PRICE FIVE CENTS

TO EXHUME JACKSON BODY

U. S. District Attorney Neuner to Have Charge of Murder Probe

Freddie Jackson's body is to be exhumed. This was the word received here today over the Associated Press wire from Portland in which United States District Attorney George Neuner was quoted as saying Jackson's body would be examined in order to clear up the mystery which a deputy district attorney has attempted to make surrounding his death at Chilquin a month ago.

Jackson died a short time after he had fallen from a wild horse which he rode through the streets of Chilquin last month. After he was picked up from the ground unconscious it was found he had a fractured skull.

A few days after Jackson's death Indian friends of the boy voiced suspicion that he might have been fatally hurt in a fight with Silas Barclay and Louis Knight a short time prior to his death. A deputy district attorney held to the theory that Jackson might have been knocked unconscious and then placed astride the horse for his last ride.

This theory, however, was disproved by reputable white citizens of Chilquin, who witnessed the drunken ride of the reckless Indian youth. They saw the boy on the runaway horse and saw that he was conscious up until the moment he was tossed to the ground.

The dispatch from Portland indicates that the investigation has been taken out of the hands of the deputy district attorney and will be prosecuted by federal authorities, who are expected here the first of the week.

BOYS ATTEMPT TO ROB HABERDASHER

Presumed by police to be the work of boys, an attempt was made Wednesday night to break into the Wogery, on Main street between Sixth and Seventh streets, according to Fred Leonetti, proprietor. YAQUI TRIBESMEN BEGIN STAGING THEIR ANNUAL EASTER RITUALS

TUSCON, Ariz., April 10.—Lines of weird-looking Yaqui tribesmen gathered at the ancient village of Pasqua today at dawn and began their sacred Easter tribal dances in a desert stillness broken only by their mystic chanting and the rhythmic beating of rattles and tom toms.

Until Easter the dance goes on, exhaustion being the only cause for a redskin to drop from the dancing columns twirling to the strains of semi-barbaric music.

Taxicab Owner Wins Beanery, Bride and Bet

METUCHEN, N. J., April 10.—Metuchen was agog today at the sight of a bachelor who having won a bride, a bet and a beanery, spent the first evening of his honeymoon howling and showed no inclination to collect the bet.

Philip Kreps, owner of three taxicabs, wagered his machines against the restaurant operated by William A. Eichbaum that without having any particular girl in mind, he could secure a bride in 30 hours.

New Jersey laws require that 48 hours elapse before issuance of a marriage license and the ceremony. Kreps and his bride, Miss Aga Estelle Hollis, of Highland Park, went to St. George, R. I. where the ceremony was performed yesterday morning.

The newly weds returned last night. Kreps spent the evening howling showed no interest in the restaurant, saying he knew nothing about the serving of beans, and Mrs. Kreps could not be located.

DANCE BARGE IN WATER MAY 1ST

Venetian Water Palace to Be Christened With Due Ceremony

With final preparations under way, it was announced today that the new Venetian dance palace, now under construction, would be put in the water Saturday, May 30 with a fitting celebration and a christening for the barge. A company for the management of the dance barge has been formed with Frank Confer, treasurer; Harry Howard, superintendent of construction and Harold Bell, general manager. Johnny Houston's orchestra, with the addition of three new pieces has been contracted to play for three nights a week. According to Bell, there will be new features every week.

The barge, patterned after the famous dance palace of Lake Michigan floating off of Saugette, will be anchored 200 yards from the old Chelsea land dock with two barges, one for the patrons for landing and the other the dance barge proper. Klamath Falls is the only city in Oregon outside of Portland, to have a dance palace on the water and the only city between Portland and San Francisco on the coast.

SHEPHERD HELD IN ANOTHER MYSTERY

Traces of Mercurial Poison Detected in Body of Orphan's Mother

CHICAGO, April 10.—Enough mercury to have killed two persons has been found in the body of Mrs. Emma McClintock, mother of William McClintock, who William Shepherd, his foster father, is charged with killing with typhoid germs, Coroner Oscar Wolff said.

