NEW SAW MILL WILL BE BUILT AT BEND SOON

Plant to Cost Million and a

Present Year

MUCH TIMBER BOUGHT

Right of Way for Logging
Road to Tap Forests Already Procured

BEND, Ore., May 16.—A third saw mill to cost a million and a half dollars is about to be built in Bend, according to a story being published in the Central Oregon Press today.

The promotion of the mill in question is nothing of a particular new or late enterprise, according to the story, but one that has been in the working for many months. The development of this enterprise has advanced to the securing of a right of way from the timber lands to Bend and of a mill site in Bend which have been secured. This land in question is said to be the holdings of the Johnson Lumber company, and located in the Sisters districts.

Cablegram Received

The owners of this timber tract have been busy for a long time in purchasing timber lands and blocking off preparatory to cutting.

Ora Johnson, one of the promoters of this enterprise, has been in Europe for some time financing this proposition and a cablegram from him received within the last forty eight hours states that he has it financed and that the interested parties will arrive on the scene of operations within the next few days, and if the enterprise will justify their investment and is as represented by the promoters, it is expected they will begin operations at the earliest possible time. It is estimated that the cost of this mill alone will be in the neighborhood of a million and a half dollars, to say nothing of their railroad to the timber lands and the necessary expense of equipment attached thereto.

Fond papa in profusion holding the youngest offspring in their arms so that they wouldn't have to miss the second night of the Elks' three night Western Carnival were seen in the Elks' temple last evening during the early hours. Holding Johnny or Mary wasn't so bad when Mother pulled the paddles, or Jimmie smiled gleefully when he asked Bill Bonfield at the Black Jack table.

The country store was perhaps the busiest place of all with Exalted Ruler Charlton Currin dispensing his wares like an Eastern Silk Seller. Paul Dalton with a Navajo wrapped around his shoulders called lustily from the wheel when an aluminum tea kettle or a set of spark plugs came up.

A list of contributors who aided materially in the success of the celebration was omitted but are now given in connection with the others who contributed the merchandise and gifts to the organization.

To any one winning the block wood from the Pelican Bay Lumber company or the Big Lakes Box company, Oscar Peyton will deliver the wood free to any part of the city.

Attorneys Are Held in False Divorce Case

Lawyers Who Represented
Arbuckle's
Wife Arrested

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 16.—Leonard W. Horton, Jr., attorney and standing master in chancery for the superior court and Francis P. Dougherty, attorney, who occupy joint offices here today were arrested on complaints charging them with conspiracy to obtain divorces by fraudulent means and also charging them with false making of depositions by Attorney General Charles P. Sisson of divorces in which Mr. Dougherty appeared as counsel and the depositions were taken before Mr. Horton as master. In many cases, it was stated, the parties resided out of the state.

Mr. Dougherty was counsel for Minta E. (Duffee) Arbuckle, who was granted a divorce in the superior court here on December 31, 1923, from Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle and who subsequently withdrew her suit rather than test the legality of her claim to bring a resident of this state for the required two year period.

LISBON, May 16.—Major Fereire Amaral was attacked in the street here last night by members of a red organization and was severely wounded.

Medford Votes For Holly Street Site

MEDFORD, Ore., May 16.—By a record breaking vote, the largest ever cast in a city election, the people of Medford yesterday selected the Holly street, over the Pacific and Eastern site for the erection of the new $185,000 high school. It was a victory of west Medford over East Medford, after a week's whirlwind campaign of exceptional excitement and personal bitterness. The final vote was 1603 for the Holly street and 1172 for the Pacific and Eastern, a majority for the former of 431 votes.

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 16.—Joe Tanko, convict partner of Floyd Hall, who was captured here Thursday night, continued today to elude the combined peace officer force of this city. No trace of him has been found although all trains and roads leading from Sacramento have been guarded, rooming houses searched and questionable characters rounded up in the quest.

Meanwhile, Hall, 19-year-old murderer, calmly slept and ate at the city jail, seemingly unconcerned at the prospect of the noose, which he smilingly predicted would be his punishment. He denied that he (Continued On Page Seven)

TWO KILLED IN DEATH PACT AT HOME IN BEND

BEND, Ore., May 16.—C. H. Brooks, electrician, and his wife, are dead today as the result of what is said by officers to have the appearance of a deliberately planned murder and suicide plot. Brooks broke into the sleeping porch where his wife and 11-year-old daughter were asleep late last night and shot the woman, killing her almost instantly. The girl ran out of the door and after she left the man turned the gun on himself, shooting his head off.

