

SOCIETY

The Christmas spirit has invaded the society world and plans for December 25, with all the work and pleasure they entail, are taking the place of other activities. A few dinner parties were held here this week, but aside from these few things there have been few social affairs. The Library club met on Friday for a particularly interesting afternoon, but the card clubs for the most part have been postponed until various dates in January.

Word was received here this week of the marriage of Andy McGee to Miss Alice Reid at Jacksonville, Saturday of last week. Both young people are residents of Ashland. McGee however spent some time in Klamath Falls and has many friends and acquaintances here.

A charming affair of the week was the party given by Mrs. Louis Gerber honoring Mrs. W. E. Winward, who is leaving soon for Eugene to visit with her son, Howard. From there she will accompany Mr. Winward east for the winter. A most enjoyable afternoon was passed by the ladies who were asked to bid Mrs. Winward farewell. Five hundred was played until late in the afternoon and a luncheon was served by the hostess. Following are the guests: Madames Fred Fluet, Silas Oberchais, L. F. Willis, L. L. Truist, A. M. Worden, John Sargent, W. W. Finley, Mary Drew, W. D. Campbell, George H. Merryman, Sarah Gowen and the guest of honor.

The wedding late Thursday afternoon of Miss Ruth Elisabeth Dixon to Clyde K. Davis came as a surprise to the many young friends of the two in Klamath county. Mrs. Davis is the daughter of Roadmaster J. R. Dixon and has been raised in Klamath county. Mr. Davis is employed by the Standard Oil company at Chiloquin and has made Klamath Falls his home for the past two or three years, coming here from the University of Oregon at Eugene.

On Wednesday evening the Moosehead Legion held a public installation in the Moose Hall. A banquet and reception were in progress until a late hour after the business of the evening was over. The following officers were installed: Etta Soule, past senior regent; Ivy Propert, senior regent; Clara Setzer, junior regent; Fannie Thompson, recorder; Nellie Lescumb, treasurer; Marjorie Hunsaker, guide; Eva Richardson, assistant guide; Marjorie Chamberline, secretary; and Lillie Nyhart, arguer.

A delightful holiday party was given for the Happy Hour Needle Work club at the home of Mrs. E. Jones, Tuesday afternoon. The house was decorated in evergreens and red and white Christmas favors were presented to each guest by the hostess. Late in the afternoon a two course luncheon was served to the following members of the club: Madames R. A. Emmitt, W. P. Johnson, W. Tompler, William Steinmetz, S. Summers, B. J. Sheets, Ed Lawrence, Jennie Hahn and George Humphrey. Mrs. Frank Hamblet was the only guest of the club.

A dinner of social interest this week was that given by Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Hall, honoring Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Mortenson, who are leaving early in January for Europe. The table was charmingly decorated with a Christmas centerpiece of red candles, holly and cedar. The room was decorated in accordance with the table and a general holiday spirit prevailed over the dinner at the Hotel Hall. After dinner cards were played by the hostess and their guests. Covers were laid for the following: Mr. and Mrs. Mortenson, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Pike, Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Johnson, Mrs. Fred Schallack, Miss Marie McMillan, H. E. Barry and the hostess.

With the coming of the holidays many young people will arrive here from school to visit with their families until the first of the year. Lucile Harlan, Constance Schallack and the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Goldthwaite will arrive here the latter part of the week from Miss Head's in San Francisco. Miss Ellen McLaughlin is expected home soon from the University of Oregon at Eugene and Miss Frances Humphrey, Martin Ramsby, Paul Keller, and several other young folk will come in from the Oregon Agricultural college.

Thursday evening Miss Thelma Grizzle and Howard Swift were hosts for a number of their young friends, the occasion being their fourteenth birthday. The party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Ortner. Games were played throughout the evening and dainty refreshments were served. Present were: Rivira Call, Wesley Patterson, Zepha Rogers, Donald Harlan, Lorin Osborne, Gilbert Fleet, Esther Veatch, Margaret Cummings, Faith Grimes, Lois Weedon, Basil Brown, Kenneth Collman, Faye Grizzle and Ailsa Massey.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion will meet next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the basement of the Main street courthouse. This is a particularly important meeting as officers for the coming year will be elected.

Personal Mention

N. J. Whitney was in town yesterday from Merrill transacting business with local merchants.

Harry Whitline was an early morning visitor today from his ranch on the lower Klamath river.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Davis left this morning for Portland where they expect to pass their honeymoon.

