

The Evening Herald

Issued daily except Sunday by The Herald Publishing Company.
Office, 119 North First St., Klamath Falls, Oregon.
F. H. SOULE, President and Manager
HUTH SOULE, Secretary-Treasurer
Entered as second-class matter, at the post office at Klamath Falls, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Member of the Associated Press.
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and to all local news published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

F. H. SOULE, Editor
H. R. HILL, City Editor
F. S. WHITE, Advertising Manager
H. W. REYNOLDS, Mechanical Superintendent

The Evening Herald is the official paper of Klamath County and the City of Klamath Falls.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
Delivered By Carrier
ONE YEAR	$6.50
SIX MONTHS	3.50
THREE MONTHS	1.95
ONE MONTH	.65
By Mail
ONE YEAR	$5.00
SIX MONTHS	2.75
THREE MONTHS	1.50
ONE MONTH	.50

INFORMATION FOR ADVERTISERS

Copy for display advertising must be in this office not later than 3 p.m. on the day preceding publication in order to be inserted in the issue of the paper of the next day.

Want ads and reading notices will be received up to 12 noon on the day of issue.

Advertising for fraternal orders or societies charging a regular initiation fee and dues, no discount. Religious and benevolent orders will be charged the regular rate for all advertising when an admission or other charge is made.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1923

TWO IMPORTANT CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

TWO important constitutional amendments have already been proposed in the present session of Congress. One of these, and the most far-reaching in its effects, if adopted, was introduced by Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, and by Representative D. R. Anthony in the House, for the purpose of establishing equality of rights for women under all laws. The amendment is brief. It provides:

"Men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

Under the equal suffrage amendment women now have equal rights with men so far as voting is concerned. It required a constitutional amendment to establish that right for the reason that States specified the qualifications of voters. For the same reason, a constitutional amendment will be necessary if women are to have equal rights with men in other respects. Property rights, particularly in the matter of inheritances, are determined by State laws, and at present a great many, if not a majority, of the States, accord a wife lesser rights than are accorded to her husband. In most instances, when a woman dies her husband acquires a much larger right to her property than she acquires in the case of his death.

The difference in the matter of property rights has been gradually growing less as one State after another liberalizes its laws and recognizes the injustice of former notions of the rights of women, but there are some States that are still far behind the procession. The adoption of the Curtis-Anthony Amendment would wipe out all of these discriminations. With that amendment in effect it would be unconstitutional for any State to enact any law granting to one sex any privilege or right not accorded in equal degree to the other.

The other constitutional amendment referred to, was proposed by Senator Norris of Nebraska. It provides for the commencement of the terms of President and Vice President and Members of Congress. At present those terms begin on the Fourth of March. Under the Norris amendment the terms of the President and Vice President would begin at noon on the third Monday in January, and the terms of Senators and Representatives at noon on the first Monday in January. At present the President does not take his office until four months after the election. Under the Norris amendment he would take office about ten weeks after the election.

Although Senators and Congressmen assume their offices at present on the Fourth of March, their official service really does not become effective until the following December when the first regular session convenes. Unless the President calls them into special session. That means that in the regular course of events a new Congress would not have an opportunity to register its policies until thirteen months after it had been voted into power. The Norris amendment not only provides that Senators and Congressmen shall assume their offices on the first Monday in January following the election, but that there shall be a session of Congress beginning on the first Monday in January. Under that amendment a change in the political complexion of Congress would become almost immediately effective. The new Congress would be in session two weeks before the time for the new President to assume his duties.

This difference is intended to provide Congress an opportunity to elect a President if the vote at the general election failed to result in the choice of a President.

If America is isolated—and those Americans who keep repeating that it is, never take the trouble to explain how it is isolated—it has been isolated by European madness, not by American ignorance.—Kansas City Star.

The League of Nations has now taken up daylight saving, and its next subject of adjustment will be jay walking, perhaps, or maybe the right date to put on the heavy ones.—Boston Transcript.

If people hated wars as they do paying for them, perfect peace would prevail.—Greenville Piedmont.

WE ALL HOPE SO

The Office Cat

It is well to leave our footprints on the sands of time, but it is wise to be more cautious about our finger prints.

Those who go to church may learn more about heaven, but those who go on Sunday auto trips may get there first, snaps the traffic officer.

An old lady dropped dead in a street car. Men should be more careful about offering their seats to ladies having weak hearts.

