KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON, FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1925

PRICE FIVE CENTS

CONVICTS FROM KLAMATH FALLS ARE ASSAULTED

John Taylor and J. C. Burris Are Victims of Attacks at State Pen

SALEM, Ore., May 1.—It became known here today that in an altercation at the state penitentiary about three weeks ago between two convicts, J. C. Burris, a convict sent up from Klamath county, was stabbed in the arm by Ole Brown, negro, a "lifer" from Wasco county, who was sent up for murder.

Where Brown got the knife with which he stabbed Burris has not been ascertained by prison officials and Brown succeeded in hiding the weapon where it could not be found.

Burris at one time, since he was received at the prison, was adjudged insane and was transferred to the state hospital for the insane, but was later taken back to the state penitentiary. At the time of the row the two men were in the "dog house," a place where the prisoners congregate when they are not busy. It is understood that Burris was about to attack Brown with a chair or a club when Brown wielded the knife on him.

Taylor Clubbed

Burris is the second Klamath county prisoner to be the victim of an attack. John Taylor, who was sent up for 15 years for his part in the holdup and murder in which a man was killed, on the day he was received here was struck from behind and knocked down. He didn't know who hit him or what he was hit with, but said his assailant was neither Sim Pate nor Pete Sullivan, two other men who were convicted with him for the holdup and murder, and both of whom were given life sentences. It is believed the assailant was some convict who felt a grudge against Taylor because he furnished evidence for the state in the trial that resulted in the conviction of himself, Pate and Sullivan.

REED PULLS IN LARGEST FISH

30-Inch Trout Now Holding Record for Klamath Fisherman

Ray H. Reed has brought the largest fish of the 1925 season into the Herald office to be weighed and properly entered in the race for the cup. Reed, known to his many friends as "Cap" forgot the cup contest and before the idea came to him he had Mr. Trout beautifully trimmed, the gills off and the fish stripped of many of the vital parts which would have weighed in tremendously. And on top of that, the fish was allowed to shrink during the night, as it hung on the Reed porch. So much for the biggest trout caught thus far in the season.

The fish weighed 8 pounds when dressed. Probably 10 pounds when taken directly from the water. Mr. Trout was exactly 30 inches long from the mouth that boasted sharp teeth, to the tip of the tail that will flash through the water and break leaders no longer.

In company with Les Saling and Jack Milton of Ashland, Reed fished in Sprague River, above Chiloquin. He was using a 5 1/2 ounce rod with a Joe Welch, 12 pound test leader. On the end of the leader Reed had a OO spoon. Mr. Trout, swimming securely down the stream snapped at the spoon and in its pain lashed the water and broke the leader in two. Reed went on down the stream, lamenting the loss of his spoon. On the end of his leader the second time he placed a No. 6 hook. Fishing back again, he cast the small hook in the same pool and pulled out Mr. Trout. The fight was hot and heavy according to Reed and it took all three of them to pull him in, but when he got on shore, Oh Man! The delight of a fisherman's life, a huge trout gasping for breath after a desperate losing fight. Reed has yet to be beaten with his 30 inch trout. And what is more he has his OO spoon back again!

Construction On Natron Cut-off Progresses Fast

PORTLAND, Ore., May 1.—Construction of the Eugene-Klamath Falls cut-off of the Southern Pacific system is progressing rapidly and should be completed early next year. It is stated in the annual report of Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the executive committee of the company's directors, to the 57,571 share holders. The report has been received by officials of the company here.

To complete the cut-off requires the building of 107.78 miles of main line and 20 miles of siding, according to Chairman Kruttschnitt's report.

Of the 62.7 miles still to be completed all of the right of way has been cleared, 31 miles have been graded ready for ties and rails, and the grading and tunnel work on the remaining 31 miles of line is progressing.

WORK TO DEDICATE RECLAMATION DAM

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Formal dedication of the $5,000,000 Tieton dam on the Klamath project, Washington, was tentatively set by Secretary Work today for July 15. Mr. Work, scheduled to make the dedicatory address, is expected to be accompanied there by Secretary Jardine, reclamation commissioner Mead and Indian Commissioner Burke.

"RED" DODSON IS KLAMATH ROMEO, SAY FAIR LADIES

The scene was laid, everything was in readiness, the red villain lay in wait and vowed he would some day take his sharp razor over her fair neck. The plot thickened. The villain obtained a job in a respectable shop in the city and there he planned his work.

He was only an innocent little barber, but he is knocking all the little Shebas on their ears. His name is "Red" Dodson and he has a way with the women, that would have made the erstwhile "Snooky" ashamed of his proclivities. Swanson's barber shop is the scene. Not only has "Red" a way, but he has a Ford coupe. And what's more, he knows how to touch and play on Milly's heart strings so he marveled his hair and e'en went further and bought a bull pup, a Boston Bull at that. Dodson lays claim to all Shek honors and is now and forevermore undisputed in his title, Ua City Guys!

