MACHINE ROLLS INTO BIG POOL ON LOST RIVER

Five Men Miraculously Escape Death in Accident at Harpole Dam

Their car leaving the grade and rolling over twice, landing right side up in Lost River, five men miraculously escaped death or serious injury Saturday night at 11 p. m. at Harpole dam on Lost river.

The men were proceeding toward Honanza. At Harpole dam they were unable to make a sharp turn. Skidding off the road their car rolled down the grade into the river. The auto was said to have been driven by Pete Simmons. Another man in the car was named Thomas. The other three men are not known.

Although the car turned over twice, the five men were not thrown from the car. All managed to swim to shore. Not one suffered a scratch. The car was reported demolished. R. E. Knowles, county traffic officer, investigated the accident.

COUNTRY CLUB MEMBERS SIGN

Meeting Is Scheduled for Wednesday Night to Continue Drive

Plans for the formation of the Klamath golf and country club were near completion today, when more than 50 of the 100 signatures desired had been obtained by the membership committee. Reports were made at a luncheon held this noon in the White Pelican hotel. If the constitution and by-laws are completed by Wednesday night, they will be read at a meeting scheduled for that night in the chamber of commerce, all interested are asked to appear.

A. J. Vove presided as chairman of the meeting with R. E. Wright as temporary secretary. Those who have designated their intentions of becoming members of the club are Mrs. Hope Kilbourne, Miss Clara Calkins, A. J. Vove, Dr. Fred Westerfeld, William Duncan, Junior Daggett, G. A. ENTIRE EAST IN GRIP OF BIG STORM

CHICAGO, April 20.—A severe wind and rain storm, approaching the proportions of a tornado in some localities swept a destructive course from the Mississippi to New England yesterday, several persons were killed and in the neighborhood of two score injured while property damage was estimated at $1,500,000.

New England was deluged with snow and low temperatures were reported at many points. Scores of buildings were destroyed or unroofed, trees were felled, boats were beached and telephone, telegraph and power service crippled while fire in some towns completed destruction in the wake of high winds and driving rain.

County Help Forced Onto War Veteran

Seriously ill with pneumonia, broke and destitute, Jack Kerfoss, ex-service man and transient laborer, had to be arrested on a charge of public nuisance before the county health department could get him to the hospital.

Last week County Health Physician Dr. G. S. Newsom, informed of Kerfoss' condition, tried four times to persuade the man to go to the hospital under the county's care. Each time the man resisted the charitable efforts of the health officer.

This morning Kerfoss was in such a serious condition in the Midway lunch restaurant that the proprietor asked him to leave his establishment. Kerfoss refused. Police were called and the sick man taken in custody. Perceiving a legal agency, through which a humanitarian act could be accomplished, Dr. Newsom ordered the man taken to the Klamath General hospital, where he is being cared for this afternoon.

His condition is regarded as serious. Persistence in walking around in the snow while ill with pneumonia may prove fatal, Dr. Newsom said.

HUNDREDS HEAR D. A. R. PROGRAM

Patriot's Day Entertainment Given in Presbyterian Church Sunday

Crowded to its utmost capacity, the Presbyterian church was the Sunday night, the service conducted entirely by women, members of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The pages for the evening were Mary Thomas and Marian Telford. Ushers were Alexis Lyle Cummings and Margaret Cummings. Others who assisted in the ushering were Betty Ramsby and Alice Miller, all girls taking part eligible for membership of the D. A. R.

Much appreciative comment was expressed at the manner in which Mrs. Wilbur Jones gave from memory a twenty minute address given by the national president of D. A. R. at the annual meeting. "Melodie," the composition of Vice President Charles Daves, was delightfully given by Mrs. Charles Wood Eberlein. All other churches joined in the ceremony, making the affair a union service.

MORRIS CROSSES LINE IN TUMULT ON SUNDAY RIDE

Whether he was in a hurry to get back and dust off the old fishing rod, to dash down in the basement and see if his spinners were in good condition, Morris and Morris alone can tell you.

