

WAR CLAIMS SET BY COMMISSION

Awards Made to Americans For Damages Done By Germany

WASHINGTON, July 10.—A recapitulation of the work accomplished by the German-American Mixed Claims Commission since its organization up to the present time, shows that 439 awards aggregating more than $14,500,000 have been made in favor of American firms and individuals on claims against Germany for losses sustained in the world war through death or property damage. In addition to the principal, Germany will be required to pay five percent interest on each claim allowed from the date of the award to the time of payment. No payments will be made by Germany, however, until the commission concludes its labors and a funding method is determined upon.

When the commission adjourned recently for the summer it had pending before it 12,416 claims amounting to approximately $500,000,000, including one by the United States government for $255,544,810, representing the cost of the American army of occupation. This claim, however, is expected to be settled through other than commission channels. Of the more than 12,000 pending claims, 2,044 have been considered by the American and German agencies of the commission and are ready for final action.

Wilhelm Kieselbach, German commissioner, recently went to Germany for the summer and will return to Washington early in the fall when the commission contemplates resuming its sessions. Robert W. Boyne, American agent on the commission, and Agent von Lewinski of Germany, accompanied by attorneys and assistants, will sail on separate steamers July 9 for Germany where evidence necessary to adjudicate American claims not obtainable in this country will be investigated.

While Germany is obligated to pay the amounts agreed upon by the Mixed Claims Commission, it remains to be decided where she will get the funds for such payments.

Once the question of how the claims are to be met is determined, Germany will pay the American government, which, in turn, will remit the amount of the respective awards to the individual claimants.

TOURISTS MOVE TOWARDS PARKS

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The national parks throughout the country are being visited by unprecedented numbers of sightseers, some of whom travel from coast to coast by automobile to get a glimpse of the natural scenic wonders of the great open spaces of the west.

Reports to the National Park Service of the Interior Department say there were 4,611 visitors to Yellowstone for the month ended June 15, a 125 per cent increase for the same period last year when a record of 158,252 for the season was established.

A big increase in the automobile travel to Yosemite in California is shown, 8,550 of the 11,745 persons visiting the park during May traveling in 2,569 cars, an increase of 59 percent over May of last year, and a total increase of 29 per cent, considering all means of travel. To June 7 the total had reached 23,109, more than half of whom went in 4,300 automobiles. The 1923 season mark was 139,046 for Yosemite.

The reports state that Crater Lake, Oregon, has experienced a banner pre-season period, due principally to the attractions afforded campers of the west. On June 15 a total of 1,443 automobiles carrying 4,226 visitors from 32 states, including Maine, Vermont, New York, Washington, D. C. and Texas, had toured the park. At this time last year, due to a later opening, not a single visitor had entered the park. The 1923 season mark was 52,017.

The spectacle of a native Marquesan from the South Sea Isles rhapsodizing while floundering about in the snow, the first he had ever seen, is mentioned in the Crater Lake reports.

Travel to Mt. Ranier, Washington, increased 32 per cent in May compared with that month last year, 6,075 of the tourists going in 1,515 automobiles compared with 3,246 in 884 cars in May, 1923. On June 15 the gain was 193 percent over last year when the season mark was 125,708.

One of the features of Mt. Ranier, as reported to the park service, is a two to three mile drive through a channel in the snow five to ten feet deep, the tourists being taken through a snow tunnel to enter Paradise Inn, one of the park's attractions.

In one recent week 430 cars carrying 1,394 tourists passed through Sequoia park, California, where the "General Sherman," the largest and oldest tree in the world, 275 feet in diameter, is located. More than 30,000 persons visited Sequoia in 1923.

RUCKER HERE TO CONDUCT SALE

Tom Rucker, known to many here by reason of visits in other years, is in Klamath Falls and today announces he will conduct a sale for the Perkin Furniture Company, one of the city's progressive establishments.

The visitor is greatly impressed with the growth manifest in the district and says he is glad to get back for a time and shake hands with old acquaintances.

"Of all the cities I have stopped in the past year, Klamath Falls, size considered, stands head and shoulders above them," Mr. Rucker declares. "I am positive that this city must become one of the important points of the northwest. Here you have the land and the water and the class of citizens who realize their worth."

"As stated I shall conduct a sale for Mr. Perkins. His store, I find, is stocked unusually well for a city of this size, comparing favorably with establishments in the larger communities and so complete that one can furnish a home from cellar to garret. We have made prices I feel sure will attract and I look for many who have been waiting for furniture bargains to take advantage of this opportunity."

Wall Street Crowds Have More Women

Figures Show that Feminine Employees Ratio Is Increasing

NEW YORK, July 10.—Wall Street is becoming more and more dependent upon women; the average space for each office worker in the financial district of Manhattan has been cut down over six percent in the last decade; bankers maintain more magnificent quarters and give their employees less elbow room than all other tenants of the most pretentious skyscrapers.

These are the outstanding conclusions of experts of the Building Owners' and Managers' Association, after a survey of a group of the world's largest office buildings undertaken to obtain data for the use of architects in designing skyscrapers of the future.

Ten years ago when the last accurate door-to-door census of first-class office buildings in the Wall Street district was taken, it was found that there were four men employees for every woman and that the average floor space for each worker was 125 square feet.

A similar census in a typical office building recently revealed that in a total population for the structure of 19,368, the proportion of men to women was only two to one, and that the average working space had been reduced to 107 square feet.
