CHECK FORGER GETS 3 YEARS IN STATE PEN

Gambling Started Downfall Patrick Bishop, 22; Lewis Trial Is Begun

Patrick Bishop, 22, arrested in San Francisco and brought here to answer to the charge of passing bad checks, was arraigned in circuit court yesterday afternoon and entered a plea of guilty. He was sentenced to a term of three years in the state penitentiary by Judge A. L. Leavitt.

Bishop was represented by F. H. Mills, who had been appointed by the court to defend him. The attorney made a short plea for leniency in behalf of his client on the grounds that he was young and had gotten into the wrong sort of company upon his arrival in Klamath Falls. His downfall was started when gambling became a pastime and debts incurred in this sport led to his passing first one bad check and then another. Sheriff Low left this morning with the prisoner for Salem where he will begin serving his three year term.

Lewis Trial Begun
Trial of Ted Lewis, arrested December 2 in a local pool hall on a liquor charge, was begun in the circuit court this morning. Refusing the aid of an attorney, Lewis was attempting to conduct his own defense.

Following is the list of jurors serving in the Lewis case: Charles Latta, J., O. Swindler, Thomas J. Jackson, Mrs. Gertrude Moore, Earl Arant, J. L. Gordon, Roy Call, Lloyd Redfield, J. J. Keller, Everett Hardenbrook, Albert C. Brunell, and Lewis Stiles.

The complaint was filed on information of felony and as there was not evidence enough to justify holding Scott over to the grand jury the case was dismissed.

The Thermograph thermometer registered maximum and minimum temperatures today as follows:

BOOTH MAKES REPLY

Charges Voiced During Election Answered By Highway Chairman

PORTLAND, Dec. 14.—Members of the Oregon state highway commission intend to resign, effective any time within three months, and will do everything possible to aid the incoming administration, said H. A. Booth, chairman, addressing the county judges and commissioners meeting here today.

Booth made a detailed answer to charges voiced during the recent campaign.

Answering the charge that Washington had made a better showing in road work, he declared that Oregon had built more miles of roads at less cost than the neighboring state.

The highway commission today approved a plan to obtain legislators consent to constructing commercial street in Astoria as a part of the Columbia highway, and would see the quarter-mile levy originally appropriated for road work, which was later diverted to the children's home. The work is expected to cost $100,000.

Engineer Nunn went to Astoria this afternoon. Judge Harvey E. Cross, of Oregon City, was elected president of the county judges and commissioners today. Commissioner Charles Ruden, Portland, was made vice president and Judge H. L. Hasbrouck of Hood River was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

EDWARDS PLEA LOST

Boiling Promoter Convicted on Bootlegging Must Serve Term

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 14.—The supreme court today affirmed Judge Calkins in the Jackson county case, state vs. James (Shine) Edwards, appellant. Appeal from conviction for violation of the prohibition law.

MEDFORD, Dec. 14.—This is one of the so-called bootlegging cases, and resulted in two trials, in the circuit court, the jury disagreeing in the first, and convicting in the second trial, and clearing from the records the last of the actions arising from a series of liquor raids. The others have served their sentences, been acquitted, or called by death.

Edwards was the operator of a taxi in this city, and was arrested on evidence collected by a detective, "Dad" Gates. The trial aroused high feeling and was hard fought. Edwards was sentenced to serve three months in the county jail, and pay a fine of $100. He is at liberty on $1000 bonds.

The defendant is now residing at Wood, Calif., where he promoted several boxing contests, and as soon as the mandate is received from Salem, Edwards will be taken into custody by the sheriff.

FINANCIAL AID FOR FARMER IS ASKED OF U. S.

Spokesmen of Agricultural Interests Appear in Credit Hearing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Spokesmen for the federal government and agricultural interests of the country, appearing today in the senate's hearing on rural credits, recommended that congress do something to relieve the farmers' financial condition.

Senator McNary today introduced a bill to extend for one year, until June 30, 1924, the power of the war finance corporation to make farm and live stock loans, also to extend until January 31, 1927 the authority of the corporation to issue notes and bonds.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—President Harding in a letter read today at the opening session of the national council of farmers' cooperative marketing associations, declared his belief in the single movement that promises more help towards present relief and permanent betterment of agricultural conditions than cooperative organization of farmers to market their products.

