citiven-in their campaign to eliminato from the news stands the socalled "spicy" magazines. The term itself is a misnomer, for the spice of life does not lie in suggestive-pess and recking prurience. The real spice of living, the true loy, come from the clouds and not from the gutter. But the term identifies the class of modern periodicals that we are discussing as well as any available.

If we identified them further, in language that actually describes fice? them, the result would probbaly be the barring of The Herald from the mails.

And, by the way, the mails are closed to most of the putrid stuff first steps to stop the fetid flow, which is constantly increasing in volume, might be an appeal to the interstate commerce commission for ruling to prohibit the transportation of indecent reading matter by any carrier.

But as the district attorney of Multnomah county advised the Parent-Teachens in their campaign. perhaps more good can be accomplished by co-operation with the news dealers than by immediate prosecutions.

We verily believe that few of the news ver dors know the poisonous nature of the stuff they are handing out. They have no time to read all gragazines. Most of them handle' the magazines that there is a demand for, and un- his home for the past year or more. fortunately there seemes to be the same sort of demand for the spicy magazine that there is for bootleg

This action was taken after a long and hittor debate, several members of the association contending that the hill provided means of eliminating the destruction of migratory hirds. A. C. Jakwaya, game warden of Montana, a member of the resolurions committee, brought in a minprity report favoring the proposed act.

Need Not Seen

It was held in the resolution that Hill of Helena, Mont., secretaryhere was "no ervise need for onblic shooting grounds or bird refores. n the northwest," and that the situation was apparently not "apl to be acute for the most ten years and when the recently arises the western states will be expable of taking care of it." Incidentally a slap was taken in the resolution at the American Game Protective association and the Call-

The Herald has never advocated with more heartfelt earnestness or sincere desire not to be misunder stood, any movement than this movement started by the Portland Parent-Teacher association. The clean-up should not be confined to and nation-wide.

The well-springs of life are con-taminated, and society is suffer ing untold harm from this source. We submit as our share in Nato their unfolding to their fullest flower of development.
