Exciting Trip

A trip to Medford and Grants Pass interspersed by a number of exciting incidents was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. George Thrasher and their daughter, Mrs. Paul Hilton. The party visited with relatives in Medford. While driving to Grants Pass on the Pacific highway Sunday an auto horn sounded behind them. Thrasher immediately steered to the side of the road for the car to pass. Instead the car in passing slid off the slippery pavement into the ditch and turned over. A man and woman in the car were injured, and beyond a few dented fenders the auto was unharmful. A number of men heaved to and in a short while the fortunate pair were on their way again. Five minutes later as they were driving into Grants Pass Thrasher was flustered by the city fire department tearing up the Main street with the fire hose dragging behind the machine. Thrasher wisely concluded that the street was an unsafe place to be at that time and drove into a service station driveway till the excitement had ceased and he could collect his thoughts.

SERBIAN POET IS PRAISED REPORTER

BEGRAD, Nov. 13.—Conservative Serbians have words of high praise for the activities of M. Rakitch, Yugoslavian minister plenipotentiary to Bulgaria, in informing his government and the press correctly as to the progress of events in Bulgaria during the recent Communist uprising.

While the semi-official organ of the foreign office here was putting out much misinformation about the development and scope of the disorders, M. Rakitch was quoted in conservative Belgrade newspapers as giving a correct presentation of the situation across the border.

M. Rakitch was responsible for instance, for the information that there had been no battles around Sofia that no armies of peasants and Communists were marching upon the Bulgarian capital in many thousands; that the king was not in flight, and that the prime minister had not been killed in action against the Communists.

What M. Rakitch informed his government and the conservative press of Belgrade, was that Sofia was quite safe from any menace by peasants and Communists, that the situation was at no time beyond the control of the government, and that the movement was not the protest of an oppressed people but the act of the Moscow Third Internationale, acting through deluded partisans.

In addition to being an able reporter, M. Rakitch is probably the greatest of living Serbian poets.

SUCCESS IN LIFE IS ATTRIBUTED TO THE MUSK MELON

MUKWONAGO, Wis., Nov. 13.—The success of many men has been attributed to various strange things, but few, it is believed, have been inspired by the muskmelon as was A. H. Craig, 76, postmaster here. He asserts that the whole fabric of his life and achievements was built up through inspiration furnished by the melon.

Craig became identified with the melon industry after a series of financial misfortunes, commencing with the failure of a bicycle factory in which as a young man he invested his savings. That failure compelled him to mortgage his home to pay his obligations.

"I wrote to a New York publisher for a job and got one," he explained. "It was to write a book of 450 pages on the subject of debate. The result was 'Craig's Pros and Cons'—an outline of school debate. Asked to name the compensation for writing this book, I gave the publisher the figure represented by the mortgage indebtedness of my home."

Paying off the home mortgage with a now widely used book left an empty pocketbook. Casting about for substance and health took him into the outdoors and growing things and melon culture suggested itself.

At that time the article was a luxury in the markets of the east. Craig decided to grow a melon that would stand above all others by intelligent and scientific production. He sent to France, Spain and Persia for seed.

K. SUGARMAN.

He first grew melons with some success but more in failure. He visited Indianapolis and at a city produce market there was attracted by a specimen of provincial melon of the Hoosier state. He bought one for a dime, ate it, and saved the seeds. Later, he crossed it with one of his own kind.

The result was melons that ran 20 to 24 pounds in weight. Craig set out to reduce the size, for as market melons it was undesirable because of its weight. After years of experimenting, a superior product came into being. The first success of the new variety found birth at a banquet given in honor of former

The Run Down May Run Up In Health!

A run down physical condition is the invariable result of a chronic weakness. Constant pain or dragging weakness will rob the sufferer of vitality. Quite often the appearance is unchanged, but the sufferer knows a difference.

Ordinarily when a man finds himself in such a condition, the family physician advises a vacation. But the cause is not removed by a vacation. The vacation will help, perhaps, if the sufferer is taking chiropractic spinal adjustments to remove the cause of his weakness. Rest and adjustments will restore, but rest alone will only postpone another breakdown.
