Price

The price we ask you to pay for merchandise is based on our cost—plus handling cost and a small and reasonable profit.

When we place a selling price on our merchandise—based as above stated—we do not change that price until the market changes.

By comparison you will notice we never sell merchandise at a given price one day or week and then raise the price on the same merchandise the next day or week—we have one price for all our customers.

FORECLOSURES TO BE FEW THIS YEAR

Foreclosures on land because of delinquent taxes will not be pushed hard this year owing to the fact that the city has not sufficient funds to protect their equity by absorbing the liens of the county, City Recorder Lem J. Gaghagen said today. Instead pressure will be brought to bear upon the property holders to pay their delinquent taxes and get their property in good standing again.

Mr. Gaghagen felt that inasmuch as the town is prosperous that there will be a tendency this year to meet many of the liens held against property by the city and county.

WILLIAMS' HEARING SET FOR TOMORROW

Whether or not there is sufficient evidence to bind J. Williams, charged with larceny in a warehouse, over to the grand jury, will be determined tomorrow morning by Justice of the Peace R. E. Hansaker who will preside at his home at a hearing given Williams. Williams was arrested with two others and charged with stealing automobile tires and accessories from the W. D. Miller building on south Sixth street.

TO OPEN SHOP

Miss Clara Calkins and Miss Margaret Worden will open a millinery shop and baby's wearing apparel and giftery within the coming fortnight. The young women will have space in Barnhart's shop in the McCarthy building.

Fisher's Famous Blend Scones will be given to every one Saturday and Monday at SANTFORD & COMPANY—We want every one in town to have a scone made in an electric oven right before your eyes. They are FREE to every one—Full of Butter and Jam

Klamath III Wins—

The Klamath high school quintet turned the tables on the Pelican City club men last night when they returned to Klamath Falls with the basketball victory under their arm. Final score was Klamath 27; Pelicans 25. Apparently evenly matched the two teams fought during the entire four quarters and not until the last minute of play, when the Klamath men shot a field basket, did the game decide itself. The basketball game was followed by an invitational dance at which a large number of Klamath Falls residents were guests.

Real Estate Men—
