WE ARE LUCKY

INADEQUATE protection, trusting to luck, and the inevitable consequence—a mass of rains covers an area that a few days since was the thriving business heart of the city of Astoria.

Astoria will rise again. Her citizens are already at work, drawing on cash reserves and arranging credit for rebuilding.

Klamath Falls has cause for congratulation that the misfortune that has overtaken her sister town is not her own.

But that danger has been reduced by recent wise expenditures for adequate fire apparatus, a fire alarm system and "mains" carrying ample water pressure.

Naturalistic protection costs money; but it does not cost over much. The increase in water and tax rates is largely balanced by a decreased insurance rate.

But if there were not a dollar saved of the annual $25,000 that the added protection costs, it would take 500 years for it to accumulate, the value of the property that was destroyed in a few hours in Astoria last Friday morning.

JOHN WANAMAKER

THEY called him a merchant prince—and he was a prince in the original sense of the term, before it became merely a title conferred by accident of birth, when it meant a leader of men.

He differed from the majority of us in that he took the talent that God gave him, and invested and enlarged it, always with the purpose in mind that his success should serve his fellow men.

You who say that opportunity is unequal in America, that we must tear down the glorious structure so carefully and painfully created by our forefathers and erect in its place a nightmare edifice of intolerance and class hatred, consider the career that was closed when death claimed John Wanamaker.

TOM SIMS SAYS

Oh, what are the cold waves saying? Oh, they say, "Where's the coal?"

What is worse than having somebody give you the mumps for Christmas?

When in Rome some of the Fascists are doing as the Roman candles do.

Hell hath no fury like a woman when you track mud in her house.

Princeton has a water shortage. She won so many football games it may have been used as chasers.

Some day a farmer will equip his hogs with radio so he won't have to yell his head off calling them.

A New Jersey man wrote his will on a butcher's order book. It is thought he was going to price a steak.

In this age of freedom a woman who lives in Owosso, Mich., is suing both her husbands for divorce.

What will you girls give him for Christmas? A silk muffler hanging around his neck will remind him of you.

Umbrellas make good gifts because you have a chance to get them back.

Six tons of cranberries were burned in a New York fire. Cooking steadily it would take 100 bridges two weeks to burn this many.

That makes a good gift for a wife because you must buy her one anyway.

Just a short time and we will be writing 1922 by mistake and scratching it out to write 1923.

An electric iron is a swell gift for your wife and besides it will keep her feet warm at night.

London reports say Harry Gardner is 98 and growing a third set of teeth but they may be false.

Paris offers 180,000 francs for plans for moving sidewalk. Our suggestion is drink hard cider.

William Kempf escaped from the Brooklyn (Conn.) jail twice and if you think this is easy just try it.

Detroit woman says she stabbed her husband to keep him at home. Tear this up before your wife sees it.

Stockings are good gifts but gloves are better because then you can see what you got for your money.

African prospectors who thought they had a coal mine were disappointed to find it was only diamonds.

The Turks want to trade with us. We could sell them Turkish cigars, Turkish towels and Turkish baths.

I've a neighbor from a country overseas; His skin is of a slightly darker dye;

His language has a foreign sound to me, So I watch him with a most suspicious eye.

He minds his business carefully; he never gives offense; His manners are impeccable—and yet it's all pretense.

I am sure he plots my downfall with a deep and dark design; You see, he must be wicked—since his customs are not mine!

There's a country on the other side the world, An empire vast with boundaries flung wide;

On every sea her banners are unfurled; Her commerce circles home on every tide.

She pretends to be unselfish; but we know it's all deceit; She's a hungry jackal stalking close her unsuspecting meat.

She will dare the basest treachery to win her money's worth— For you know that we're the only honest nation on the earth!

Personal Mention

T. H. Benton is in the city for a few days from Bray, California.

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Puckett left today for Portland where they will enjoy a short vacation visit.

Rollin P. Rodolph is in town for a few days looking after business matters. His headquarters are in San Francisco, but for the past month Rodolph has been occupied with business affairs at Chilgoquin and Kirk.

F. P. Keen, who has been in charge of pine beetle control work in Klamath county for the past year, left the first of the week for Berkeley, California, where he has a few weeks work.

From Berkeley Keen will go to his home in San Diego for a two weeks vacation and from there he will go to Washington, D. C. as the western representative of the bureau of entomology, returning here about March 1.

ASSESSMENTS UNPAID

Property in Hot Springs Addition May Be Sold By City

Unless certain property owners in the Eldorado and Melrose pavered units in Hot Springs addition make application for paying under the 10-year payment plan, or pay the assessments in full, their property will be sold under foreclosure by the city.

This was determined at the city council meeting last night when it was found that a fund of $13,000 is on hand to pay the paving costs in that district, the contract price of which was $15,000. The shortage was caused by failure of a number of property owners to sign up under the 10-year plan. The paving is in and the city may be forced to sell the property to meet the costs.

It was voted to advertise for bids for 1,300 feet of new fire hose, bids to be opened December 26.

Permit Applications H. E. Callam, repairs to building at Sixth and Klamath; referred to fire chief with power to act.

J. S. Lageson, of Klamath Falls Heating and Plumbing company, to erect wooden sign over place of business at Fourth and Pine; referred to street committee. B. W. Johnson, to erect five-room dwelling on lot 7, block 6, Ewanna heights, to cost $2,000; granted.

JORDAN SUGGESTS JOINT COMMISSION FOR AMERICA, JAPAN

TOKIO, Dec. 13.—Discussing relations between Japan and America before the college of commerce of the imperial university Dr. David Starr Jordan, President Emeritus of Leland Stanford university, approved the plan suggested by Viscount Shibusawa for the appointment of a joint commission to discuss the matters.

"Such a commission could not settle the points at issue which must go to the courts but it would serve to dispel misunderstandings on both sides, a matter of the highest importance," he said.

"The Washington conference was a great triumph of common sense and common decency. Its main achievement was to prick the monstrous and dangerous bubble of war-scare assiduously inflated by evil-minded men on both sides of the Pacific.

"Japan and America will be neighbors for the next thousand years, and it is good business as well as good morals to be neighborly."

BACK FROM HEARING

M. S. West Gains Impression Western Interests Behind S. P.

M. S. West, president of the Klamath county chamber of commerce, is back from Washington, where he represented the chamber at the railway unemmerger hearing.

West was in attendance on the hearing 10 days. He was forced to leave before the Union Pacific side was presented, but his impression of the inquiry was that business interests of the west were behind the Southern Pacific, for reasons of economy and service.

The Klamath country, the Natron cutoff and the Modoc Northern entered frequently into the discussion. Southern Pacific officials assured West that the policy of the railway was development of the territory it serves, and that a survey will be made along the Modoc Northern right of way and if tonnage, even potential tonnage that might be developed by construction, enough is apparent the construction of at least part of the road will follow.

THREE GIVEN FINES

Men Held for Liquor Violations Appear in Justice Court

Charged with having liquor in their possession John Kollas and Peter Quijillo were fined, $50 each, and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence, and Ole Carlson was fined $100 and given a 30-day suspended sentence in the justice court yesterday.

The heavier fine was given Carlson due to the fact that he is believed to own the house in which the liquor and two men were found when the police made the raid, over a week ago.

Quijillos was able to pay the greater part of his $50 fine and was released today. His companions were unable to pay their fines and are held in jail.
