OPERETTA SAID TO BE HUGE SUCCESS

Those persons who were fortunate to see the high school operetta, "In the Garden of the Shah" presented on Friday afternoon and evening, in the Pine Tree theatre, claim it to be the biggest success ever presented under the auspices of Klamath county high school. Miss Blaise McPherson directed the operetta, assisted by members of the faculty in the suggestion of character work and costumes.

Every member of the cast was at his best and voice control was especially commented upon. The principal roles were carried by the following students: Peruvab, the Shah, Lawrence Carroll; Someeraba, the Shiek, Herbert Wilson; Zahdah, the Shah's daughter, Josephine Meissner; Lahlah, her friend, Geraldine Mars; Nowobeh, Baddah's nurse, LaVerna Thomas; Ted Harding, from the U. S. A., Harry Peliz; Bill Cummings, from the U. S. A., Carl Yancey; Samuel Johnson Jackson, negro servant, Harry Molatore. The leads were splendidly supported by an admirable cast of 22 persons in perfect voice and cleverly costumed.

Scenes of the operetta were laid in the garden of a pompous Shah whose lovely daughter, Zahdah, falls in love with Ted Harding. Zahdah's friend, Lahlah, also falls in love with the other American, Bill Cummings. In order to carry out his promise to the Shiek, to whom Zahdah is betrothed, the Shah orders the mining engineers from the land. The Shiek turns out to be an impostor and the entire affair has a happy ending. Bits of humor are particularly noticeable during the presentation and the dancing was especially enjoyed.
