NOW WE WILL SEE

With the application of R. E. Strahorn for permit to build 743 miles of railroad in Lake, Klamath and Deschutes county, the Southern Pacific, the Hill lines, the O. C. & E. or some mighty power behind the throne will be forced to show their hand. Back of the beyond, the hand of an expert has been seen moving the chessman on the gigantic railroad chess board of Central and Southern Oregon. The hand was seen in the application by the penurious N. C. & O. for extension north from Lakeview to Odell. It was seen in the attempt to bottle Klamath Falls by securing franchises for three spur lines whose tentacles would embrace the entire city. And, it is now seen in the application of the O. C. & E. railroad for a permit to build three extensions from the terminal at Sprague River, at an estimated cost of $4,500,000.

The firm belief of railroad authorities was that the Southern Pacific was behind the N. C. & O. movement to block the Northern lines in their drive for the Klamath basin country. The same belief prevails in the application of the O. C. & E., a railroad which from its own earnings, is just as poverty stricken as its sister line in Lake county.

It is a foregone conclusion that the interstate commerce commission will take no steps toward the granting of the application until the O. C. & E. railroad shows who holds the purse strings. The mere statement of Mr. Strahorn that he has the money will not be sufficient to the commission. They know, as do all of us, that somebody is producing the crisp greenbacks for Mr. Strahorn and in their attempt to be just in the controversy between the northern lines and the S. P. they will demand to know where the money comes from.

Then we all will know the identity of the fine hand that has been moving the scenes on the railroad stage of the Klamath country.

YESTERDAY'S SOLUTION

HUNT'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Mention has been made, in recent dispatches from here of a "Borah bloc" in the United States Senate. Just who the members of this bloc are, however, and by what characteristics they can be identified, have not been made plain.

The fact is, of course, that the term "Borah bloc" has been used simply as a handy tag to tie to the group of independently-minded Republicans who have declined to permit themselves to be bound by their party's caucus, and who claim the right to vote their own views on public questions regardless of what party "leaders" proclaim to be their duty.

To this number might, properly, be added those members recently ousted from G. O. P. party councils, on charges of irregularity.

Borah was their champion in the hour of their chastisement. His insurgency is no less real, if more discreet, than was theirs. They will fight with him and for him, en bloc or independently, as occasion requires.

Whether properly labeled as "bloc" or not, and whether fairly grouped under a Borah banner, there no longer remains any doubt but that there is in the new Senate an insurgent group that can make itself felt effectively.

This group has now been picturesquely named "the backbone of the Senate."

Before one qualifies for membership he must have proven the stiffness of his backbone by standing up, unwaveringly, under the load of public criticism, social ostracism and partisan abuse resulting from voting his individual opinion against his party's mandate.

Borah himself says there is a dearth of stiff backbones in Washington. Particularly in the Senate.

"It is much easier in Washington," says Borah, "to go along than it is to disagree. If there is any atmosphere in God's world that weakens a man's backbone, it is the atmosphere of Washington. The process is constant and drastic."

Just why senatorial insurgents should be described at this time as "the Borah bloc" is not apparent. The most likely guess is that the name was designated in an effort to discredit the influence and prestige of Borah.

By getting before the country a picture of him as leading a "bloc," as undertaking to organize a group which he could lead in opposition to the president or to his party's leadership in the Senate, it may be hoped to minimize the force and effect of his later opposition to certain projected party policies.

But accepting the tag of "Borah bloc" as one that will be much used to describe the insurgent Republican group, it should be recognized that the bloc was formed around Borah, as the most effective champion of its more important principles, rather than having been formed by Borah as a club with which to pound his opponents.

Personally, Borah continues to play, as he always has a "lone hand." Others can come along if they wish, and welcome. But he doesn't change his play in order to make room for them.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENED WEDNESDAY

With much enthusiasm shown baseball practice opened in earnest Wednesday evening with a practice game with the Evening Herald nine. The boys showed up very good for the first game of this sort and expect to develop into one of the fastest teams in Southern Oregon.

The team, which will most likely be chosen next Monday, will play Merrill HI on Tuesday at 2:30. The game will probably be played at the fairgrounds.

The initial sack will be held down by either Stewart, Molatore, Yancey or Soule.

Peltz, Hall, Yarns and Stewart agree to fight it out for second sack.

Jimmy Boyd probably will have no trouble in holding down short. Kerwin, Yancey and Wm. Smith will have a battle for third the rest of the week.

This infield will be backed up by an outfield led by Captain Christy and composed of G. Smith, L. Gull, Jos Bliss, H. Greybull, Paynter, Colson and Connors.

