Cemetery to Be Improved by Re-Planting; Bid for Work Is Submitted

The proximity of memorial day has caused the city council to take proper steps to re-plant, re-survey and improve the city cemetery on Hillside addition. At the council meeting last night, assistant City Engineer Frank Howard, submitted a bid of $350 for the necessary work on the cemetery. The bid was referred to the finance committee with power to act.

Howard pointed out that part of the cemetery was located on an extension of roadway from Lexington avenue and that a number of graves were dug on the roadway.

Four bids for a one-ton truck to be used by the city in connection with street work were discussed and referred to the street committee. Final selection will be made next Monday night.

A petition from William Marx for a permit to decorate the streets on May 3, when the Medford D. O. K. temple holds its ceremonial here, was referred to the fire chief with power to act.

A resolution authorizing the police judge to pay to the Warren Construction company, $1501.37, which is due on work done on the thirty-first paving unit, was unanimously approved by the council.

Wrote to Council.
G. C. Gaddes, mayor of Medford, wrote to the council asking that they write or wire to the state highway commission requesting that a man be sent to Washington, D. C., to ask for Oregon's share of highway equipment which has been disposed of for the cost of the freight. The council referred the matter to the county court.

Cooling of the water in the public fountain on Fourth and Main will be discontinued by the county court immediately, according to Councilman Burt Hawkins. During the summer it would be almost a necessity to have cold water at this point and Hawkins requested that the council consider appropriating funds for this purpose.

Six building permits aggregating a proposed expenditure of $6200 were granted by the council. All but one of the permits were for residences.

Permits were issued to the following: Alva G. Walker, a dwelling, Second street to cost $400; Ida S. Hatton, a garage on Eberlein street to cost $200; H. W. Hatton, a dwelling on White avenue to cost $500; N. Marchand, a dwelling on Worden street to cost $2750; J. G. Belmont, a dwelling on Oregon avenue to cost $2,000; J. H. Pickle, a dwelling on Fourth and Oak to cost $350.

SPORT FISHermen ARE BALKED BY MOON

A bright full moon Saturday night, which cast sufficient light to read a newspaper, was the direct cause of many fishermen returning to Klamath Falls Sunday night with empty creels and disgusted countenances. By the light of this moon, trout fed all night and with the first ray of sunlight Sunday morning dropped back into the deep holes for the rest of the day.

Reports from Klamath river below Keno are that at one time there were between 150 and 200 fishermen on both sides of the river below the Copco dam. Those who knew the river and were in front of the maddening crowd, had fair luck. Those who were not, returned with empty creels. There were several notable exceptions. A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hilton, Will Nitschelm, Paul Nitschelm and Raymond Hilton made a big catch. Another group, Harry Thrasher, Ray Crawford, Carl Rhodiger and Paul Dalton, caught several nice fish.

As near as can be ascertained, the largest fish caught Sunday was by a young man named Gray, son of Charles Gray, who landed a 13-pound rainbow trout at the mouth of Spring creek. Gray was using a large spinner and a long cane bamboo pole. In addition he caught several other large fish, one being about four pounds.

Arthur Leavitt threw a surprise into a group of fishermen, who had been earnestly fishing a likely riffle on Williamson river all day, when he arrived about three o'clock in the afternoon and immediately hooked a nine-pound rainbow trout in the same water and after a fight that lasted 15 minutes landed it successfully. Fishing on Williamson river was not good Sunday with the exception of a half hour before sunrise. At that time the quiet stretches on the river resembled a boiling cauldron, as it appeared that every fish on the river was feeding on the surface.

Generally speaking, the fishing in Klamath county was not good last Sunday. Experienced fishermen say, wait till the moon is on the wane and then the fishing in Klamath will live up to its reputation.

COURT

For a consideration of $850, the old county court house on Fourth and Main was sold by the county court Saturday afternoon to O. Peyton, local wood dealer. Peyton was the only bidder.

The sale of the structure gives Peyton the right to move the court house from the premises. He may cut three shade trees in the rear of the building but must plant three small shade trees in their stead.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY OFFICE IS BUSY

Supplementing statements made at the political candidates' ball at Lorella on Saturday evening last, District Attorney C. C. Brower today explained that during the three years ending January 1, 1924 his office had handled 890 cases resulting in fines totaling $16,893.90. This amount, Mr. Brower says, was actually paid into the various funds to which it was apportioned. During 1923 the total fines amounted to $8,836.55 or more than half the total of the three-year period. This is significant, the district attorney points out, that the present work of the office is far greater than ever before. Figures for 1924 to date are not as yet available but will compare favorably with 1923, it is stated.

Personal Magnetism Wins for Lillian Gish

Great Power Is Concealed Behind Soulful Eyes of Star of "The White Sister" at Liberty
Who is the real Lillian Gish? What is back of the pretty head and the soulful eyes of the star of "The White Sister," that big production to be seen today at the Liberty theater. How is she able to wring your emotions as you watch her depict stark, overpowering terror, or the sorrow that rends the heart?
It is all a matter of personal magnetism. Miss Gish herself would not tell you it is because of personal magnetism that she won success—she would not even talk of success, but the interviewer recently, by leading the subject to an impersonal viewpoint, was able to gain the star's ideas.
Asked what she thought personal magnetism secretaries.

"And that?"
"Barrie answers the question in the words he puts in the mouth of Maggie Wylie in 'What Every Woman Knows.' Do you remember them?—'It's a sort of bloom on a woman. If you have it, you don't need to have anything else; and if you don't have it, it doesn't matter much what else you have. Some women, the few, have charm for all, and most have charm for none.'
"And to me, Barrie is without a peer in his understanding of women."

HUDSON STYLES ARE ORIGINAL

"In the presentation of its current body styles the Hudson Motor Car company is establishing at least one precedent in the motor car history," says John Martin, Hudson-Exeex distributor.

"The president is this: 'Of the four Hudson body styles which are being manufactured for the Super-Six chassis, three are the originals of the Hudson Motor Car company. They are styles which were first introduced by Hudson, which were given their distinctive names by Hudson and which won their way to the public's favor under Hudson sponsorship.'

"These three cars are the sedan, the speedster and the coach. The first sedan which the motor car market knew was manufactured by Hudson in 1913. The very idea of an enclosed car with one compartment for driving and family was considered radical, because it was generally thought certain that an enclosed car owner would employ a chauffeur. Hudson had the sedan market to itself for a substantial period, and has never lost its leadership in this style of car.

"Hudson presents these facts of leadership because it is honestly proud in having made these contributions to motor car progress, and because it believes in all modesty that they furnish interesting evidence of a vital spirit of creative enterprise.

"To the fourth car in line, the seven-passenger phaeton, Hudson has contributed its quota to ideas, including wide doors, stream lines, and slanting windshield. But it claims no basic originality.

"All four cars have undergone numerous improvements, and are today the handsomest styles Hudson has ever shown, as well as exceptional values in dependable, comfortable construction. With them, Hudson looks forward to a year of outstanding success."

IVORY SHORTAGE DUE TO EARTHQUAKE

SEATTLE, Wash., April 22.—Inability to aid an eastern correspondent in placing an order for ivory is attributed by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce to the destruction of large quantities of elephant ivory in the Japanese earthquake of last September, the carving of the Alaska tourist curio trade, and the increased use of ivory in snail jungle sets and cigarette holders.
The shortage is expected to be alleviated somewhat on the return of trading vessels from the north next summer. Prices offered hunters have increased considerably.