Anyway, the story was prevalent on the streets today, how Pay Morris, prominent Klamath Falls lawyer and exponent of all that is legal, in company with Mrs. Morris and their four children went down a five foot drop and emerged without a scratch. Some lawyers are just born lucky!

It happened just about the California line, when Morris, instead of going over the line, went down over a ditch on the other side of Malin. When the six regained their breath, counted fingers and toes and ascertained that they were the pictures of health, Morris climbed from beneath the debris and discovered the only damage of the entire trip, a broken wheel. The roads were full of kild and thoughtful friends who hauled the car from the ditch, patched the wheel presently and the car came back in on its own power. The question still remains however, was it the thought of the sun coming out unexpectedly that made Lawyer Morris want to hasten the final of his trip, or was it something else?

Young Mill Worker And Sick Wife Get Back Photographs

Chief of Police Harry M. Loucks Performs Good Samaritan Act for Which Acting District Attorney Myers Demanded $25 From Couple

Routine police duty was broken for 15 minutes today by Chief of Police Harry M. Loucks while he performed a good Samaritan act for a young mill worker and his sickly wife, and thereby kept $25 out of the eager palms of Acting District Attorney W. P. Myers.

E. W. Giles, employed on the night shift at the Ewauna Box factory, has been renting a house at 1438 Fremont street from Mrs. Anna A. Hodgins, for which he paid $15 per month.

WIFE IS SICKLY

Because of the noise and disturbances about the neighborhood, Mrs. Giles, who is under a physician's care, could not live in the place, so Giles found another house last Saturday and moved into it.

His rent was paid up until April 26, and he has in his possession a rent receipt signed by Mrs. Hodgins.

In moving their belongings from the home, Mr. and Mrs. Giles forgot two pictures of themselves which were taken at the time of their marriage.

Giles returned to the house Sunday morning and asked permission to enter the house a moment in order that he might procure the pictures. Mrs. Hodgins refused his request and locked the door in his face. She told him he had no business in the house, according to his story, in spite of the fact that he was still in legal possession until next Sunday as the renter.

MYERS WANTS FEE

Anxious to get the two photographs, Giles then went to the court house and presented the case to Acting District Attorney W. P. Myers.

"There is nothing I can do for you," he quotes Myers as saying; "that is, nothing I can do for you as district attorney.

"But if you will pay me $25 as a private attorney I will take your case in the civil courts and get your photographs for you."

But young Giles didn't have the $25. His wife just recently returned from the hospital and every penny counts with hospital and doctor bills staring him in the face. And furthermore, he didn't think he should be compelled to pay an acting district attorney $25 for getting two photographs which were rightfully his in a house of which he still had legal possession.

MISJUDGES PROSECUTOR

Instead, he thought the acting district attorney could give him a search warrant on his statement of facts and get the photographs for him. In fact, he thought the acting district attorney would be glad to perform this service for a resident of the city.

So young Giles told Myers that he could not and would not pay him $25 as a private attorney to get possession of the photographs for him.

Chief of Police Harry M. Loucks was told of the affair this morning.

"Sure, I'll help the young fellow out," he gladly assented.

LOUCKS GLADLY HELPS

A few minutes later the young mill worker accompanied Chief Loucks to the Hodgins home, and without so much as an argument the Hodgins woman, on demand of the chief, produced the two photographs.

Young Giles was wearing a happy smile as he told his story.

"My wife isn't feeling very good this morning," he said. "But she will sure be tickled when she sees me coming home with our two pictures. We decided last night if we had to go to the courts to get them we would, although we could not afford to do it.

"But, thank goodness, the chief of police got them for us, and it didn't cost us a cent. There's sure a lot of difference in the way people treat you."

JACKSON DEATH INVESTIGATION TO START SOON

The body of Freddie Jackson, Klamath Indian, whose strange death March 15 has puzzled federal authorities, will be exhumed this week, according to word received today from Portland. Investigators working out of the office of the department of justice and under the direction of United States District Attorney George Neuner, will take over the investigation.

New Bottling Plant To Be Erected Soon

Announcement was made today of the immediate construction of a new bottling works for the Klamath Ice and Storage company adjoining the present storage plant on Spring street.

