A RUNNING AMBASSADOR

A Finnish go-getter has been in our midst. On one night he kept an important appointment in New York City. On the next concluded a record-breaking contract in Chicago and on the next did a startling piece of business in Manhattan again. It was officially estimated that he was worth $10,000,000 to his country.

The Finnish go-getter was Paavo Nurmi, an earthy Icarus, and his value to his motherland was that the prestige he gave her enabled the floatation of a bond issue. He ran faster than that legendary Greek who took the news of a victory from Marathon to Athens. He ran faster than Philonides, courier to Alexander the Great. He ran faster than the fleet Basques employed by European monarchs as their messenger boys. And in smashing record after record he used the machinery of modern commerce, which is fleetier even than he.

Trains de luxe, taxicabs, the telephone and the telegraph sped Nurmi on his way across our land. Business lent a helping hand to sport. And the applause which greeted the champion from emulous and admiring multitudes everywhere proved afresh that, although the machine has become the gray angel of our drudgery, it has detracted nothing from the physical prowess of the modern man. Our young men run faster, jump higher, hit harder and put the shot farther than their forbears of a thousand years ago.

YOU CAN'T KEEP A GOOD BIRD DOWN

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Washingtonians are engaged in a strenuous campaign for at least some small measure of self-government.

It's a very natural thing for them to want. Here's a city of nearly a half million inhabitants whose laws are made for them by a body not one of whose members belongs to the community the laws are made for.

How would Detroit or Minneapolis or Seattle enjoy having their mayors appointed by a resident of Northampton, Mass., and their boards of aldermen elected exclusively outside their own states? Washington enjoys it exactly that well.

ONCE on a time, when the capital was just a little cluster of shacks on the Potomac flats and the rest of the country was chipping in to build it up into a fine city, the present arrangement doubtless was all right. But now the Washingtonians feel as if they were of age and would like to vote, at any rate, on purely local questions, and have something to say about the taxes they pay and various other things that concern them a good deal more than they concern anybody else.

WHAT they want and what they are likely to get, however, are two entirely different propositions. The congressional idea is that the Washingtonians ought to be grateful for all they've had done for them. "Yes, we know," groan the Washingtonians, "but gosh! how we want to be free!"

Students of the Bible may put that book aside for the moment, and devote a religious interval to this crossword puzzle. It concerns an important event in Biblical history.

AT THE PINE TREE

An enthusiastic audience filled the Pine Tree theatre and enjoyed every minute of the five acts of vaudeville. The ventriloquist had remarkable control of his voice and is a versatile entertainer. The musical numbers were prime favorites and these two boys are really xylophone artists. The burlesque comedian and eccentric dancer, Lew Rose and Frances Brownie had a very good line. "Making a movie star" brought forth much laughter. Last but not least, "Les Humanettes" is a very clever novelty, the little figures sing, talk, dance, do everything that human could. Taken all together, it is a very clever vaudeville bill. They appear for the last time tonight.

"The Mad Whirl," which show in the Pine Tree theatre tonight, is a colorful vehicle in which players in every evident accord with their roles give an excellent portrayal of present day life, thanks to William A. Selzer. The men and women who are portrayed in "The Mad Whirl" are fong for the most part, and unmarried, but they indulge in a form of pleasure that a few years ago would have been loudly condemned, namely hearty indulgence in beverages forbidden by the eighteenth amendment. Also, their openness of displaying ardent affection for the opposite sex has become known as "petting."

There is comedy, well conveyed drama in "The Mad Whirl," which is the screen version of "Horo's How," written by Richard Washburn Child, former minister to Italy.

Why does Fate deal so many peculiar hands in the love affairs of man? Could it be true Satan himself holds well trumped hands in many romances? If he does not, how can the devilish circumstances so often in such affairs be explained?

For instance, in Louis Joseph Vance's popular novel, "The Brass Bowl," two men lost by Fate from ostensibly the same mold are tossed by truly devilish circumstances into the life of one woman.

TOPEKA, Apr. 29—State and municipal securities will be taxable in Kansas next year. Protracted argument between the two houses of the state legislature has been settled by the passage of a bill, rendering taxable any bond issue subsequent to March 1, 1925.

COOL SHOES OF STRAW

LONDON, Apr. 29.—Panama straw shoes are to be worn this summer at the fashionable resorts in England by men as well as women. The shoes are bound with brown kid, and dealers say they will be most popular because they are so delightfully cool and comfortable.

TO BE TRANSFERRED

Norman Taylor, employed with the Klamath Falls branch of the Standard Oil, and who in his short time in the city has made a large number of friends, will leave tomorrow for Dorris, California, where he has accepted a transfer with the company in that branch. Taylor has been in the city for one month.

CAUGHT SPEEDING

Fifty Miles an Hour Too Fast, Is Judge's Decision
W. H. Cooke, when he was caught speeding 50 miles an hour at Barclay Springs, claimed that he was but speeding 38 miles an hour. County Traffic Officer R. E. Knowles demurred and told the spender to tell it to the Judge. Cooke told it yesterday and the Judge answered, "315 and costs."

COURT TO DECIDE DIVISION OF LAND

Unable to come to an agreement on the partition of 600 acres of grazing land in the northern Klamath basin country, D. O. Williams and L. O. Mills have taken necessary steps to submit the dispute to the circuit court.

Williams brought suit in circuit court this morning asking that the property be divided. The two men jointly owned the grazing land. It was involved in a suit between them, in which a judgment in favor of Williams was reversed by the supreme court recently.

MORE MECHANICAL STUDIES NEEDED IN SCHOOL, CLAIM

LONDON, April 30.—"There is too much literature and not enough mechanical arts being taught in the schools today." This opinion is from Hilaire Belloc, the author of a goodly number of volumes of essays and other literary works. In a lecture on "Education" at Manchester recently.

The pupil should determine what his natural bent is. Mr. Belloc argued, and if it is not in the line of literature he should not be forced to study it or allied subjects. The pupil, he said, should spend his time learning the profession or trade he is most interested in and be capable of entering it when he leaves school, instead of having to serve an apprenticeship because he spent his time on useless subjects, as is the case under the present system.

PROTECTS ORCHARD

WENATCHEE, Wash., Apr. 30.—H. O. Hedges, Stenitt Hill district near here, said today that he had been burning old automobile tires during the last week to protect his orchards against frost. The tires give plenty of heat, he said.

Where Spring Flourishes
Indoors as Well as Out

THE SUN PARLOR and boudoir are two rooms in the home which can afford to be as gay and joyous as a spring garden.

Drab walls smother the charm of the sun parlor. Here, where reed and cane furniture, cretonnes and potted plants hold sway, walls too should reflect bright colors and cheery designs.

The boudoir is the one sacred precinct of madame, and as such warrants painstaking care and good taste in the selection of wall paper. A delicate design in pastel shades, or something more daring and original—which ever madame prefers and which will best harmonize with the general idea of the room.

Come to us for advice in the proper selection of your wall paper!
