WHITE WINS K. O. "DAYS" BECOME OVER MITCHELL JINX TO SEALS

Windy City Fighter Scores Every Celebration Marked Technical Knockout By Defeat For San Francisco Club

NEW YORK, July 20.—Charley White, hard hitting Chicago lightweight, scored a technical knockout over Ritchie Mitchell of Milwaukee Wednesday night in the fourth round of a 15-round match at the New York Velodrome. Mitchell's seconds threw a sponge into the ring when he went down for the second time in the round from a right to the jaw, followed by a smashing left hook.

Mitchell Forces Fight

Mitchell forced most of the fighting in the first round and landed several hard rights to White's head, but the Chicagoan had the better of the fighting at close quarters. White sent Mitchell to one knee with a left hook in the second round, but the Milwaukeean came back to stagger his opponent with two smashing rights to the head. White's left eye was cut after a furious exchange.

Third Is Fast

They battled at a fast clip in the third. White had Mitchell on the ropes in distress with a battering attack to the head, but Ritchie weathered the storm and sent White back with several rights to the head.

White started the fourth round intent upon making a quick ending to the battle. He floored Mitchell with a right to the jaw for a count of eight and drove Ritchie about the ring with a withering attack to the head and body. Groggy and reeling, the Milwaukeean went down against from a right and left to the jaw, his seconds tossing in a sponge. The end came after two minutes and 48 seconds of the round.

MOSLEMS FLOCK TO MECCA FOR WORSHIP

CAIRO, July 20.—Pilgrims are now converging on Mecca, their sacred city and the birthplace of Mohammed. Thousands are traveling from all parts of the Moslem world to be present on the day of sacrifice, July 24.—Egyptian Mohammedans have dispatched the sacred carpet to Mecca, with elaborate ceremonial and prayer.

Since the burial of the prophet Mohammed, more than a thousand years ago, Christians have been forbidden to enter the holy city, which is surrounded with great mystery and veneration. But in spite of this interdiction, sixteen Christians are known to have entered the city in disguise. Death would have been their fate if they had been detected. Thus far no American has set foot within its sacred walls. The foreigners who have penetrated the city have been mostly Englishmen who spoke Arabic and disguised themselves as priests or peasants.

On arriving within a short distance of Mecca the pilgrim discards his ordinary clothing and assumes the garb of a "hajee"—a garment consisting of a white apron with a piece of cloth thrown over the shoulder. Sandals may be worn, but the head must be kept uncovered.

In the city itself certain abutments are performed, after which the "black stone" is kissed, and the pilgrim runs seven times round the mosque. After special prayers and genuflections he then drinks from the holy well, and once more kisses the stone.

On the following morning there takes place the quaint ceremony of pelting the devil with stones, followed by the sacrifice, when a sheep, goat, cow, or camel is offered, according to the pilgrim's means. This concludes the pilgrimage.

The meat of the slaughtered animal is prepared for use on the return journey, and the pilgrim receives a certificate that he is now a "hajee." As a mark of distinction he thereafter wears a green band round his head, which proves to all the world that he has endured the hardships of the pilgrimage.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Every time the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast Baseball league celebrates a "day," it proves a bad day for the club. The other day the Seals celebrated "Jack Miller day," in honor of their manager who has kept the team in front in the coast league race, this season, only to have the celebration marred by defeat at the hands of the Sacramento Senators.

O'Connell day, Rhine day, Kamm day and Wolverton day proved similarly disastrous. The San Francisco owners are reported as having decided that the next "day" they celebrate will be the day after the season is over when the pennant is safely waving from the flagpole at Recreation park.

William of Germany Still Retains Autocratic Bearing

DOORN, July 20.—William Hohenzollern, once German emperor, today in Doorn maintains his imperial airs as of old, according to the recitals of those who from time to time come in contact with him.

The latest story is contributed by a traveling company of student-actors. Augmenting their slender incomes by acting mediocrity mystery plays in various German and Dutch cities, the actors were requested to give a performance at the former emperor's residence. Before doing so they were received by William, and they have since given their impressions of the reception.

First they were instructed how to behave. "Speak to his majesty just as the word come," said the marshal. "Address him in accordance with his exalted position, and kindly make a very, very low bow."

After being admitted to the house,

William and an officer appeared in the hall. One of the students describes William as having haughty movements and superior airs. His eyes are nervous, and a hard, pale grey in color. He has striking grey eyebrows. Lines of age furrow his brow, and his mouth seems extraordinary sensual. His beard and moustache have turned grey, and his complexion is unhealthy.

William wore a grey-green field-captain's and a green sporting hat. The student thought that civilian dress made him appear bourgeois. His manner of address was sharp and Prussian.

William's toils of omniscience appeared at once in his conversation, and he started right in. "So you are going to offer us mystery plays? They are, of course, the plays that reached such a flourishing condition among the ancient Greeks—"

Then the former monarch proceeded to give a history of these plays down to modern times. The marshal whispered delightedly to the student. The Kaiser knows everything.

In the evening the student-actors played "The Dance of Death" and the lyrical "Paradise Play." Princess Hermine, William's wife was greatly taken by the plays and as she came on the stage to thank the players, she remarked: "You must come again. Here one perishes intellectually. It is seldom that anything of value is offered to us."

WOULD SEPARATE HIGHWAY BOARDS FROM POLITICS

SPOKANE, Wash., July 20.—An intensive program to separate highway boards from partisan politics, insofar as possible, is due this year on the part of the Inland Automobile association, according to Secretary Frank W. Guilbert. The Inland association is the local branch of the American Automobile association.

problem was reached after a study of statistics which showed that the highway departments of eighteen states have been radically changed in the past few months," Secretary Guilbert stated in announcing the program. "We feel that the building and maintenance of highways is of too great importance to be interrupted by a complete change in administration every few years."

PRECAUTION

When the trial of a certain case was about half through, the evidence in favor of the defendant was so overwhelming that the judge broke in and ordered the jury to return a verdict of not guilty. The prisoner's lawyer, a fledgeling, however, refused to be robbed of his carefully prepared spurge of oratory and demanded that he be heard.

"Well," the court ruled, "ye can make yer speech if ye want to. Wilkins, but jest to guard against accident we're goin' to acquit yer client first."