PASSABLE ROADS ARE GUARANTEED WEEK-END ANGLERS

Anglers and holiday seekers who plan to spend Sunday or the weekend in the forests or along the streams of Klamath are assured of passable roads in all sections of the county, state highway officials announced this morning.

The Klamath Falls-Lakeview highway, out through Bonanza, Bl. D. D. valley and on into Lake county, is easily negotiable without chains. Several stretches of the road are reported somewhat rough but chains are not needed.

The road on the Dalles-California highway north from Klamath Falls to Bend is in good shape, with regular stage travel making regular daily trips. No chains, even on the Sand Creek hill section, are needed to negotiate the trip.

County roads tapping the more outlying sections of the county, while easily passable, are still rough.

MAY DAY BRINGS FLOWERS; APRIL SHOWERS BENEFIT

School children in Klamath Falls showed teachers in the city schools with baskets upon baskets of spring flowers, carefully picked and brought to the feet of the adored instructor. Carrying out an old English custom, that has been celebrated for years and years, far back into the days when knights were bold and trained away to fight wars for fair ladies, the children of young American schools still observe the festival of flowers, on May Day, May 1.

Not only were the teachers the recipients of May Day favors, but according to Superintendent J. P. Wells, many of the little girls in the rooms could be seen carrying home in their arms tokens of much admiration from the young swains in "their rooms."

May Day! Celebrated in young America using remnants of an old English custom.

WILSON DENIED POSTPONEMENT

Former Klamath Indian Agent Must Stand Trial on May 13

PORTLAND, Ore., May 1.—An attempt by Horace Greeley Wilson of Roseburg, former Indian agent at Klamath Falls, to obtain another postponement of his trial on a charge of violating the Mann act, failed today when United States District Judge C. E. Wolverton announced that the trial would start May 13. Wilson, who is in the east, has written a letter to Judge Wolverton asking for a postponement until next November, stating that he needed time to get witnesses from eastern states.

Deputy U. S. Attorney J. O. Stearns opposed the request, stating that two postponements had already been made and that the government was ready to proceed with the trial. Wilson's attorney, Robert P. Maguire, said he would withdraw from the case inasmuch as Wilson had made the application for further delay directly to the court.

ESCAPED PRISONER IS TAKEN BACK TO SERVE SENTENCE

A minimum of five years faces Leonard Hall when he once again steps past the entrance gates of the Michigan reformatory—that is a minimum of five years if he does not escape from the reformatory, as he did June 27, 1921. Hall left today for Michigan in charge of two officers of the Michigan department of Public Safety, J. J. Prestis and William D. Hanson, who arrived in Klamath Falls to take the young man in custody yesterday.

"You see, Hall has a pretty long term to serve," Mr. Hanson pointed out. "He was convicted on a charge of assault with intent to commit robbery. He was sentenced to from five to 15 years in the reformatory. In our prison system we have a reform school, a reformatory, a state prison and a penitentiary. In the reform school we incarcerate the youngest prisoners, in the reformatory, prisoners of the age of 18 to 21 or thereabouts and so on up the scale to the state penitentiary. The point is to segregate your criminals as to age, as much as possible."

Hall was arrested by the police, several hours after receiving his description from Michigan. Hall was well known in the city and suspicion of his past had never arisen in the minds of authorities.

ASHLAND CHURCH FIGHT SETTLED; MINORITY WINS

Long Conflict Between Factions in Baptist Congregation Ends

MEDFORD, Ore., May 1.—A decision was reached yesterday by the Rogue River Baptist association at its annual meeting in Ashland, which according to the officers of the association will end the long conflict between two factions of the Ashland Baptist church in that city, in favor of the minority and against Rev. B. C. Miller, who, with a majority of the congregation, expelled the opponents of divine healing and took possession of the church property.

This decision was the articulation by the association, which is the highest authoritative body of the findings of the council which placed the Miller group outside the Baptist denomination, and the official withdrawing of the hand of fellowship from Rev. Miller, which automatically deposes him from the Baptist ministry.

The struggle for the property will continue in the civil courts, but according to spokesmen for the association, unless all precedents are disregarded, this decision will conform with the action of the association.

The split in the church occurred over a year ago when Rev. Miller adopted the divine healing of a Mrs. B. C. McPherson of California, and expelled members who refused to concur in this action.

FIRST KLAMATH SPOTTED FEVER CASE REPORTED

Suffering from the first case of spotted fever reported this year, P. E. Stiles, rancher of Olene district was brought to the Klamath Valley hospital in a serious condition last night. He was reported as resting easily this morning. Dr. Dietsche diagnosed the case at the ranch home and immediately brought the suffering man to Klamath Falls.