The contract for the building has been awarded to the Concrete Pipe company and a building permit will be asked at the meeting of the city council tonight. The building will cost approximately $5000.

Plans for the new plant are being prepared by H. R. Perrin, architect. They call for steel tile construction, with concrete floors and steel sashes.

The bottling works at the present time is on Spring street, near Esplanade, but the new location will be on the company's property adjacent to the other plant.

RECTOR GIVES LAST SERMON

Rev. T. A. Meryweather Leaves for Pennsylvania Sunday Afternoon

Rev. T. A. Meryweather, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church left yesterday afternoon for Philadelphia, via Portland, where he will confer with Bishop William P. Remington of the diocese of Eastern Oregon, before continuing to Germantown, Pennsylvania, where he has accepted the call of a parish in the suburbs of Philadelphia.

Prior to his departure, Rev. Meryweather gave his farewell address in the A. O. U. W. hall at Malin and Payne Alley, on Sunday morning to scores of persons who gathered to bid him farewell. The pastor used as the subject of his address "The Future of St. Paul's and the Future of Klamath Falls," linking the work of St. Paul's church, to the work of St. Paul the Apostle.

Rev. Meryweather came to Klamath Falls, January 6, 1924 from Philadelphia. During his residence in Klamath Falls he was at all times interested in the progress of the city and worked faithfully with civic bodies and luncheon clubs to further all progressive activities. He headed the boy scout movement for months and was highly instrumental in the granting of a charter to the Crater Lake post.

During his conference with Bishop Remington, Rev. Meryweather will discuss the work of the Klamath Falls parish and the erection of the new church. He will leave for the east Tuesday on the Union Pacific. Until the building of a suitable edifice, the members of the church will meet in the A. O. U. W. hall, with regular Sunday school and morning prayer conducted by Herbert Radcliffe, lay reader. Radcliffe is also superintendent of the Sunday school.

SEED AND DRILLS FOR SUGAR BEETS TO ARRIVE SOON

With 549 3-4 acres the official total of acreage in Klamath county contracted to produce sugar beets and with nine thousand pounds of seed and seven seed drills scheduled to arrive in Klamath soon, the trial of sugar beet growing will soon be under way.

According to reports to the county agent's office between 50 and 75 acres of beets will be signed up in addition to the official total, bringing the total to 600 acres or over. The seed drills are being supplied by the Sacramento Valley Sugar company, which through the cooperation of the chamber of commerce, the county agent's office and other agencies has been instrumental in effecting the sugar beet trial in Klamath.

VETERAN DEPUTY GIVES UP POST WITH ASSESSOR

Maurice L. Johnson to Enter Real Estate and Brokerage Field

Maurice L. Johnson, veteran deputy of the assessor's office today announced his resignation, after five and one half years of continuous service for the county.

Mr. Johnson's successor is Glenn Terrill of Medford, at present connected with the Farmers & Fruit Growers bank in Medford. Mr. Johnson's resignation is to take effect May 1, when Mr. Terrill will arrive to take over the position.

Mr. Johnson worked in the assessor's office under Captain Lee, the present assessor's father, and after Captain Lee's death under Bill Lee, the present assessor. His time was devoted exclusively to the assessor's office during his incumbency.

Pressure of other business was given by the retiring deputy as his cause for resigning his post. He will enter into the real estate and brokerage business early next month with offices in the Hopkins building.

Mr. Terrill is a member of a well known Jackson county family. He is the son of former Sheriff Terrill of Jackson county and the son-in-law of J. B. Coleman, assessor of Jackson county.

County Assessor Bill Lee selected Mr. Terrill because of his experience in the Jackson county assessor's office and sheriff's office. Mr. Terrill will arrive in Klamath Falls shortly after May 1, with his family and will establish his permanent home here.

KENDALL BREAKS UP NOISY PARTY

Disturbed by a commotion across the street, Deputy Sheriff Kendall arose at midnight Saturday and arrested John Berkquist, Albert Swanson and Mrs. O. Peterson as they were leaving the Peterson home on 11th and Pine. Liquor charges were placed against each.

