ROAD CONDITION IS MUCH BETTER

Ashland-Klamath Highway in Good Shape for Auto Traffic

Ashland-Klamath Falls highway is in good condition and automobile traffic including stage service is not being held up to any extent by the few rough places on the roads. The report brought back to Klamath by a number of Sunday motorists who yesterday took advantage of bright sunshine to take a drive on Klamath state highways.
Officials of the state highway department point out that the road bed has withstood the onslaughts of inclement weather (thawing, rain, and freezing) far better than was expected considering conditions. Only at the Miller rock crusher on Spencer ranch is the road in such condition that an automobile might become stuck, and then only when the driver steers out of the ruts.
For a distance of 100 feet, where there was a base failure, it is necessary to pull through in low gear. Aside from this one place, the road is in excellent condition.
There is snow on the highway between Spencer ranch and the top of Green Springs highway. In the report from maintenance crews, between two and three feet fell last week. Most of the snow was cleared off the road and that which remains is packed down, providing a smooth and safe passage for all vehicles.
Generally speaking, highway engineers state, the Ashland-Klamath Falls highway has exceeded expectations. Last year, the first winter that the road was kept open for the year, was not a real test, owing to the extremely dry winter and lack of moisture. But this year the phenomenal weather conditions has brought problems to solve on Klamath state highways that have taxed the maintenance department.

North of Klamath Falls, the highway is in splendid condition although choppy in some spots between Klamath Falls and Algona. The drive from Algona to Laman's mill and Klamath Agency is like a boulevard.
A deputy from the sheriff's office reported the road between Klamath Falls and Bonanza in good shape. The only rough stretch of road between Altamont camp ground and the gap at Olene. Beyond the road was in excellent condition. The highway is now being used in preference to the Poe Valley market road.

ATTEMPT TO FIND STREET ROBBERS

R. C. Diel was taken in custody Saturday night by police on suspicion of having something to do with, or having knowledge of, the assault a week ago on John Brown when Brown was knocked unconscious and his pockets rifled of $33. No charge is preferred against the man and he is being held in the city jail under an understanding that he will remain there until the case is more thoroughly investigated.
The police took a half dozen men in custody Saturday night and released all but Diel, when they proved to the satisfaction of the police that they had nothing to do with the assault.

NOTED ATHLETE TO LIVE HERE

Clyde J. (Red) Rupert to Locate in Klamath—Is Sports Authority

With the arrival here Saturday of Clyde J. "Red" Rupert, one of the best known sports authorities in the northwest, athletic activities in Klamath county should receive a decided impetus. Rupert arrived here to locate permanently and will be in the employ of the California, Oregon Power company.
Rupert is a football and baseball player whose name was known throughout the state a few years ago. For 11 years he was one of the mainstays of the Multnomah club team in Portland. He has also played even longer than that in semi-professional and professional baseball circles, and during recent years has had great success as a football coach.
Not only is he an authority on these two sports, but he is likewise a trainer of boxers, and for years was one of the chief boxing referees in Portland and other points in the northwest. He has had marked success either as a player or trainer in practically every line of athletic sports.

Muscle Shoals Again to Worry Senators

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—A tentative agreement was reached today by senate leaders to call up the conference report on the Underwood Muscle Shoals private leasing bill Wednesday.
The plan to bring it up today was abandoned because of an appropriation jam. Senator Bursum, republican, New Mexico, then insisted that his bill providing for the retirement of emergency officers be called up in the regular order and so it was agreed to bring up the Bursum bill next with Muscle Shoals legislation following immediately.
