KEEP AN EYEN EYE

Petty thievery of almost every description has become rampant night to Klamath Falls and the city.

Klamath Falls is built over an elevated area and it is almost impossible for a police force of three to patrol the city.

The police and sheriff are to blame for the situation. It is for every one to remember, a point which is often overlooked.

It is a pity that the police department is so small. It is a pity that the sheriff is so inefficient.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

It is a pity that the city is so small. It is a pity that the city is so small.

PROGRESS

GET RID OF RATS AND MICE

By EDGAR W. COOLEY, Agricultural Extension Department, International Harvester Company

The rat is man's most relentless foe. It is more destructive to property than all the great conflagrations of history.

Not only do rats and mice destroy food, but they have been known to destroy furniture, bedding, clothing, books, valuable papers, harness, and personal property of all kinds.

There is always danger in using poison. It is better to make generous use of the many kinds of rat traps. A frequent rat drive or "killing" will prove effective.

There is no easy way to get rid of rats but it can be done with intelligent and persistent effort.

The homes and breeding places of rats must be destroyed. They must be starved, killed or driven away.

Outdoor wood piles on any place where rubbish and tin cans are dumped give excellent protection to rats.

There is no easy way to get rid of rats but it can be done with intelligent and persistent effort.

HUNT'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT, NEA Service Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.—The first move of the La Follette convention, called for Cleveland July 4, promises to be a physical one.

The demand for representation as delegates from this, that and the other organization qualified for representation is so heavy that the present outlook is the B. of L. E. auditorium, where the meetings were first scheduled, would be packed to the doors with the delegates alone.

Last but not least, there would be no room for the news-per and magazine representatives. And without these last there would be no adequate dissemination of the news of the event, on which the great degree hangs the understanding of and support for the conference's mission.

Delegates and visitors to the Cleveland conference will be confronted at the convention hall by the startling query, blazoned on striking hand-bills: "Are You a COTUSA?"

This is to warn delegates in advance, so they may not fight first and inquire the meaning of the word later. Being asked if you are a Cotusa doesn't mean that you are suspected of being some new brand of mental or moral renegade.

Briefly, the organization, which draws its name from the initials of "Citizens of the U. S. A.," seeks to stop the reign of rumor and gossip about the honesty and integrity of public officials.

E. G. Wilson who has been spending sometime with his son Harry, expects to leave for The Dalles country where he will "lend separator" on D. E. Johnson's threshing, and so know that means clean grain.

Mrs. G. L. Hollbrook and daughter Helen, and Mrs. Puckett and three children of Klamath Falls, were visitors at the home of Dallas Powell and wife of Malin Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Moody who live near Shasta View are entertaining their two daughters, Mrs. H. E. Baehner and Mrs. Esther Brown of Seattle for a few days.

A new serum is supposed to destroy the taste for alcohol, but if bootleg booze fails no serum will succeed.

OFFICE CAT

Dear Office Cat: Please state in your column what is good in fruit-tree worms. A. B.

"A. B.," What's the matter with the worms?" Yes, Russell, no man who smacks on a clock would be convicted of killing time if the clock struck first!

The artist and the forget have one thing in common. They both work their living by gun work. Women really are superior. No man could chatter cheerfully while kicking his wife's shins under the table.

The hard thing about bedtime stories, is to make them simple enough for the younger ones to understand and rousing enough for the older ones to enjoy.

She—You had no right to kiss me like that. He—All right, I'll try it another way.

According to the calendar which began on the 24th of March, we seem to have a surplus of stock in the market.

If poor old Uncle Tom had cabin in Klamath Falls today he could rent it for enough to become a millionaire.

Falling in love is about like being in love. Both are up more than they are down.

The Anonias Club if you speaking you, said the and to his young son, not being a heavy it but to relieve by own feelings.

A strike bell in says, "The shoes will be conservative." Other words, many men will what might be suspected of being the same old shoes.

Frank—Why is a chicken an apple? Ernest—Don't know. Frank—You have to guess to get into a chicken is supposed to be a chicken is supposed to be a chicken.