NEGRO VODOO Doctor Jailed In Weird Case

CAMDEN, N. J., April 10.—Prosecutor Westcott said today that charges of murder might be lodged against H. H. Hyghcock, negro voodoo doctor, whose home was raided by the police yesterday after his seven year old daughter said her father had killed a woman and buried her body in one of the secret passages under the house.

Bones of two infants, believed to have been negroes, were discovered in one of the underground passages. Three tunnels, with a score of rooms and compartments were found under the cellar. In the chambers were bodies of chickens, pieces of dry meat, weirdly dressed and painted dolls and many bells.

Hyghcock was arrested on charges of practicing medicine without a license, and obtaining money under false pretenses. He was about to be released on bail when his daughter made her startling statement.

"It is very evident," said Coroner Wolff's statement, "that the poison was administered to Mrs. McClintock in small doses. Showing that maybe six or seven potions were given."

Subterfuge Used

"The poison necessarily must have been administered by subterfuge, on food or in medicine, and therefore it must have been given by someone in Mrs. McClintock's close confidence, or one of her attendants."

"The amount of mercury found is in itself proof that it was not taken as medicine, or accidentally or with suicidal intent. If that amount had been taken in one dose resulting convulsions would have been so violent as to indicate at once to the attending physicians that the patient had been poisoned."

"Our investigation includes that there was a bloated condition of the body."

Dr. William D. McNally, coroner's chemist who examined the body of Mrs. McClintock has not completed analysis of the vital organs of Dr. Oscar Olson, McClintock family physician whose body was disinterred at the same time as that of Mrs. McClintock. Dr. Olson, brother of Harry Olson, municipal court chief justice and instigator of the inquiry into William McClintock's death, died three years ago a few hours after Shepherd had visited him.

Detectives At Work

Detectives who checked all the medicinal prescriptions given Mrs. McClintock during her last illness announced none of them showed that mercury or its compounds had been contained in them. Several witnesses of her last moments have been found by Judge Olson who will testify when the coroner's inquest is resumed after the chemical analysis, according to Judge Olson, that he saw Shepherd give Mrs. McClintock liquid from a bottle during her trip to the southwest from which she returned to die. Another, a St. Louis woman, has made a statement that Mrs. McClintock apparently was in the best of health when she passed through St. Louis on her way to visit the Shepherds.

ROCCO STROMBO SIGNS FOR BOUT

Portland Heavyweight to Meet Ritchie in 10-Round Main Event Here

A main-event that is certain to pack 'em in at Scandinavian hall the last of this month was signed, sealed and delivered to Promoter J. E. Patterson today.

Earl Ritchie, Klamath heavyweight, prospect, will cross leather with Rocco Strombo, Portland bruiser, in a 10-round quarrel that ought to knock the fans for a row of pine benches.

Ritchie has been working out for two weeks and is now in shape to take on any aspiring bruiser on the coast. Strombo gained more or less notoriety when he socked Jack Dempsey on the chin at their Great Falls training camp just before the Dempsey-Gibbons argument. Dempsey was flattened out, and Strombo immediately got his name in a flock of papers.

Promoter Patterson is now lining up the remainder of the card.

BETTER REGULATION ON TULE LAKE LAND URGED BY COLLIER

More satisfactory regulations on the Tule Lake lands with regard to grazing rights, was asked of Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work by Alfred D. Collier, representing the American Legion. Livestock men who use the grazing land for grazing should be forced to pay a certain percentage of the project maintenance.

Before Tule lake lands are again thrown open to settlement, the government charges should be definitely fixed, Mr. Collier said. Prices for the land should be reduced for many reasons, principal among which are: (1) isolation of the land; (2) settler is given too small allotment of land to carry 900 an acre; (3) homesteaders are competing with ranchers on land in the old project which is 340 an acre.

ELLINGSON GIRL COMMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Young San Francisco Matricide Under Observation at Asylum

NAPA, Calif., April 10.—Dorothy Ellingson, youthful San Francisco matricide, who was declared insane in the superior court at San Francisco yesterday and brought to the state hospital here for treatment, will be subjected to a new sanity examination after 30 days' observation. This examination will be conducted by the experts at the hospital under direction of Dr. J. M. Scanlan, medical superintendent.