The program for the meeting includes a complete review of cooperative marketing including cotton, tobacco, fruit, grains, dairy and other farm products.

Fashion Show Doooms Flapper

Short Hair and Short Skirts Meet With Scant Favor; Prim Quakeress Gets Storm of Applause

LAUSANNE, Dec. 14.—Short hair and short skirts won little favor in the fashion conference which Paul Poiret, the Paris artist conducted at the Grand theatre for the fashionable models gathered in Lausanne for the Near Eastern conference.

Ten Parisian mannikins displayed more than 100 costumes before the exclusive audience, which registered its approval by loud applause, or was deathly silent when a mannikin moved across the stage in a costume which did not meet the fancy of the audience.

Girls Count More
It soon became apparent that the girls counted more than the costumes. It was difficult for a short-haired girl to call forth much applause from the young diplomats who constituted a greater part of the main section of the audience.

There were mannikins with powdered hair which was curled, and bobbed hair which was plastered down straight. There were both blonde and brunettes with short hair, but they attracted little attention.

All eyes were on the girls with long hair, regardless whether it was red, golden or black. They got all the applause. And the more modest and demure the mannikin was, the greater her popularity with the spectators.

Snaappy Flapper in Discard

The snappy flapper was clearly in the discard, in the opinion of the international crowd gathered at Lausanne, and the willowey girl in excessively long skirts and with plaited dressed hair was in favor. The prime favorite among the mannikins was a gray eyed little Quakeress, with brown hair parted in the middle, and simply dressed. Her suits and gowns were all gray or blue, and whenever she appeared on the stage the applause was deafening, while the more flashy mannikins, walking with great affectation and dressed in conspicuous red and yellow gowns, were greeted with little enthusiasm.

EARRINGS FOR BOYS IS LATEST FASHION

Emancipation From Conventional Garb Sought by High School Students Who Want More Latitude in Dress

Fashion note: Earrings will be worn by high school boys one day each year hereafter.

That fashion note set the mode at the local high school yesterday and brought frowns to the foreheads of the instructors and giggles among the fair sex when the boys appeared wearing earrings.

This was no boyish prank, it appears. It was an "stunt" staged for the sole purpose of getting a laugh, or for distracting students' minds from studies. Not at all. It was an expression of a growing desire for emancipation from conventional boy garb, a desire born of countless years of observing girls array themselves in the prevailing fashions of the day while the boys wore the same old duds, year in and year out.

That, at least, is the statement of one student. Here's what he said: "Wearing Ears is now a fixed annual institution. On one day of each year hereafter we will take this means to express our desire for more latitude in dress. Take girls, now. Look how they doll up. Suppose we did that. Wouldn't there be a howl go up?"

"On the other hand, why shouldn't we have the same privileges as girls. Our forefathers could dress in lace and ruffles, and nothing said. But if we even appear in peon pants—just a slight departure from the conventional—look what happens.

"Of course we don't expect to win out in a day, but look how long it took for the suffragettes to win. Once a year we are going to irritate our elders and the flappers with earrings, and until we win our point we will continue the good work.

"Buy suffrage, is our motto. Watch our smoke!"

HIGH SCHOOL FIVE WINS CLOSE GAME FROM SACRED HEART

Final Score 15 to 12; Girls Win Easy Victory Over Seniors Juniors Beat Sophomores

Squad No. C of the high school barely escaped with a victory last night over the Sacred Heart academy team, in its first basketball game of the season. The final score was 15 to 12. In the girls' class games the sophomores had an easy victory over the seniors, winning 12 to 0, and the juniors defeated the freshmen 12 to 5, making three victories and no defeats.

The fight put up by the academy boys, who made no substitutions during the game, was considered highly commendable. The score at the end of the first half was 6 to 6 in the academy's favor. At the start of the second half they started their scoring again and it looked like an easy victory for them until Arthur Peck and Herbert Landis, substituting for two other high school players, started a combination that soon ran the high school's score high enough to enable them to win.