According to Dr. Dietsche, the spotted fever, from which two persons died last summer, is contracted from the bite of a tick, which is housing a parasite, unknown to science. One tick in a thousand, will be poisonous, according to Dr. Dietsche but extreme care must be exercised in keeping the animal from burrowing in the flesh. When the tick's head is embedded in the body, do not pull it out, but pour kerosene, liquid petroleum, turpentine or ammonia over the insect.

BUS QUESTION BEING SETTLED

Public Service Commissioner Ironing Out Differences

Owners of bus lines running out of Klamath Falls and tapping various points to the north of this city, were interviewed today by H. H. Corey, state public service commissioner, with the view in end of establishing schedules and enforcing state regulations with respect to insurance.

"So many bus lines operate from Klamath Falls, that a special trip has been found necessary to straighten certain matters out," Mr. Corey said. "For example two bus lines, running north from the city, leave at 8 a. m. That condition cannot exist because it would be natural for the competing buses to race for stations, all of which is not to the best interests of the traveling public."

"I thought that we might have to hold up the Duke stage here this morning, because they had not complied with certain insurance regulations. But when I arrived I found that everything was straightened out."

"There are more buses running out of Klamath Falls than any other town in Oregon besides Portland," Mr. Corey is in town accompanied by Percy Varney, former state parole officer and now field representative for the public service commission.

HERBERT DENNIS FIRST TO TAKE MILITARY EXAM

Herbert Dennis, student of the Klamath County high school, was the first young man to take a physical examination to determine his qualifications for the Citizen's Military Training camp, Dr. G. S. Newsom, county health officer, announced today.

Young Dennis became interested in the Citizen's Military training camp when moving pictures were shown at the Pine Tree theater Monday morning, graphically displaying the advantages to be derived from the free military training given to young men of America.

It will be the objective of the Officers Reserve club to interest as many young men in the military camp as possible, with the hope that Klamath's quota to the camp this year will exceed that of last.

The training period at Camp Lewis, Washington lasts for about six weeks. All expenses, including transportation, are furnished by the government. The young man is put to no expense from the time he leaves Klamath Falls till the day he returns, and is besides guaranteed a physical, mental and moral training, second to none. Dr. Newsom pointed out.

Arrived in town, the boy said, he found himself facing a revolver and heard orders to drive on to Portland. He failed to notify the officers until he returned to Hood River.

The car in which the couple made the get away from Hood River on Tuesday was found yesterday afternoon near Odell.

TOURIST TRAVEL NOW INCREASING

Monday Record Day for Registration of Cars in Chamber of Commerce

Tourist traffic for the spring season is gradually increasing through Klamath Falls, according to the statistics compiled by Mrs. Leah Smith in the chamber of commerce, where all out of Oregon cars are registered. Monday was the banner day of the year, with 24 cars registering. The majority of the cars were from California, with one from Idaho, one from Montana, two from Arizona and two from Oklahoma.

Tuesday was slack compared with the first day of the week, with eight cars registering, from Washington and California.

Arizona, Nevada and Washington registered one car from each state on Wednesday, with California sending five.

Farther away from home than any of the rest of the wandering Fords, Buicks or Chevies, is a little Ford from West Virginia. The occupants are stopping at the auto park and are full of vim and vigor for the Klamath country. The little Ford from West Virginia registered on Thursday as did 11 from California, and one from Arizona.

Friday brought the mark to 10, Saturday completing the record week.

COREY PREDICTS G. N. ROAD BUILT HERE VERY SOON

Commissioner Is Confident That Permit Will Be Granted Hill Lines

There exists no doubt in the mind of H. H. Corey, chairman of the state public service commission, that within the next 30 days, the inter-state commerce commission will grant the Hill Lines a certificate of convenience and necessarily allowing them to build into Klamath county and connect with the Southern Pacific lines at Odell.

"Mr. Corey arrived in Klamath Falls last night to spend several days ironing out certain problems concerning bus travel to and from Klamath Falls.

"I also predict that the Union Pacific will be forced by the inter-state commerce commission, to extend their railroad from Crane to Odell," Mr. Corey said.

K. F. Second Spokane

"When these railroads are built, it will mean a wonderful development. I don't think I exaggerate when I forecast that Klamath Falls will be the Spokane of Oregon. It will be the hub of an extensive railroad system, and industries and attendant population will pour into the Klamath country. The problem which the Klamath Falls people should be devoting their time to now, is preparing for the railroads and the expansion that they will bring with them. There is no doubt in my mind but what the development will come and in the near future. The thing to do now is pave the road for their entrance into this territory."

"The most effective argument to the interstate-commerce commission on both the Crane-Odell and Bend-Klamath Falls extensions, is the incompleteness of railroad project argument. That is, the Oregon Trunk line at immense cost built to Bend, with the original intention of building into Klamath Falls. The tonnage up the Deschutes river canyon and in the Bend territory has not supported the investment, nor was (Continued On Page Six)
