HE'S HUSTLING

THE ghost of Banquo will not down. The turn down the voters gave the state fall bill has not quenched the political aspiration of Mayor George Baker of Portland, who, an exchange tells us is being consistently groomed for United States senator and that the grooming is to be a continuous process from now on, with some of the most adroit politicians in Portland employed as hostlers in the "big feller's" stable.

It is said George is to be galloped around the political race course frequently enough to keep him limbered up, and coached carefully against blunders. A trip to Washington, D. C., is to be arranged, it is understood, to give the Portland mayor a chance to be seen and heard by the celebrities of the nation and at the same time bolster him up in his home state.

Some of the fraternal societies with which the mayor is prominently connected, it is said, are backing him and also he hopes to play into the graces of some of the elements that claim credit for the election of Walter M. Pierce to the governorship.

THE DAY OF DAYS

MANY years ago a little girl wrote to the New York Sun: "Is there a Santa Claus?" Francis Pharcellus Church answered her letter in an editorial which is a Christmas gem and which shines ever brighter with the flight of time:

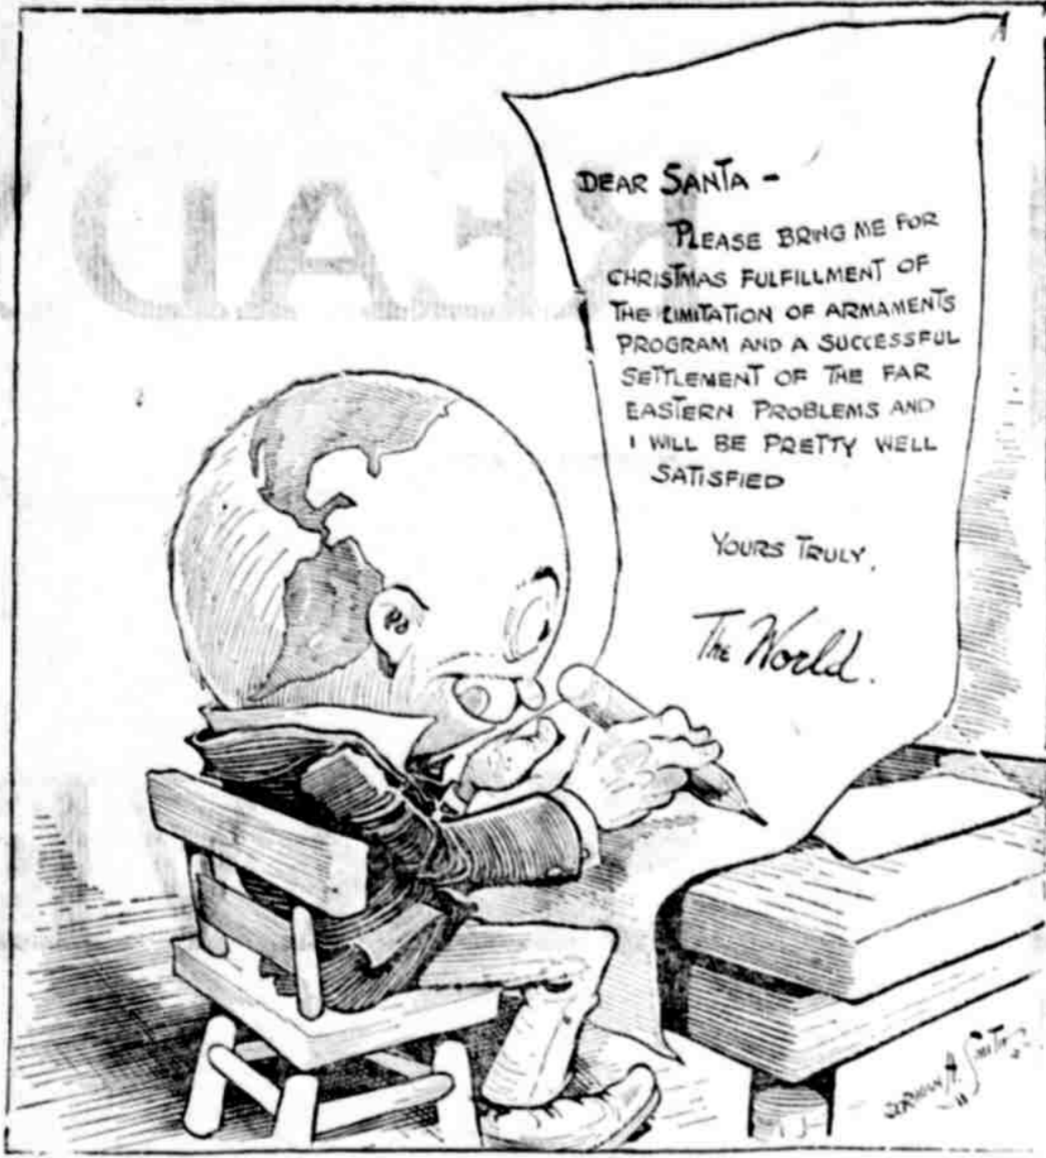

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist. And you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childish faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. Nobody sees Santa Claus. But that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men see. You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man nor yet the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived could tear apart. Only faith, poetry, love, romance can push aside that curtain and view gush beyond. It is all real! Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else so real as abiding. "No Santa Claus" Thank God, he lives and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia—may, ten times ten thousand years from now—he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

Christmas is more than a date on the calendar or a season of the year. It is a spirit—of giving, rather than receiving—an eternal reminder of what a joyous, beautiful existence this life on earth could be if it were not for the crash of selfishness against selfishness.

