MOM'N POP

"MEOW-PS-S-T!"

BY TAYLOR

AT THE LIBERTY

Motion picture fights which have become history on the screen fade into insignificance before the daring of Al Wilson, world-famous stunt aviator...

Photographic interviews appearing in addition to the regular program at the Liberty Theatre Friday night, are going to be of more than usual interest to local people.

"Western Yesterdays" is the title of the big Western picture that will be seen at the Liberty Theatre Friday.

AT THE PINE TREE

Who stole the gems? Why did he—or she—take them? Where were those marvelous pearls hidden?

One of the most mysterious gem-theft mysteries ever posed is said to be a high-light in Vitagraph's "The Redeeming Sin," the J. Stuart Blackton production which comes to the Pine Tree Theatre today for a run of two days.

Nastimova is the star of this photodrama, which, in itself, should be sufficient to pack the house at every performance.

Admirers of Lou Tellegen will be glad to know that he has the leading man's role. He appears as the head of the notorious Paris Apaches—a red-blooded, he-man who whips everybody who comes his way.

Every scene is laid in Paris—another world—and the underworld of that mystery city is revealed with all its romance and tragedy.

STRANGE PET IS KEPT IN BLANKET

CONNELLSVILLE Pa., Mar. 12.—Mrs. Margaret Cecil, of Dunbar, has a strange taste in pets. In a warm corner of her house lives a boa constrictor, 18 feet long and more than one foot in diameter.

Sixteen years ago, Mrs. Cecil toured Brazil with a circus. Some one presented her with a young constrictor, two weeks old, and she accepted the gift. Faithful to her charge, she brought the snake home and raised it.

DEADHEADS FILL OLYMPIC SEATS

Newspaper Correspondents Numbered Among Free Entrants to Games

PARIS, Mar. 12.—A total of 589,245 spectators, 150,681 of whom were deadheads, attended the Olympic Games last summer, according to official figures.

The large percentage of the deadheads has been the subject of comment by the government, which advanced the funds for the erection of the stadium. Under that head were classified guests of the committee, officials of the various nations represented, friends of the athletes and politicians.

One polo match at Saint Cloud in July had 978 paid admissions and 1,022 deadheads. The yachting competition at Meulan shows 27 paying and 973 invited guests, while 5,487 enjoyed the regattas at Le Havre without disbursing for tickets and only 153 paid for the pleasure.

The Paris competitions proved to be the greatest event of the sort since the renewal of the games in 1896. Forty five nations, 5,700 athletes and 1,200 officials participated but the work of organizing and

TRADERS PASS UP LOAN AID

LONDON, Mar. 12.—Several millions of pounds sterling are waiting at the department of overseas trade for British traders to borrow, but they do not come forward.

British trade is believed to be on the upgrade and the department is at a loss to know why exporters do not take advantage of the facilities. Practically, they are asking people to borrow money and participate in the scheme, which for a small premium guarantees payment of bills drawn by exporters against export of British goods, and under certain conditions participates in any loss.

DONATION TO GO FOR REPARATION

VERSAILLES, Mar. 12.—The Franco-American commission entrusted with the task of superintending the expenditure of the million dollar Rockefeller donation for renovation and repairs at Versailles, Rheims and Fontainebleau, has decided to put money to work immediately restoring the roofs, floors, and drainage system of the Versailles palace.

The work at Rheims and Fontainebleau will not be started until the spring. Such is the dilapidated condition of the palace at Versailles however, that architects advised immediate work for rest rains and another winter utterly spoil priceless tapestries through leaky roofs.

staging them was done by the smallest staff on record. This consisted of only 150 employees. About 150 officials, trainers and managers accompanied the American Olympic team to France.

The games attracted a record number of newspaper correspondents. A total of 724 press cards were issued, 514 to foreign reporters and 210 to Frenchmen. The foreigners sent 13,574 telegrams carrying a total of 896,576 words.