If found sane she will be returned to San Francisco for trial on the charge of having murdered her mother. The murder trial was interrupted by the girl's actions and the court sanity hearing took its place.

The girl is in one of the observation cottages situated in the midst of the wide lawns and groves that extend out from the main hospital building. She will be permitted no visitors for the 30-day observation period, but will be allowed to exercise in the cottage yard.

NEWELL NOT TO BE FIRED, SAYS SECRETARY WORK

Herbert D. Newell, project manager for the reclamation service on the Klamath irrigation district, will not be deposed by Secretary of the Interior Work.

This was made plain by the cabinet officer at a conference this morning when he told directors of the district that he preferred to keep Newell at his post and convert him into his idea of how the work should be done.

"When I first became secretary of the interior, the entire 24 project managers were in sympathy with the former director of reclamation," he said. "I could have thrown them all out of the window had I so desired, but instead, I worked with them and have convinced them that my policies are for the best interests of the settlers."

This answer was given in response to a demand by the irrigation directors yesterday that Manager Newell be relieved from his duties because of the discord between his office and the directors.

Modoc Project, Wood River Valley and Other Points Seen by Party

At a conference with the tribal council of Klamath Indians this afternoon, Secretary Work was asked by Seldon Kirk, chairman of the council, to aid the Indians in getting a $5,000,000 loan from the government. Kirk contended the Indians were not getting enough from their timber lands to keep them. He said that 50 percent of the allotted lands had been sold for a fourth of their value because the Indians needed the money.

The secretary wanted to know how the Indians expected to repay the loan if they were not making a living at the present time, and Kirk replied they expected to get it from future sales of timber.

Levi Walker urged that the Indians be given larger payments on the sale of their timber. He said the $200 per year now given each Indian was not sufficient to keep them.

Prior to the conference Secretary Work addressed the students at the Agency school and met with Peter Scamhin, one of the pioneer Klamath tribesmen.

INSPECTION OF THE MODOC IRRIGATION PROJECT

Inspection of the Modoc irrigation project, the plant of the Lamm Lumber company at Modoc Point, and a trip to the Klamath Wood River valley featured the day's activities of Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work and Reclamation Commissioner Elwood Mead on their jaunt to the Klamath reservation today.

An route to Klamath Agency, a stop was made at Lamm's mill and at the Modoc project, where Secretary Work evinced much interest in both the agricultural and timber industries.

Following a luncheon at the agency, at which Superintendent Fred A. Baker and other reservation officials were hosts, the party went on a sight-seeing trip to the Wood River valley and the Fort Klamath country.

The projected conference with the tribal council of the Klamath Indians did not materialize.

SECRETARY WORK MAKES BIG HIT WITH STUDENTS OF MALIN SCHOOL

"One axiom of life that I wish to impress upon you children is the necessity of accomplishing that which lies closest to you," Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, told school children of the Malin public school yesterday afternoon.

Obviously the cabinet officer, got a bigger "kick" out of talking to the school children than making a general inspection of the Klamath irrigation project. Members of the inspection party stood first on one foot and then the other, waiting for Mr. Work to conclude his remarks, but in vain. He talked until he had his say and not until that time was he ready to be on his way.

"Don't get discouraged with life," Mr. Work cautioned his wide eyed auditors. "There will come times when everything seems to go wrong,

WICKS VISITS KLAMATH AGENCY

A postal ban was placed on vicious dogs today by Postmaster John McCall, who announced that he will arm his carriers with .45 revolvers with permission to shoot all dogs that attack them from now on.

Not only will active warfare be waged against the offending canines, but reprisals will be put into immediate effect against those families which fail or refuse to keep their dogs in proper check. Postal regulations give the department the right to refuse to deliver mail to houses where dogs are in the habit of biting, and there are going to be a lot of Klamath Falls families who must call at the office for their mail unless they chain up their dogs, says the postmaster.

"Six of our carriers have been bitten by vicious dogs within the past week, so I have decided to call a halt," said Postmaster McCall. "I want this to serve as a warning that families must either call off their dogs or go without delivery service. This rule is effective starting tomorrow morning."
