

MILADY TO BE SHOWN LATEST CREATIONS AT LEGION AUTO EXHIBIT

Merchants Throughout City Cooperate With Klamath Falls Post at Show—Kiddies' Frocks and Dresses to Be Included in Fashion Show Friday Night

When Milord steps into his carriage to view the latest accessories in the automobile line, Milady does not plan on sitting on a cushion and sewing a fine seam, especially on Friday night, and she will probably step behind him to show in the new Johnson garage on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week, to get her eye and ear full of the last word.

Especially will she go on Friday night; so quoth others for that is the night of nights, when the fairest of the fair of Klamath Falls and the most manly of the manly of the fair city will display what is worn by the elite and best dressed man and woman of the fashion world today.

Merchants throughout the city, including H. N. Moe, Hector's E. W. Vannice of the Golden Rule store, K. K. K. store, Sugarman's, hats from Miss Gertrude's and furs from the Northern Fur shop, will unite in the one idea of helping the Legion make the automobile show a success and each store has selected their own type of beauty to display their frocks, wrappers, ensembles, coats and sport outfits. The men, of course, will not be so interested in the frivolous things, however, they are expected to crane their necks unconsciously and watch the latest in beltless models, twenty-two inch trousers and Dobb's hats. The man hasn't been forgotten, not in the least. According to the men's furnishing stores that are participating, their models will far outdo the women in pulchritude for Klamath Falls seems to boast a colony of Adonis that no other section of Oregon can.

And not only has the fashionable woman been remembered in the plan of the style show, but the kiddies, as well, and four little models, three little girls and one small boy, have been chosen to wear the little bits of ruffle and lace that are dear to every child's heart. The little models are Marjorie Southwell and Dixie Elaine Emmons from the Golden Rule showing and Bobbie Jester and Geraldine Houston from those that display the frocks of the Ladies' Store.

The merchants are to be complimented on their cooperation with the American Legion and from that standpoint alone the automobile show will be a success. The fashion show, although only shown on Friday night, is expected to create a sensation throughout the city and the many fans who profess only an interest in the latest Mercer or Buick will also find a hidden enjoyment in the manner which the little models are going to perform, a manner in which the mannequins of Paris can not compete. The fashion show is going a long way to make the efforts of the automobile men one of the most interesting in the annals of the four wheeled car.

NEWS OF THE KLAMATH COUNTRY

HENLEY

Henley High school will have a new baseball diamond for the coming season. The ground is in the best shape and the players are practicing hard so as to be ready for the first game of the season with Maullin at Malibu, March 27.

The annual contest at Henley High for the Lincoln Memorial medal was won by Dorothy Short. One of these medals is given to each high school in the United States which enters the contest. The rules governing the contest are left to the discretion of the school officials. Those adopted by Henley were: First, no limit to length of essay; second, three judges, chosen by the Senior class; third, the presentation of the medal by the English teacher, Mrs. Alice Miller, at the commencement exercises.

The judges chosen were Rev. C. C. Hulet of Merrill, Mrs. O. A. Schwartz and Mr. P. M. Nash of Henley.

RECEIVES THE AWARD LINCOLN ESSAY

By birth and by training Lincoln was in a literal sense a man of the common people. He was what he was by virtue of inborn greatness. Born in a log cabin and with his entire schooling covering not more than a year, he could make no claim to aristocratic blood to scholarship or to social prestige.

Lincoln as we know was a hard worker also for he had to help his father earn the family living.

After he passed the age of twenty-eight he went to Springfield and studied law. After some long, hard studying with judges, attorneys and other officers of the law, Lincoln became a lawyer. His office became a court of conciliation, and he did all he could to help people in adjusting their troubles.

"Lincoln's ability in the courts gave him a reputation which seems almost unique. There have been advocates with more notable gifts of learning and eloquence, than he could command; but few, if any, moved through the courts with such large measures of esteem."

Lincoln's honesty and ability as a leader led him to be elected to the legislature in 1834 and here he retained his seat until 1842. After he left the legislature he set up offices with two different partners. His second partnership was dissolved in 1843 when the partners became rival candidates for election to Congress. Here Lincoln was defeated but he won a Congressional seat in 1846 and served one term.

He consistently voted and talked against slavery and when he resumed his law practice in Springfield, he became one of the best known lawyers of the state.

The great slavery controversy could not fail to awaken his interest in political issues, and in 1854 he publicly announced his opposition to Senator S. A. Douglas. His speeches were so logical and forcible that the Whigs chose him their candidate for Senator. Although defeated in his candidacy for the Senate, Lincoln attracted the attention of the whole country in the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates.

Soon he was mentioned as a candidate for President and his famous Cooper Union speech at New York made him one of the most conspicuous figures in Republican politics.

His election was a signal for success.
(Continued On Page Nine)

Attend the Auto Show

and of course you will want a new spring suit to go with that new car--our new Spring Eight

Kuppenheimer

suits have just the speed and power that you will want ... and when it comes to easy riding, a pair of Nettleton Oxfords will get you over the rough places with ease and comfort. Shade your eyes, while driving, with a new spring Knox Hat. We have some fast, high-powered suits for spring at $30, $35 and up to $50

SEE THE NEW MODELS

Klamath Clothing Kompany

LEADING CLOTHIERS.