A fellow one night got in a fight. A big man he happened to tease. Now with fighting he's through. For when he came to, All he had on was his B. V. D's.

R. T. Cox says those forked-tail monkeys that are said to exist must look like the devil.

Willing to Be Discovered.

We are only a struggling young person who must provide three squares a day for a numerous family, consisting of a parent, three chickens and cat. We read in a current magazine lately that the editor wished to discover budding talent. We wish to call his attention to us. We consider ourselves budding. We are willing to be discovered. We are not at all coy about it. We do not need to be wooed gently into the limelight. We would not object to being pushed—nay—kicked into it! We are of the earth—earthly. We would like to get a chance to shake hands with Pama before we are too far gone to smell the flowers. Our kind friends will no doubt send us when we get ready to leave this terrestrial globe. We want the kind of fame which you can pay the lee man. We do not care particularly for the kind that marches slow behind you, and makes little children hate you because they have to learn all about you in school. If the editor of that publication wishes to discover anyone—we are right here waiting. We can do that better than anything else!

Fred Hagelstein says if some men would conceal what they know they would be more popular.

Clyde Barker says just because a man wears a cap does not keep him from talking through his hat.

"Summing it all up," observes C. T. Price, despondently, "civilization is nothing but just a temple and a schoolhouse and a tax collector."

"A dinner invitation without a kick in it," said a certain young schoolteacher recently, "is one received when you have just paid your board at your boarding house a week in advance."

Most of us are on a hunger strike so far as food for thought is concerned, sniffs Will Urban.

Persons who are prone to condemn whiskers should remember that a dense growth of foliage has helped many a chinless man to keep a stiff upper lip, says B. E. Brown.

If it were not for the delays, the seeming calamities of harassing situations, "the going over the bumps," this old world would see no outstanding successes, for successes are built up on the overlooking of difficulties.

Delayed. A Seattle woman driving too fast to a card party, was there for 90 days now.

Ma Goose Up To Date. Jack and Jill drove up the hill To try an old used flivver. The bus backed down and jarred Jill's crown, And upset poor Jack's liver.

Dear Santa: Wait until I grow up and I'll get you. Where's the shotgun you promised? JIMMIE.

Christmas story: When I got the children's candy out from under the bed half of it was gone.

Dear Santa: You big bum, you come get your book. Who wants a history book for Christmas? WILLIE.

Dear Santa: If you think those stockings are big enough for me have your eyes treated. MABEL.

Christmas story: Uncle hasn't seen the children in 15 years so he sent them roller skates.

Dear Santa: I had a pair of socks already. Will you come back and swap for underwear? PAPA.

Dear Santa: Go chase yourself. I know a diamond from a beer bottle chip, I do. BETHEL.

Christmas story: Bill gave his girl a lipstick and is getting it back for thanks.

Dear Santa: Sit down on you! I heard what you said when you fell over the chair at our house. BOBBY.

Christmas story: Dad carved the turkey without a cuss.

Christmas story: I got Christmas cards from all my friends except those I sent cards.

Dear Santa: I asked for books and you brought that horrid bicycle, I just hate you. PERCYVAL.

Dear Santa: You tracked out my porch and mother kicked me for it. I'll get you. JACKIE.

Christmas story: He said it was good stuff and the sidewalk jumped up and hit me.

Dear Santa: Will you please send your mechanic out to our house? We have a big job for him. WILLIAM.

Christmas story: We gave the boss a watch and he will use it to see if we are late.

Dear Santa: Come back again next year, please. EVERYBODY.

Ten Years Ago Today

Dec. 28, 1913—Horses in Demand.—D. M. McLemore, who is well known here as a dealer in horses and cattle has just returned from an extended trip through the south. He brought north another shipment of cattle which he sold to J. C. Mitchell.

According to McLemore there are lots of cattle buyers in California now that they have had an abundance of rain throughout the state. He says the prospects for cattle and horse dealers was never brighter.

There is a great shortage of horses in the San Joaquin valley farmers are paying the old time prices for horses.

FAMOUS DANISH EGG EXPERT BUILT UP HUGE INDUSTRY

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 28.—After several months illness, the man who brought the Danish egg to the notice of the world, Frederick Moller, died recently. Moller started life as a school teacher, but in 1890 started a campaign for the improvement in quality and production of the Danish egg. He organized egg collection stations or circles throughout the country introducing a simple control system whereby he was able to trace every egg back to the producer.