Lester Boggs was in town from his ranch near Lorella yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Steve Sabo is in town for a few days from Chiloquin attending to her Christmas shopping.

Lyle Hemelwright, who has been in the Keno district on business for the past week, is in town today.

Albert Flasil, of Malin, was in town yesterday attending to business matters.

Miss Wanda Moss, of Malin, left from here yesterday morning for Portland where she will spend the holidays with friends.

A marriage license was issued yesterday afternoon to Axel Hakanson and Miss Lydia Olson, both of this city.

Bernard Hackland is confined to his home with illness today. Hackland is employed at the First National bank.

Mrs. L. C. Sisemore and Mrs. Emmitt Sisemore are spending the week end in town from their ranch homes near Fort Klamath.

Martin Ramsby arrived home last night from Corvallis to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Ramsby of this city.

Paul Keller is expected home tonight from Corvallis where he has been attending college. He will be here about two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Keller.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Larson and two children will leave in the morning for Portland where they will spend the holidays with Larson's parents.

Miss Mollie Stewart was a passenger on the morning train bound for Chicago where she will make an extended visit with friends and relatives.

T. L. Snook returned last night from Portland where he was called to testify in the Clayton Kirk case which came up in federal court this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Call and children will leave in their car tomorrow morning for California. They expect to be in Los Angeles for Christmas and after that to visit in a number of southern cities before returning home.

William M. Duncan, city attorney, returned last night from Portland where he argued in behalf of the city of Klamath Falls against Biederback, who is attempting to hold the city responsible for loss in the Houston hotel fire.

Frank Sexton was in Keno yesterday for the purpose of attending the Keno zone meeting. The meeting took the form of an institute and was an unusually interesting one, according to Sexton, who spoke on club work in the schools. Mrs. Twyla Ferguson was also in attendance as was Miss Lydia Fricke.

Riley Loomis, aged 18, was issued a license yesterday to marry Miss Addie Lee Bowen, 17. Loomis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Loomis, well known residents of this city and Miss Bowen is the daughter of Mrs. Clara Bowen of this city. The consent of the parents were necessary before the license could be granted.

Advice on Skirt Length

Street dresses are shown with skirts from two to ten inches from the ground, the average about seven inches. Sports wear has skirts from six to 12 inches from the tennis court—with the average about nine. Evening gowns escape the ballroom floor by one to seven inches.

Paris—A clever idea seen here today is that of the black crepe gown with a few flowers painted upon it by hand. There are usually not more than three or four of these flowers, effectively placed to each gown. But the flowers are as large as a head of lettuce and extremely brilliant.

Paris—The newest notion today is to have the earrings match a cabochon set in the exact center of the front of the hat. The hat is built along Egyptian lines with flaring satin wings over the ears. The effect of cabochon and big ear ornaments is very Egyptian indeed.

London—When the décolletage is cut extremely low under the arms, as is frequently done now, a high point is often left directly in front. This point has no visible means of support, being held in place by adhesive tape. Sometimes two jeweled bands cross at the top of the décolletage and cross at the neck in sort of a collar.

New York—Ribbon trimming, forecast for even more extensive use in the spring, is already widely employed on smart frocks. A little afternoon dress of dark blue taffeta, shown by a Fifth Avenue shop today, has eight rows of very narrow ribbon placed horizontally around the edge of the skirt. Each ribbon is of a different shade, and rimmed with gold.

London—Sleeveless jackets of fur are used on warmish days this winter with woolly street costumes. The jacket buttons high around the neck and crosses over to fasten on the hip, where it ends abruptly. The armholes are cut very wide. A caracul jacket of this sort is stunning with a beige velvet gown.

Stationery. The price acceptable. We have a nice line priced from 30c to $6.00. Carlin's For Drugs. 15

Morning Wear

The fashionable New York costume for formal morning wear at present is made up of either a short coat with a frock or three-piece suit and much broadtail and marcel is used for both. With these, black satin hats are worn. All-over braiding in hats and dresses is very good. Plain strap pumps are worn with or without buckles and colonial pumps are seen everywhere.

Costume Slip

The costume slip of heavy satin or silk crepe is being designed for wear with the new overblouses. It combines a brassiere with, not a petticoat, but an outside skirt. Since all proper blouses have their tight waistbands around the hips the costume slip must be made to match. Slips are made in all suit shades and may have either plain or accordian-pleated skirts.
