THE GRASSLESS YARD

SOME people find it almost impossible to grow grass. Their children or their neighbors may be so numerous that the horde of trampling feet choke down any venturesome green blade that dares lift its fragile head above the uncultivated earth.

The lack of grass is a depressing feature of many neighborhoods where hard working people live. These folks miss it, and feel the bareness of their location, yet find themselves too busy to remedy the lack. Or as said above, the hurrying feet of tribes of children may make it seem almost impossible.

Yet there are folks who under such conditions manage somehow to develop flowers and grass and shrubs. They transform what would otherwise be a depressing site into a homey looking place. This is a form of beauty that does not cost much.

People will pay high prices for artificial decorations, but they can make their little places shine with but little expenditure of cash if they will put in the elbow grease. If more people could be induced to own homes instead of renting, there would be more inducement for such improvements.

IS OUR CITY STANDING STILL?

VERY few towns stand still in these times, and certainly Klamath Falls does not. For almost every community where there is any business or life at all is growing some, and gaining from year to year new improvements and advantages.

But there is this respect in which many very good communities are standing still relatively, that they fail to realize the rapid advance of the times, and are not keeping up with the progress of other cities.

The gospel of civic progress is spreading rapidly. Cities and towns have active Chambers of Commerce and other civic associations, which are not satisfied merely to hold dinners and smoke talks, but which render continuous service and secure important improvements. It takes work and community spirit and some money for a town to hold its own, relative to other good places of its size.

PERSISTING WITH THE GARDEN

NOT all the people who start a garden, stimulated by the lovely spring days, will keep it up through the wilting hours of August. The glory seems to have died out of gardening then, while weeds flourish in sun baked soils, and insect pests thrive while the plants pine and languish.

But the people who stick it out, and keep their garden growing through the hot weather, free from its weedy and buggy pests, get many rewards. They become used to extremes of temperature, and acquire a physical vigor that is a big asset in their regular work.

This is said to be the land of the free, but around at the summer hotels it seems more like the land of the fee.

It used to take a lot of sentiment to satisfy love's young dream, but nowadays in Klamath Falls it takes ice cream soda.

Home sweet, sweet home, sang the poet, and it certainly looks so to the base runner on third with two men out.

It is not yet observed that the movement for shorter hours has affected mother's labors any.

It must be unhealthy crossing the ocean from all the alcoholic medicine those ships have to carry.

NOW COMES THE NEXT BIG SHOW

TERMINATE S. P. C. P. CASE, IS SHIPPERS' PLEA

free and unfettered competition of the Western Pacific is established to the satisfaction of that company, and

WHEREAS: The California Producers and Shippers association is still firm in its belief that the competition that would be created by the separation of the two roads would cause the above mentioned improvements to be made, together with other more or less advantages that accrue directly from competition, it also believes that the benefits to be derived from certain immediate improvements and conditions of the services provided for in the agreements of the interstate commerce commission, together with the individual assurance of the Southern Pacific relative to matters not covered by the agreement has material advantages over the uncertainty of the final results of the pending litigation, and

WHEREAS: We are informed that the traffic over the Central Pacific at the present time exceeds all traffic records in the history of the Central Pacific, thus convincing us that the Southern Pacific is even now adhering to the agreement to route via Ogden gateway, which directly benefits Sacramento and northern California, and

WHEREAS: Paragraph I of the order of the interstate commerce commission provides that the matter "may be reopened at any time by order of the commission either upon the initiative of the commission or in the discretion of the commissions upon the motion of any person claiming an interest in the matter for the purpose of making such orders as the commission may deem necessary or appropriate supplementary to the present order," and

WHEREAS: Should it develop that the above promises are not carried out within a reasonable time, the California Producers and Shippers association stands committed to exercise its privilege under the order of the interstate commerce commission to reopen the matter and prosecute same until the state obtains the benefits to which it is entitled, and we hereby pledge our every effort and influence to so carry out said idea, now therefore be it

RESOLVED: That we believe it is in the public interest that the attorney general of the United States terminate the present litigation at once, thus substituting certainty for uncertainty and avoiding further unnecessary delay of promised improvements.

