 "What do I want with the font?" roared the old gentleman.
 "Oh, I beg your pardon. I thought you had brought the child to be baptized."

Blood Was Spilled in This Clash of Naked Steel

Two of the most famous swordsmen in Italy are shown here fighting with unguarded rapiers. The bout, ended when Safoone (left) received a thrust in the left shoulder. The winner was Aurelio Greco. Contestants in these bouts fence with bare arms and the swords are lowered as soon as blood is drawn.

WOMEN OF U. S. BEST ATHLETES

21 of 49 World's Records Held in America Records Show

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—American women athletes hold 21 of the 49 world's records recognized by the International Women's Sports Federation for track and field events, according to the official list issued recently in Paris and which has just reached athletic authorities here.

Besides marking the first time that so comprehensive a record of feminine performances has been put on the athletic books, the list reflects the rapid growth, especially in the last year, of women's activity in track and field sports. Twenty-nine of the records were established in 1922, a majority of these at the first women's Olympic meet, held in Paris last August and won by England with America second. Czechoslovakia ranks next to the United States in the number of individual and team record-holders, with ten. England has nine, France eight and Finland one. Listed separately by the federation are five world's records credited to German women athletes, three of which represent better performances than those recognized on the list which excludes Germany.

Three of the world's records on the federation's list, which included performances up to September 1, 1922, have since been broken by American stars in competition in this country, a fact which observers cite as proof of the rapidly developing attitude of feminine contestants in track and field sports.

Miss Camelia Sabie, of Newark, N. J., one of the stars of the American international team, broke two of the marks, lowering the 60-yard high hurdle standard from 9 to 8 4-5 seconds and setting a new distance of 8 feet 3 3-4 inches for the standing broad jump, as compared with the previous best mark of 2.56 metres (about 8 ft. 2 in.)

Miss Eleanor Churchill, of Exeter, N. H., accounted for the other new record by throwing the baseball 224 feet 2 1-4 inches as compared with the old mark of 66.57 metres (about 215 feet).

Analysis of the record list reveals the superiority of American girls in hurdle racing and jumping. Four of the five hurdle records and five of six marks for broad and high jumps, pole vaulting and hop, step and jump are held by representatives of the United States. England and France hold a majority of records for relays and distance running while Czechoslovakia, in Milie. B. Mejlikova, possesses a holder of four sprint records.

Because most of the events have been adapted to feminine competition few of the performances can be compared with those made by men. The women's standard for the 100-yard dash is 11 2-5 seconds while the best time for men is 9 3-5 seconds. In the high jump, the women's record of 1.46 metres (about 4 ft. 9 in.) is nearly two feet less than the man's record of 6 feet, 7 5-16 inches.

ATHLETES NOW TURN TO INDOOR SPORTS

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 5.—Football has been laid at rest for another year at the University of California here, the athletes are now turning to basketball and more than seventy-five are out practicing for the coming Pacific coast conference season. The turnout is the largest pre-season showing ever made here.

Seven veterans of the 1922 basketball team are back and Coach Earl Wight has no easy task picking his varsity squad. With such a large squad to pick from California's prospects are good.

Last year California took third place in the conference race.
