LINCOLN'S EXAMPLE

There is a lesson that we all may well take to heart in the life of Abraham Lincoln.

Summed up in a few words, it can be expressed thus: Whether you reach the top or not depends pretty much upon yourself!

Lincoln was born of poor parents. Friends, social life, even ordinary opportunities were denied him. He knew only hard work under the worst conditions.

But it only spurred him on. He looked ahead—and dreamed.

There were no libraries for him to turn to. The benefits of our present day schooling were not his. So he borrowed what books he could, and read and worked—and dreamed on!

Lincoln gave himself an education. As he read, in front of an open fireplace, his dreams grew bigger—but never were they dreams of personal power.

Time let him gradually find his place in the scheme of things. Dreams began to come true. But only after he had studied them out and worked them out for himself.

Lincoln, of course, did not know what his goal was going to be. He did not think of going "from prairie cabin to capitol." He only dreamed of bigger and better things—and then did them. The whole world benefited by the reward that came to him.

There is room, in this world, for more dreamers—who are big enough to MAKE their dreams come true!

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

(Taken from the files of the Evening Herald, Feb. 12, 1915.)

That "everything comes to he who waits" was borne out here this week when Paul Lambert and Will Lambert received patents to the homesteads on Cherry creek, they have been fighting for 12 years. The tracts are each 160 acres in extent containing fine timber.

A round trip rate of $20 to the Panama-Pacific International exposition is in effect for the opening of the fair. Besides this, there is a 30 day limit with stop-over privileges galore.

After a lingering illness Dr. John A. Chastain, the pioneer physician of Klamath county passed away at his home near Bonanza just before midnight last night. The funeral will be held at Bonanza at 2 p. m. tomorrow afternoon.

Dr. C. V. Fisher left yesterday morning for New York city where he will spend two months at the New York graduate school taking a post-graduate course in his specialty, eye, ear and throat treatment.

Project Manager J. G. Camp, Irrigation Manager G. G. Fry and Engineer Willard Smith of the reclamation service, returned last night from Orland, California where they attended the operation and maintenance conference of the Pacific division of the reclamation service. W. L. Dalton and Frank Adams, who attended as representatives of the Klamath Water User's association went on to San Francisco today.

CALIFORNIA FIGHTS INCOMPETENT BOBS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—Hobbed hair is responsible for at least one menace, according to the state labor department, through the establishment of the so-called hair-bobbing schools. So many of these schools are operating in California and charging high fees for incompetent instruction that legislation will be sought to put them out of business, or else compel them to teach at least an elementary course in practical hair-cutting, said the department officials.

Light is the speediest thing that exists. It rushes onward at the appalling rate of 186,000 miles a second. In a single second of time a light-ray would flash round the earth no less than seven and a half times.

HUNT'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Radio cannot yet compete with newspapers in the broadcasting of national news in the belief of President Coolidge.

White House opinion and White House comment, therefore, will continue to be broadcast through the medium of Washington correspondents rather than through crystal sets and super heterodynes.

Radio interests, anxious to extend the field of broadcasting to cover the most important news sources in business and government have been most anxious to line President Coolidge up as a regular speaker on the air.

They have extolled his as the ideal radio voice. They have stressed the idea that via radio he could maintain virtually a personal contact with the whole country.

The popular expression of approval which followed the President's speech on economy a week ago, in his address to the bureau of the budget, which was broadcast through a dozen stations, made the present seem an opportune time for pushing the idea of developing what some have described as a "wireless president."

Regular radio addresses—once a month, twice a month—were suggested. But, whether from conservatism or canniness no one knows, Coolidge shook his head.

"I find I am able to broadcast my views very effectively through the newspaper men," he said. "I do not believe there is any necessity for any fixed program of radio talks by the president."

Secretary Jim Davis' decision to retire from the cabinet and then his reelection to remain at the head of the Department of Labor is causing his colleagues to "kid" him a bit.

Jim, they say, reminds them of the fellow who rushed up to the ticket window just as the train was pulling in and shouted:

"Gimme a round trip ticket."
"Where to? where to?" demanded the ticket seller.

"Why, back here of course, y' blamed fool."
The ticket Jim really wanted, they insist, was one that would bring him right back where he started from. And that's what he

"Home Manager-- Purchasing Agent-- Art Director--Wife"

Just a slim girl, maybe, or a motherly woman with sweet eyes and white hair—but what a responsibility is hers!

She is the active partner in the business of running a home. She buys most of the things which go to make home life happy, healthful and beautiful. Through her slim, safe fingers goes most of the family money.

And wisely and well it is usually spent too—far better than the average man could spend it himself. For women are better purchasing agents than men. They compare prices, weigh values and shop carefully.

They read advertisements regularly. Every day you'll find the wise little home manager searching the advertising columns for news that will add to the comfort, find the same clever purchasing agent studying the advertisements to find where and when to buy, and what and how to buy most economically. The advertisements, too, tell this responsive art director how she can make her home more beautiful, more individual—the kind of home that a man appreciates but never knows how it is done!

Advertisements are the wise counsellors in the spending of money that the clever housewife heeds daily.

The business of running a home is made easier
by reading the advertisements
