AT THE LIBERTY

Constance Talmadge brings a new comedy, "Her Night of Romance," to the screen at the Liberty theater tonight. It is a highly sophisticated satire on English society and provokes gales of laughter from the audience.

Constance, as flippant and scintillating as ever, appears in the role of an American heiress who dons school teacher's "spices" and straight-laced demeanor in order to avoid fortune hunters while touring abroad with her father.

It chances that she bumps into a young English lord in London who is being hounded by his money-lender, and they become involved in one of those seemingly impossible but, nevertheless, real life situations where it is necessary for them to pose as newlyweds to avoid an impending scandal.

Mystic China. Elaborate, colorful settings! Pretentious costumery! Excitement! Drama! Romance! All of these and more in "Thunderate," which comes Thursday to the Liberty theater.

The story deals with an American, who, through the duplicity of the girl to whom he is engaged, abetted by her lover, sinks to degradation in China. Through circumstances he is forced to masquerade as a Chinese over-lord and then meets romance in the shape of a white girl, who had been reared as Chinese.

The girl is brought to him as a slave-wife. He learns she is white and then a conflict begins to save her from the Chinese and, at the same time, expose the duplicity of his former associate.

"Thu-dergate" is described as a swiftly moving drama replete with thrills. Owen Moore, one of the screen's most popular players, enacts the leading role. Virginia Brown Faire plays the part of the slave wife. Other film celebrities in the cast are Sylvia Brainer, Tully Marshall, Robert McKim, Richard Cummings and Ynez Sosbury.

EARLY START FOR HARDY FLOWERS

It is time to start sowing flower seed right now. Certain of the hardiest annuals may be sown on the lawn to sift down to the earth with the spring thaws and the seed will germinate almost before the frost is out of the ground and be ready to burst into bloom by the first of June. The seed may be scattered where it is to bloom now. Over the bulb beds these annuals may be sown to spring into growth and cover the unbecoming fading of the tulips and daffodils.

In the list, the poppies, perhaps, should be placed first. The Shirley poppies in their new and delicate shades are one of the most beautiful of all the annuals. The plants

George Gibbs and featuring Alice Terry, Dorothy Sebastian and Orville Caldwell, comes to the Pine Tree theater today.

The story is one of two orphan sisters, one the home-loving kind, the other jazz-mad, thoughtless. The picture has to do with the trials and sacrifices of the older girl watching over, caring for and catering to her sister.

The supporting cast are Otto Matteson, Kathleen Kirkham, John Mihjan, Charles S. Sweeney and Little Jackie Huff.

will endure lots of freezing when young. Often they germinate from self-sown seed in the fall and survive the winter to spring into growth with the first warm sun of spring. They should be sown thinly, mixing the seed with twice its bulk or more of fine sand to facilitate the process. The annual larkspur is another plant that will stand the winter in the seedling state. Beautiful new colors in this fine annual are now on sale, particularly the rose, carmine and watermelon pink tones in the stock or hyacinth-flowered section.

Backlog buttons are a third item that can be sown now. Despite the fact that its seeds are rather large, they germinate when sprinkled upon the surface of the soil. In fact, this is a characteristic of many plants with fairly large seed. Perennial larkspurs germinate best from seed that scatters on the soil from the ripening pods on the plant.

Soapdragons grow best when started cool. They always self-sow if given a chance and may be scattered on the frozen soil now. Others suitable for a winter start are sweet alyssum, candytuft, callopis, calendula, California poppy, nigella, Virginia stocks; in fact any annual that you know self-sows

...may be sown out of doors now for the earliest and sturdiest plants. foremost is the question of drainage. The seed box, whether it be a cigar box or larger flat box, needs to have holes bored in the bottom, about six inches apart in larger boxes and three inches in the cigar box. Over the bottom of the box spread broken flower pots, crockery or small pebbles, then coarser soil and last of all finely sifted soil.

For the finest seeds it is an excellent plan to cut burlap to fit the box and lay it over the coarse drainage and then place the soil upon it so that the box may be watered by setting it in a pan of water and there will be no danger of washing the tiny seeds or seedlings. Firm the soil and sow the seed in rows. This is better than sowing broadcast as it will be appreciated when it comes to transplanting.

This sowing is economy. Quantities of seed are wasted by too thick plantings. The tiny plants crowd each other and none of them has a fair chance when they come up thick as fur. This necessitates early transplanting before the seedlings are strong enough to be handled.

Cover the seed boxes with a damp cloth or piece of paper until germination starts, and set a pane of glass over the top. Remove the paper or cloth as soon as the first tiny humps of the little plants break the soil. Wipe off the glass as water collects on it from evaporation so it will not drip on the plants and cause them to damp off.

Keep seed boxes moist but not wet, or water-logged. Good drainage will take care of this proposition but do not deluge the seed boxes. Sprinkle gently and water fine seeds from below which are only to be sprinkled on the surface and pressed into the soil.

Keep in as even temperature as possible and if a cold snap comes do not keep too close to the glass.