As Kendall approached, one of the party threw a bottle of alleged liquor onto the pavement but succeeded only in breaking off the neck of the bottle. Enough of the liquid was saved for evidence.

Berkquist plead guilty to possession of whiskey and was fined $100 and costs this morning by Justice of the Peace R. E. Hunsaker. Albert Swanson plead not guilty this morning to a charge of transportation of liquor and Mrs. O. Peterson, released under $500 bail, will appear tomorrow morning to plead.

A fourth member to the party escaped, Deputy Kendall reported.

MARSHALL FIELD PAYING VISIT TO KLAMATH COUNTY

Who said Klamath Falls was on the edge of the earth, and in fear of tumbling off? What difference does the Straborn Railroad squabble make to citizens if this fair city, when such celebrities as Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Field pay visits to the community in which you live? Such celebrities! Magazines pay thousands of dollars to Mrs. Field to photograph her bouillor and acclaim that she wears their brand of hosiery. Thousands more are paid to Mrs. Field if she will but acknowledge that her glorious complexion is due to such a type of cream. And Marshall himself comes in for a little glory. He has been the head of the largest department store in the world, located in Chicago, where also after sale is devoted to the feminine handkerchief alone. Where you can buy everything from a teething ring for the baby, to a Paris frock. Where you can completely furnish the house and drop to the tenth floor for a cup of tea. And such celebrities visit in Klamath Falls. Only—it happens to be they're from Corvallis and not Chicago. Stopping at the Arcade hotel instead of having their private car. And blissfully unaware of the millions possessed by their name sakes!

"BUD" MOE IS UNDER ARREST

Former Pine Tree Manager Charged With Theft of Company Funds

B. F. "Bud" Moe, former manager of the Pine Tree theater, was arrested at his father's home in Kellogg, Idaho, last night, charged with the theft of $2200 of funds from his former employers, the George H. Mann syndicate.

Bail bond of $1000 was ordered and Klamath friends of the young man stood ready this afternoon to post this amount. Moe has offered to return here voluntarily to face the charge, according to telegraphic information received by friends.

The warrant for his arrest was sworn out shortly before noon today by Harry Poole, the new Pine Tree manager. Mr. Poole signed the complaint on telegraphic instructions from George M. Mann, and not of his own volition.

Pooler Sorry
"Singing that complaint was one of the hardest things I ever did," said Mr. Poole this afternoon. "I have nothing in the world against Bud; in fact, I am sorry for the boy, and if there is anything I can personally do to aid him in his present difficulty, I will be only too glad to do it."

Frank Cassidy, general manager of the Mann theatrical interests, will arrive here from San Francisco tomorrow to take charge of the case on behalf of his company.

It was also learned today that Mr. Poole had absolutely nothing to do with uncovering Moe's alleged shortages. They are alleged to have been found by Mr. Cassidy, who was here last week in connection with the transfer of the Pine Tree theater to Mr. Poole. When Moe failed to make good the reputed shortages Mr. Mann insisted upon his arrest on the embezzlement charge.

According to friends of Mr. Moe, the alleged embezzlement, if such it proves to be, was due to his extravagance since he came here last October. He was a prodigal spender and was said to have lived far beyond his income of $300 a month.

Local friends of the young man have received advices from his father that he stands ready to square up such shortages as may exist, but whether or not this will forestall any prosecution will not be known until definite announcement is made by George M. Mann.

NEW PRINCIPAL WILL BE NAMED

Successor to James G. Darling to Be Selected in Near Future

Successor to James G. Darling, principal of the Klamath county high school, will be selected at an early date, Fred Peterson, county school superintendent, announced today on his return from a ten day trip throughout Oregon interviewing applicants for both the high school and rural school teaching positions.

Mr. Peterson personally interviewed all the small towns in Willamette valley, Rogue River valley and in central Oregon.

Mr. Peterson personally interviewed a number of applicants for the position. He visited all the small towns in Willamette valley, Rogue River valley and in central Oregon. The date for the Klamath county school board has not yet been set.