A shotgun was used and it was found that before entering the house the telephone line into the house had been cut so that it was impossible to summon help. The house is located on the outskirts of town and not far from the new Brooks-Seaton sawmill. Mrs. Brooks had filed suit for divorce last Monday and officers said today the two had not been getting along, especially since last winter, when Brooks was arrested on a charge of violating the liquor laws.

TRIP ABROAD IS ROCKEFELLER'S GIFT TO BRIDE

Lines—Sail Today

NEW YORK, May 16.—A check from John D. Rockefeller is to pay the expenses of the four months' European honeymoon of his 21-year-old granddaughter.

This most appropriate present of the hundreds she received, is carried in her handbag by Mrs. David Meriwether Milton, who was Abby Rockefeller until last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton were up business today in getting ready to sail on the liner Paris. Since their marriage they have made their headquarters in an apartment in the Central Park district, which friends have loaned them.

Farewell Party

Only a few most intimate associates have known their address and to a series of taps on a certain door the friends with whom Dave and Babe used to dance and ride were admitted for a farewell party last night.

An $800 suite was reserved for the Miltons' trip on the Paris, for which they registered as "Mr. and Mrs. Steve V. Hammond." The principal room of the suite has two arm chairs, twin beds and one dressing table.

The bride is quoted as having commented on grandfather's wedding gift as follows: "It was just like Grandfather to give us what we need most. Gosh, we are both poor, you know."

Mr. Milton has an income of $15,000 a year and the bride $8000.

OPENING GAME IS SCHEDULED FOR TOMORROW

With everything in readiness for the "Play Ball" announcement of Empire Fred Nicholson, only inclement weather can possibly stop the opening game of the Klamath Falls Pelicans with Mt. Shasta tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock on the Fair Grounds field.

Manager Glover this afternoon announced the line-up and batting order as follows: Northwest, short stop; Watts, second base; Bayness, third base; Arnold, left field; Demitt, catcher; Noel, center field; Foster, right field, and Mohler, pitcher.

Klamath's entries into the baseball league will be officially sponsored by Mayor Fred R. Goddard, R. E. Bradbury, chairman of the county fair board, and J. A. McNamara, president of the Klamath-Siskiyou league.

McNamara will pitch the first ball, Bradbury will catch and Mayor Goddard will umpire.

According to word received by Manager Fred Glover, it is raining today at Mt. Shasta. If rain prevails in Klamath Falls tonight, making the grounds too maddy for the opening, Glover will call them long distance and call the game off. At a late hour this afternoon the weather here, while threatening, was not stormy enough to cause a postponement.

The baseball parade, celebrating Klamath's entrance into the league, will start tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock from the White Pelican hotel and proceed down Main street.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Negotiations are in progress not only with France, but with Italy, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Roumania.

Portland Boxer Is Arrested in Big Booze Raid

Nig Yeager Is Among Those Caught With
Still in Jackson Co.

MEDFORD, Ore., May 16.—Nig Yeager, heavyweight pugilist of Portland, Jimmy Martin, lightweight, and Gus Sorenson, wrestler, arrested in an early morning raid Friday on a still on the Little Applegate river, were bound over to the grand jury this morning under bonds of $1000 each. The trio waived the preliminary hearing.

This morning Al and Denny Shannon, renters, with their brother Eddie, well-known in northwest pugilistic circles, of the farm on which the still was found, were taken into custody.

Yeager, Martin and Sorenson, when arrested, claimed that they were training for future bouts in the ring and on the mat.

According to critic Jennings, the still, which cleverly hidden in the brush, small ravine and had a capacity of forty gallons per day, was the main source of Medford's illicit liquor supply.

Two more arrests in the case are scheduled for this afternoon, according to the officers.

SMALL PLANT TO BE BUILT ON SIXTH ST.

Announcement was made this afternoon of the construction of a small remanufacturing plant on South Sixth street next to the Sixth Street Lumber company by three local men, at a cost of approximately $3000. The plant will be utilized primarily for the manufacture of sidings, it was said.