Four of the academy boys in the team are in high school while the other is in the eighth grade. Four boys who are in high school have all played before but have practiced very little this year. The other boy, who is in the eighth grade, has never played any basketball prior to this year. George Connors and Archie Marshall starred for the academy. George Connors scored three baskets and Archie Marshall scored one basket. They both played excellent games throughout. Cecil Matt and Alex Benson both scored a basket. Arthur Peck starred for the high school, although he substituted for another player in the last of the second half. He scored 10 points by throwing five baskets, in quick succession. Herbert Landis and Roland Cofer each scored a basket and Landis threw one foul.

Although the high school made frequent substitutions, out of all the men that played only two had ever had any experience prior to this year, which accounted largely for their poor passing and shooting.

In the sophomore-senior game the sophomores had it all their way, scoring four points in the first half and eight points in the last half. Gertrude Smith, Frances Reed, and Mary Whiteline starred for the sophomores. Mary Whiteline's playing at guard was a feature of the game, being greatly responsible for not allowing the seniors to score. Gertrude Smith threw three baskets and Frances Reed threw two baskets. Anna Michaelson scored the remaining basket.

In the junior-freshmen game the juniors had very little trouble in winning although the freshmen held the juniors down to four points in the last half.

Bonnie Lucas, and Gertrude Moore starred for the juniors showing good team work as forwards and very good ability at shooting baskets. There were no outstanding stars on the freshmen team.

I. C. C. HEARING ON EXTENSIONS PLEA JAN. 15TH.

Oregon's Application For Rail Development to Be Heard at Portland

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—January 15 has been named as the date and Portland the place for the hearing of the Oregon public service commission's application for action by the interstate commerce commission for construction of new railroad lines in Eastern Oregon.

This application is under provision of the transportation act, giving authority for construction of extensions when required by public convenience and necessity. It is directed to the Central Pacific, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific systems, all of which are involved in the proposed program of extensions from Crane, Bend, Kirk and Lakeview, so as to give through connections under common user privilege.

Examiner Jewel Assigned

Examiner Jewel has been assigned to conduct the hearing. Charles Moran, president of the Nevada, California & Oregon railway, has advised the commission that he believes the extension of his line northward from Lakeview is the most practical, and intends to build as soon as circumstances permit. He has asked to participate in the hearing.

The Oregon Public Service commission's application for additional railway lines in Central Oregon was prepared by H. H. Corey, representative on the commission from Eastern Oregon. Corey petitioned the national commission to order the railroads to complete lines connecting up unfinished lines in the interior of the state.

Extensions Sought

The lines asked were the Natron cut-off, extension of the Union Pacific from Crane to Odell on the Natron line, extension of the line from Bend to Odell and connection of Lakeview either to the Crane-Odell line or to Klamath Falls.

This construction would amount to several hundred miles of track and is estimated by railroad men to necessitate an investment of approximately $19,000,000.

NIMRODS STAY HOME

Poor Attendance at Association Meet Brings Postponement

The meeting of the Klamath Sportsmen's association last night was very poorly attended, and this fact was a matter of disappointment to those interested in hunting and fishing in Klamath county. Several questions of vital importance were to have been taken up, but on account of the lack of attendance it was thought necessary to defer discussion until the next regular meeting, the second Monday in January.

Representative-elect Ezell was present, and the matter of securing a member from this county on the state game commission was one of the questions that was to have come before the meeting, as well as the report of the representatives recently sent to the meeting of the Western association of Game Commissioners.

"There are several other matters coming up to which the sportsmen of this vicinity must give their attention immediately, if they don't want to be left 'holding the sack,'" said an officer of the association. "One of these is the tentative proposal of placing Tule lake region in the game refuge contemplated under the federal migratory bird bill before congress.

"The sportsmen of Klamath county can do a great deal to help themselves in these various questions if they will get together and go to work, but if they continue in their present state of lethargy they will wake up some fine morning to find that they have nothing left but their shoe strings, and they won't have much use for those."