KEEN FOR GOVERNMENT HOMES

LONDON, July 28.—More than 15,000 applications have been made for use of the 10,000 houses which the government will build within the next few months.

The houses, which are being constructed under the scheme to stop the house shortage of England and Scotland, may be rented or purchased by the public, and so great has been the demand that it has been necessary to refuse two thirds of the applications made since the war.

LUGO FINANCES SMALL FARMERS IN LOWER CALIFORNIA

MEXICALI, Lower California, July 28.—A total of 224 farmers with from ten to 100 acres in cotton are being financed by the state government at the instance of Jose I. Lugo, military governor of the northern district of Lower California, it has been announced here. A total of 18,000 acres of land under irrigation were placed at their disposal by Governor Lugo.

More than $500,000 will be advanced to the farmers by the state before they receive returns from their crops are able to pay back to the state.

Farmers get the money at four per cent, as against a minimum of ten per cent paid to banks in previous seasons, the governor pointed out. In addition to the ten per cent paid banks, he said, the farmers were usually tied up with ginning and sales contracts, from which the farmers were relieved under the state plan. Therefore, the governor said, the farmers are now able to get the current market prices when the crop is picked. Last season's advance contracts were at from eighteen to twenty-two cents, while thirty-five cents was realized when the cotton came on the market. The state advances this year are made in four installments: First at plowing; second for planting; third for picking, and the fourth for ginning.

MILLIONS OF BOOKS ISSUED TO SUPPORT BOLSHEVIST IDEAS

BUCHAREST, July 28.—Figures received here summarizing the activities of the publishing business in Russia which is purely an enterprise of the soviet state, indicate that a great effort is being made to convince the Russian people of the correctness of bolshevist political, social and economic theories.

The soviet publisher's house issued from its presses in Moscow and put into circulation throughout Russia during the last 12 months no less than 14,500,000 volumes covering the fields of economics, politics, history and even fiction.

Aside from the obvious propaganda tendencies of the volumes on political and economic subjects, the soviet historians have sought to show how the world has suffered because of its hostility to bolshevik doctrines, and in many of the fiction volumes the endeavor has been to prove that opposition to soviet doctrines has warped, limited or distorted individual lives.

RUSSIAN TRADE INCREASES

MOSCOW, July 28.—Russia's foreign trade for the six months ended March 31 shows an increase over the preceding half year, according to official statistics. The value of the exports is placed at 47,831,000 gold rubles. More than 30 per cent went to England.

Imports are valued at 110,359,000 gold rubles, and 45 per cent came from England.

Uncle Sam believes in the open door, but insists that they shake themselves dry before coming in.

AT THE PINE TREE

Appearing in a delightful new comedy, "Nobody's Money," a popularization of William LeBaron's stage success, Jack Holt achieved another artistic success on the presentation of that Paramount picture at the Pine Tree theatre last night. Holt plays the part of a book agent, John Webster, who helps two young authors out of a peck of trouble in which they find themselves after the publication of a libelous article by Douglas Roberts, an author they have created. How Webster extricates them from their difficulties and wins for himself the governor's daughter, is a most interesting evening's entertainment. Wanda Hawley heads the strong supporting cast composed of Robert Schable, Harry Depp, James Neil, Julia Faye and others.

Jack Holt is at the Pine Tree tonight.

The Hickman-Bessey Stock Company "will open a week's engagement at the Pine Tree theatre" starting Monday night, July 30. This company, comes to Klamath Falls, highly recommended. It is without a doubt, the best traveling stock company that has ever held stock engagements in such cities as, Criterion theatre, Chicago, 3 seasons; Washington theatre, Richmond, 2 seasons; Majestic theatre, Indianapolis, Ind., 1 season; Cycle Park, Dallas, Texas, 2 seasons; Lyric theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla., 2 seasons; Bligh theatre, Salem, Ore.,