Articles of incorporation of the new company were filed today in Salem, with T. P. Henderson, resident manager of the Klamath Development company; E. G. Dreher, connected with the Ewanna Box company, and H. L. Acomb, as the incorporators. The company will be known as the Klamath Lumber and Mill Work company of Klamath Falls.

Construction of the new plant will start in the near future and will be in operation shortly after the middle of June, it was said.

LOUISVILLE, May 16.—Flying Ebony, ridden by Earl Sande won the Kentucky Derby; Captain Hal, second and Son of John, third. Time 2:07 2-5.

Shall the city council give the Strahorn railroad an exclusive franchise to cross Sixth street?

The Evening Herald doesn't think so, and has said so repeatedly during recent weeks. But what The Herald wants to know is what the people of Klamath county think about it.

So, starting next Monday afternoon and continuing through the week, The Herald will print a small ballot and urge its readers to express their opinions either for or against the Strahorn franchise.

For the benefit of the many newcomers in Klamath county, The Herald has been printing a brief history of the Strahorn railroad since its inception more than nine years ago. All facts for this series were taken from the Evening Herald files for the years 1916, 1917 and 1918, and The Herald at that time was under a different manage-

Charles E. Sanders, Painful-

Machine Taken

An unidentified logger from Klamath Falls was almost instantly killed, and Charles E. Sanders, also of Klamath Falls, was painfully injured on the Pacific highway last night when an alleged stolen car in which they were speeding northward from Weed, struck a rock and catapulted from the highway into a ditch while traveling in excess of 60 miles an hour.

Sanders is now in the county jail at Yreka on a tentative charge of stealing an automobile. He was first taken to the Weed hospital and later removed to the Yreka jail when it was found his injuries were not serious.

Still Unidentified

All efforts to identify the dead man have been futile, according to word from Weed and Yreka early this afternoon. There were no marks of identification about his clothing. Authorities hope to obtain his identity by means of two gold crowns.

According to word received here the machine, a Buick roadster, was said to have been stolen from Otto F. Boye of Bly. Boye was in a restaurant at Weed eating last night when his car was taken from in front of the eating place.

He notified officers of the theft but nothing was heard from the car until about 9 o'clock last night when word (Continued On Page Seven)

Lumberlogue To Change Date of Publication; It Will Be Issued Hereafter Wednesday Afternoon

Starting this week, Lumberlogue will be issued each Wednesday afternoon. Installation of new mechanical equipment and other composing room changes make it advisable to change the date of publication of Lumberlogue.

Incidentally, the change will make it possible to put out a paper for the mill workers and lumber jacks that is even better than those which have gone before.

So when you fellows don't get your Lumberlogue next Monday afternoon, don't start cussing; just remember that the date has been changed, and keep your eyes peeled for Wednesday's Herald, which will contain the usual 6 page Lumberlogue section.

So if you want to read the newest and best Lumberlogue yet issued, just wait until Wednesday.

So the People May Know

Up until the date of the special $300,000 bond election on November 14, 1916, the history of the Strahorn railroad promotion in Klamath county and Central Oregon is one of glowing promises on the part of Strahorn, and one of willing acquiescence on the part of the people.

Even the people of Portland became enthused over the rail possibilities of this empire, and on November 1, 1916, newspaper files show that the Portland Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution pledging its support to Strahorn in his enterprise, and offering to aid him in such manner as he might elect.

At a banquet held in Klamath Falls on November 9, 1916, Strahorn as always, was the chief speaker. Again he reiterated his pledge not to stop at Sprague River but to build on into Bend and into Lakeview.

On November 11, 1916, a monster rally for women was held here at the opera house, and once more we find him saying that the Strahorn line would be a great aid to the Southern Pacific; that two rail lines for this section would be better than one.

At that rally he predicted that his railroad line would bring a payroll to Klamath Falls that would more than offset interest on the $300,000 bond issue. To quote him in his own words:

"From constant inquiries I have been receiving from men of means, by the time the first 50 miles of the road are built there will be such an influx of capital and home-seekers and such development of towns and increase in new taxable property that the taxes to be levied for months will never be felt."

That was nine years ago, on the eve of the bond election, but as a reminder it is well to state here and now that the first 50 miles have not yet been built, and there is no indication at the present time when these 50 miles of steel will be laid.