Therein is Christmas' real charm. It unveils what life could be. Other days of the year are matter-of-fact, hard as agate, revealing life as we create it, reflecting ourselves.

Christmas is the Day of Days because it is the one day of the year when each of us strives to make others happy. Civilized future generations will look back and marvel that it never occurred to us to make a Christmas out of every day in the year.

RECOUNT DECISION

County Court Rules Against T. L. Snook in Chilcoquin Case

The action brought by T. L. Snook, justice of the peace at Chilcoquin, contesting the election of R. C. Spink to that office, was dismissed in the county court this morning.

County Judge Bunnell declared that the decision had been reached without any assistance from the district attorney's office, and appeared highly displeased at a recent statement in The Herald that a decision in the case awaited the return from Portland of W. A. Weist, deputy district attorney. He expressed his displeasure in unparliamentary terms, declaring that The Herald had lied about him, and insisted that the public be told that the county court had made its decision unaided.

Judge Bunnell was almost equally derogatory in his remarks concerning the district attorney. Whether the case will be appealed to higher court by Snook has not been made public.

BILL FOR DAIRYMEN

Measure Proposed for Distribution of Dairy Congress Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—A provision to translate and distribute in the United States the discussions at the approaching world's dairy congress was added to the agricultural appropriation bill in an amendment offered by Representative Haugben, republican, Iowa, which stipulated that $20,000 should be spent in the work.

No other important changes were made in the bill, although Representative Johnson, republican, Washington, made a fight on the provision for an "assistant in charge of editorial and distribution work" at a salary of $5000. Mr. Johnson interpreted it as an attempt to create an assistant secretary of agriculture and contended the salary was too high. The house, upon adjournment had only considered about one-third of the bill.

APPROPRIATION DISTRIBUTION IS SET FORTH

the chance of the Tule lake lands again becoming submerged. For the enlargement of the C canal and the D canal, $60,000 is provided. This enlargement will be started in the fiscal year 1923, and will provide additional capacity for an area of about 8,600 acres of land which it is expected will be developed by pumping by private districts.

On the Tule Lake division, estimate is made for lateral extensions amounting to $100,000. Irrigable land surveys, costing $2,000; quarters for employees, $8,000; and telephone lines $10,000, are also provided for in the estimate.

This expenditure contemplates continuing the work of constructing and extending the lateral system to provide irrigation service for about 4,000 acres below the first part of the Tule Lake division. This construction is contingent upon satisfactory progress being made on the construction of the Horseshoe dam and the enlargement of the diversion canal so that ample provision will be had against resubmergence and damage from seepage.

Langell Valley and Horseshoe

In the Langell Valley division $20,000 is requested to complete the lateral system on Clear lake part of that division which is now under construction; $4,000 is requested for quarters for employees, and $10,000 for the construction of telephone lines. It is expected that arrangements will be made to start work on the Horseshoe part of the Langell division, and $5,000 is included for surveys, $5,000 for right of way and $36,000 for canal construction.

An amount of $20,000 has been provided for extending drainage outlets to Tule lake. These will be necessary as the water in the lake recedes. Provision has been made for an expenditure of $5,000 for miscellaneous drainage work. This work will come under supplemental construction and must be approved by the directors of the Klamath Irrigation district.

Operation and Maintenance $85,000
An amount of $3,000 will be needed for the employment of gate tenders at the Clear lake and Lost River dams and for a small contingent fund for possible minor repairs to storage works and the diversion canal. Approximately $60,000 will be needed for the regular operation and maintenance work on the project canals and laterals; $20,000 will be required for operation and maintenance work in connection with the canals and laterals in the Tule Lake division; and $2,000 will be needed for patrolling the marsh lands around Lower Klamath lake to prevent fires. The irrigable area of lands under public notice and special contracts on June 30, 1922, was about 50,000 acres; on June 30, 1923, the total area will be about 60,000 acres.

DORRIS MAN INJURED

Allen Henning Gets Broken Leg in Fall From Horse

DORRIS, Cal., Dec. 23.—White endeavoring to corral some horses in Butte valley near Dorris, Allen Henning, 16-year-old son of A. T. Henning, had the misfortune to have his leg broken. His horse slipped on the ice and fell with him pinned underneath, breaking both bones of the left leg just above the ankle and also fracturing the ankle bone.

His younger brother Howard, who was with him at the time, helped him to mount his saddle horse and the injured boy rode a mile to the home of a neighbor, Sam Morrow, who took him to the hospital at Dorris in his sleigh. There the broken bones were set and the boy is resting comfortably.
