IRISH JUSTICE NOVEL ACT AT HI-JINKS SHOW

George Barnhart Is Good as Judge of the Court

Crater Lake Shrine Club has a most novel act called "Irish Justice." This act is most unique and, from all reports of last night's rehearsal, it is going to be a laugh from start to finish. With George Barnhart as Judge of the court, R. M. Andrews as District Attorney and H. J. Hickerson as Lawyer Bum. These three form a circle of many laughs. With the cases to be tried are Jessie Emmons, for stealing a lamb, Zela Jones, a woman of the world, Gertruda Glaver, who is to appear for exceeding the speed limit in life, and George Metz, who has to appear to defend himself for petty larceny. Mr. Allen Jones, who is the arresting officer and the complaining witness will keep up his end of the fun making in this court.

This act was originally put on by the famous George M. Cohan and played on the bright lighted street of Broadway for five seasons straight, without ever leaving New York. This is the first time this act has been shown on the Pacific coast. The manuscript of this play was secured for the Crater Lake Shrine club through the influence and under difficulty by Mr. Frank Confer, who played the part of George M. Cohan act.

Klamath Agency after a health inspection trip throughout the eastern part of the reservation.

"The epidemic has been very extensive on the reservation. The large majority of cases, however, are nothing but light colds and coughs, without pneumonic complications. So far no deaths have resulted directly from influenza or complications following the flu. I have one case now, however, that is very serious.

"The reservation epidemic has been similar to that in Klamath Falls, Dr. Rogers said. "About one half the Indians on the reservation have been ill with the flu.

"I feel that the epidemic has run its course. About everybody on the reservation that is going to catch the disease is ill at this time."