The backstop position will be well filled by Beckley and Grimm, both last year men.

A good pitching staff is also expected. We have in line for the mound "Speed" Stewart, "Fade-away" Molatore, and G. Smith.

Track & Baseball Meeting
A meeting of all track men was held with the baseball meeting Thursday p. m. Plans for both athletics were discussed.

The Klamath-Merrill game, which was to be played Friday, March 27, has been postponed until March 31. This is caused by basketball and lack of practice. The delay will give both teams more practice. Klamath will have to get its diamond in shape during the week end.

The game is expected to be a fast one, so everybody should come and see it. Klamath's line up has not been decided on as yet.

THE WEATHER

The weather during the past month has been what everybody calls glorious, beautiful, etc., and it really has been wonderful. But did you notice the dyspeptic bunch of report cards the students slunk home with a couple of weeks ago. They were certainly bad but who is to blame? We students can find nobody to blame but Miss Mack and the weather.

TO RECEIVE LETTERS

The student body voted to give the student council power to award a K to the yell leader in the future. If the council decides that the yell leader has worked faithfully during the year it will award a K and Y monogram.

ORCHESTRA ENTERTAINS

The O. A. C. Jazz orchestra entertained the student body with a few numbers Thursday morning. The students thoroughly appreciated their coming to the school.

OUR OPERETTA

You all remember the high school operetta last year and the year before. Weren't they about the best things you ever saw in this town in the way of a stage production? Of course they were; remember the excellent choruses and solos, and the beautiful costumes and scenery. This year our Oriental operetta will be more colorful than ever.

But now the point we want to get at is that every loyal citizen should boost and support a local production. When you buy a ticket for the operetta you will help the high school and help the city. Buy your ticket early this year and don't consider it charity for you are assured more than your money's worth.

NUMBER POSTPONED

Our El Rodeo Booster Number has been postponed again due to a conflict of the sales campaign with the operetta. This number is devoted to the operetta.

"THE" BASKET BALL GAME

Last evening, Tuesday 24th, was indeed a fatal night for Klamath High. We wonder if the players didn't have just a "streak of bad luck" as we have seen better playing than was exhibited, even at practice games. Anyway we have lost the game between Klamath HI and Merrill HI. But now is not the time to mourn our ill luck but plan on our next chance to really "show our stuff."

Before the game started there was a tense feeling that seemed to hold the onlookers. This was especially shown when either side had a chance for a free throw, as the crowds were so quiet. The Klamath High students did not give up hope until they heard the final whistle. A good school spirit was shown throughout the game on both sides. We can appreciate Merrill's victorious feeling, as we expect to have the same in our future games.

MERRILL HIGH COUNTY VICTOR

In the last and hardest game of the season, Merrill defeated Klamath High in a basketball game at Pelican City last night by a score of 16 to 10.

At the opening of the game it seemed as though both teams were evenly matched, as they each scored one point almost immediately. However, the Merrill shooters soon buckled down to work and had gained a lead of two points at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter both teams put up a hard fight. Klamath scored two additional points while Merrill had scored four, making a score of 7 to 3 in favor of Merrill.

In the third quarter both teams scored again. Merrill making six points and Klamath four. The score now stood 13 to 7. It looked rather dubious for Klamath, but they did not give up hope.

In the fourth quarter each team scored the same number of points, Klamath making three and Merrill likewise. The final score stood 16 to 10 in favor of Merrill.

Owing to the lack of proper facilities with which to practice, our boys were greatly handicapped; but we all know they put up a hard fight from start to finish and did their best to win the game.

OUT OF THE AIR

There are many kinds of mineral crystals in use as detectors, the most popular of the minerals being galena, silicon, iron pyrites, carborundum, zincite and various manufactured alloys.

All of these, if a good grade, are efficient and can be used in any set using crystal detectors. They have different characteristics and these should be considered when selecting one for personal use. First an unmounted piece of crystal is better than a mounted one because it has not been subjected to heat in fusing it to solder. Second, some crystals are very hard to adjust, although you may get excellent results when properly adjusted, others are easier to adjust but do not give so much volume.

Crystals are divided into two classes, those having unilateral conductivity, and those having bilateral conductivity. This means that one type allows energy to flow through it in two directions and the other, in only one. It must be remembered that this statement is purely general and that in all things there are exceptions.

Crystals of the unilateral type are the most sensitive but are a bit harder to adjust. Under this heading comes galena, iron, pyrites, etc.

The second class includes silicon, carborundum, and most fused materials. They are easy to adjust, unilateral, silicon is probably the best, and if kept clean is a loud detector, and because it is tough and pitted, it is easy to adjust and stays adjusted and set.