Every circle and producer had a number which was stamped on the egg, and if a customer complained that his egg was bad it could be returned to the suburban grocer who in turn informed the Danish shipper. The producer was promptly fined for the first offence, and for the second offence was discharged from the magic circle of producers.

Moller's efforts to improve the quality and quantity of the Danish egg came in for a good deal of criticism and opposition but he stuck to his task of organizing on co-operative lines, and his concern, the "Danish Anders Egg Export" which had a turnover of 80,000 crowns in 1920, turned over 4,701,000 crowns in 1922.

Time of sunrise: time of sunset: every day of the year and many other good features in Currins famous weather chart calendars. Free to adults Saturday.

NEWS OF THE KLAMATH COUNTRY

KENO

Miss Vaerotti, the grade teacher, left last Saturday for her home near Portland where she will spend the Christmas vacation. She will return January 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McCormick arrived Monday to spend the holidays with Thomas McCormick and family.

Jessie and Velda Puckett, Miriam Grubb and Nondia De Lap were among the Keno people who attended the Christmas program at the Pleva school.

Miss Crank called on Mrs. Snowgoose Friday afternoon.

L. W. Anderson of Spencer Creek came up Tuesday morning to have Christmas dinner with his family.

Chesley Tower spent Monday calling on friends in Keno.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Nelson spent Christmas with friends in Klamath Falls.

C. E. Burton from Pleva was in this locality Monday gathering up some range cattle.

Ed, Palma and Charley Nelson drove to Klamath Falls on business one day last week.

R. W. Tower was in Klamath Falls several times during the week to sell pork and sausage.

CHILOQUIN

Elmer Tucker and wife of West Chiloquin are spending the holidays in Klamath Falls with Tucker's parents.

John Cole and family of Modoc Point were Chiloquin visitors last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Darnell spent Christmas in Klamath Falls.

Edward H. Quigley was arraigned Wednesday afternoon before Justice of the Peace R. C. Spink to answer to two charges of being drunk and disorderly on Christmas day. Quigley entered a plea of guilty to both charges.

LONE PINE

Mrs. H. McKendree and son Scott shipped 500 lambs to Allen & Pyle of San Francisco last week.

Clyde Bradley visited his ranch here Thursday.

Many residents of this district were shopping in Klamath Falls before the holidays. They included Mr. and Mrs. Craven and children Florence and Dick, Mrs. Galarneau, Mrs. Ratcliffe, Zerline and James Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lewis and children, Phelps and Arline; Mrs. R. F. Beasley, Mrs. Alfred Kiger, and Hugh O'Connor.

Mr. Allen of Allen & Pyle company, San Francisco, visited in this community one day last week.

Con Currin, who has been running his sheep near the Derwin ranch, has moved his sheep to the lava beds.

Mr. and Mrs. Vochatcher spent Wednesday and Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stevenson, returning to their home in Klamath Falls Friday. Zerline Stevenson accompanied them home, remaining over night on a detouring Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hosley and little son Thomas spent Christmas with Mrs. Henry Anderson of Merrill.

The Christmas program given at the schoolhouse Friday evening was well attended. Almost every family in the community was represented. Among the visitors were Misses Jessie Puckett and Leona Clevenger and Verne Puckett of Keno, Catherine, George and William Kandra from the Libby district, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Elliot and son Billy from Fairview.

Horace Greeley did not say, "Go west, young man." This expression was first used by John L. Soule in 1851 in the Terre Haute Express. Greeley later used the sentence in an editorial entitled "Hats Toward Reform." Later Greeley reprinted the article from the Terre Haute Express and explained that he was not the originator of the expression.

Out of town people send same address for Currins famous weather chart calendars. They are free.

PINE TREE THEATRE

Tonight only, 4th Lyceum Entertainment
THE BUCKEYE MALE TRIO
Brass Trios, Vocal and Instrumental Solos, A College gang full of pep and jagger
Our picture "KID TIDE" star cast

BIG TURKEY SHOOT

DEC. 30TH
10 A. M.

1/2 Mile East of Town
Across the Canal
Bring your guns

INTEREST PAY DAY

at our bank falls on December 31, 1923.

On that day we will credit to the accounts of our Savings Depositors thousands of dollars interest, which has been earned during the past six months. If your name is not on this pay roll, we suggest that you open a Savings Account at once and be numbered among our many depositors.

Deposits made up to, and including January 3rd drawn interest from the first of the month.

The American National Bank

Of Klamath Falls, Oregon

Member Federal Reserve System

This Bank is Under GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION